Oregon Grand Jury

Others Implicated In Proceedings--Alleged Attempt to Defraud the Government

Senator Mitchell Indicted by

returned three indictments in connect the Maine Woods. 11 tion with the investigation into the States government.

The first indictment is against United States Senator John H. Mitchell, Congressman Binger Hermann, S. A. D. Brown, Nellie Brown, his wife; Henry A. Young, Frank H. Walgamot, Clark E. Loomis and Salmon B. Ormsby.

They are charged with having conspired on Feb. 1, 1902, to defraud the United States government of public ing affidavits as to the occupation and settlement of these lands.

Senator Mitchell is specifically charged with having at Washington, settler on a portion of the lands. It also charges that Mitchell prepared unlawfully an affidavit for S. A. D. Puter to sign, in which Puter is alleged to have sworn that he knew that the contents of the Watson affidavit goes on to state that in pursuance of the conspiracy Mitchell introduced Puter to William A. Richards, as the commissioner of the general land office, at Washington, stating that Puter was one of the most honorable citizens in the

The second indictment is against Henry W. Miller, Frank E. Kincart, Martin G. Hoge and Charles Nickell, iate of Medford, Or. It charges that these persons on Aug. 11, 1904, unlawfully conspired to procure 100 other persons to commit perjury by making false oaths that certain lands in the Medford land district, known as timber and stone lands, were being bought in good faith and not for purposes of speculation. These persons falsely swore that they had not contracted to sell these lands, when, in fact, they were buying them on speculation.

The third indictment charges Mayor William Davis of Albany, Or., with having uttered a false affidavit. This is the second indictment against Davis.

Mointyre Admits Forgery adjourned the examination to Thursday and increased the bail from $2500 to $4000. House Votes to Non-Concur went back to conference, where the house provision will doubtless prevail.

Action Against Talbot Ended signed statement announcing his intention to drop all proceedings against Bishop Talbot, both ecclesiastical and legal. He states that he is actuated by the Episcopal church.

> Tuesday night was a hard one for Chief Williams and the firemen of Wards One and Two. There were two fires during the night which kept the firemen busy until late this morning. The first alarm sounded at 5.43 P. M. from Box 72. This was for a lively blaze in a house at 22 Broadway. The house was owned by Erickson & Nelson and was occupied by Mrs. Annie Sheriff as a boarding house.

as those whose names are on the voting The fire is supposed to have started from an open furnace pipe. It is reported that a pipe from the furnace came up behind the wall where it was left with the end open.

Sparks from the furnace coming up through this pipe set the woodwork on fire. It had gained good headway before discovered and the firemen had a stubborn fight to get it under control. Owing to the snow the apparatus could not make as good time as usual, so that the fire had an opportunity to make good headway.

Chief Williams estimates the loss on building and contents at $500.

THE OTHER FIRE. The second alarm was sounded from Box 27 at 1.02 A. M. This proved to be another lively blaze in the Albert Keating block on the corner of Washington and Canal streets.

There is a Chinese laundry in the orner store. Over this is a small hall-The fire started from some cause in the hall and worked down through the floor into the rooms occupied by the Chinamen. They were at work in the laundry at the time and discovered the fire when it came down through the floor. They run out and notified

Adjoining the laundry on Canal street was a grocery run by Antonio Patti. The fire also worked into this store which was considerably damaged, although part of the stock of goods was removed. The part of the building on the corner was badly gutted. There was a meeting in the hall over the laundry during the evening and it was late before the party broke up. According to the story told by the Chinamen it was there the fire started. The less on the building is estimated at $700. Charlie Young the laundry man estimates his loss at $75 and Antonio Patti his loss at $200. After the fire the two Chinamen were taken to the police station where they were kept for the night.

-Sandy entered a smoking compartnent and asked each of his immediate eighbors for a match. All happened be without them, however, and a ook of disappointment came over the Scotchman's face as he remarked resignedly, "Awell, I'll e'en hae to use one o' my ain. "

NATURE SPARES

The Stricken Rose From Grief. What a fortunate provision of nature it is, that deprives the rose of mental suffering; for how poignant would be its suffering; for how poignant would be its grisf to discover, in the height of its blooming glory, that a canker fed at its heart, and that its beauty and fragrance were doomed forever. Nature always spares the suffering; she is a veritable store-house of pleasing rewards, for those who seek her aid. In the years some by falling hair and grayness have those who seek her aid. In the years gone by falling hair and grayness have cast a gloom over the lives of thousands of young women, but thanks to the investigations of scientists the true cause of hair destruction is now known to be a germ or parasite that burrows into the hair follicles. Newbro's Herplcide absolutely destroys this germ, thus permitting the hair to grow as nature intended. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c, in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

English Writer Tells of Momentous Consequences of Great Liberal Movement In Russia - Landlords

Might Develop In Case of a Real Revolution. The internal condition of Russia, as produced or exasperated by the war, is by far the most interesting question now discussed in Europe and the one matists, says the London Spectator. It is clear that the struggle in the far east, though it is not yet over, has developed unrest in Russia of a dangerous kind, and all instructed western men are watching the direction which the danger may take with anticipations at once eager and perplexed. There are so many conditions to the problem that it seems almost insoluble by human intelligence, and yet on its solution the immediate future will almost certainly depend. It is not only the future of Asia which is at stake, but much of the future of Europe. We are not talking of the "yellow peril," which may be real or imaginary, but of the changes within Europe itself which any radical change in Russia would involve. A paralysis of that great empire which for more than a century has hung like a heavy cloud on the eastern frontiers of the really civilized sections of the world would, for example, leave Germany mistress of the continent. It might shatter the Austrian empire to pieces, for her Slav majority would no longer have to fear being "buried in the Russian morass." It would intensify in a high degree the quarrel always smoldering between the Ottomans and the remnant of their Christian subjects, a result of which Europe already perceives signs in the new arrogance which the divan is displaying in the Balkans. As yet all the symptoms point rather to a vast jacquerie (a revolt of peasants) than to what is commonly known as a revolution. From province after province of Russia come up stories which show that the suspicion of the proprietary class so long smoldering among the peasantry is breaking into flame; that chateau after chateau is menaced; that in district after district the landlords are sending their families or flying themselves for protection to the great cities. The plunder to which the reservists so often betake themselves is as much an expression of hatred to the rich as of desire for a final revel and is accompanied in many instances

COUNCILMAN STONE.

The reception was held at the rooms At his residence, 61 Chestnut Street. of the Quincy Point Young Men's club, and previous to the arrival of "Chief" Burrell, there was a Scotch song b Frank F. Prescott and Alex Fryer.

The committee to escort Mr. Burrell to the hall were J. Peterson, H. D. Adams and Rollin H. Newcomb. The guest was ushered in with music and was given three rousing cheers with a 'Tiger and a "Vulture."

Councilman Stone, the chairman, in well chosen words welcomed Mr. Bur-CENTRE rell, and in behalf of Ward Two friends presented him with a rich, dark oak, coll top desk wishing him success and prosperity in the future.

Officer Burrell, in accepting the gift, said he would try to be as fair in the management of the Police department as in his private life. He realized the appointment as Chief of Police was placing a great responsibility upon him but he was ready to accept the responsibility and it would be his endeavor to enforce the laws upon the statutes and the city ordinances. He appreciated the kindly interests of his friends.

D. J. S. McCurdy contributed a song and was encored. The chairman then called upon many of those present for speeches and the following responded W. H. Cobb, T. J. Collins, F. F. Prescott, A. N. Weeden, R. H. Newcomb. E. W. Newcomb, Thomas Lincoln, Jr., Luther Hersey, J. Peterson, Councilman Hynes, H. D. Adams, Edgar F. Hayden and Officer Larkin. Chief-to-be Burrell was again called

pon. He said the force at present ncluded but 21 men including the chief. That there were twelve night patrolmen and three day patrolmen, a very inadequate force for a city which covers as much territory as Quincy. More men were needed. The city was remarkably free from crime so common in larger cities. Here drunkenness was the greatest crime, and he would endeavor to suppress it. The liquor laws have not been enforced as they should be, but I shall give them special attention. For this purpose, however, a large appropriation was necessary. Last year the appropriation for the enforcement of the liquor laws was cut down rom $1000 to $500, and only about $350 expended. The full $1000 was needed. Other speakers were Charles Foster, Ed" Kittredge, John Flanigan and Alex Fryer.

There were more solos by Mr. McCurdy and also songs by Mr. Myers, both being accompanied by George Powers. Sandwiches, coffee and cigars were

ALLEGED GRIEVANCES

Textile Workers Will File Them With Manufacturers

Fall River, Mass., Feb. 2.-The Textile council, at a special meeting last night, discussed the refusal of the executive committee of the Manufacturers' association to hold a conference with the council for the purpose of adjusting grievances of the men who ended their strike three weeks ago.

Secretary Taylor was instructed to secure from the secretaries of the various unions all complaints of discrimination, the names and other de tails, and these will be filed with the kind whenever they are supplied with facts in specific cases.

Secretary Hibbert of the United Textile Workers of America was instructed to write to Secretary Morrison of the American Federation of Labor to ascertain when the balance of the strike assessment may be expected. Up to date $29,000 has been received from the federation, and the local leaders declare a similar amount still remains to be paid into the treasuries of the various unions.

The Yellow

By FERGUS HUME Author of "The Mystery of a Hansom Cab," "The Lone Inn," etc.

Fergus Hume has done nothing better than this in his many popular detective stories. The outcome keeps the reader constantly guessing, and a big surprise is the climax of every complication.—Albany Times-Union. Fergus Hume has written another clever story called "The Yellow Holly." Like all of Mr. Hume's works, there is an entertaining mystery with startling incidents and dramatic denouements. The characters are clear and distinct and the reader's attention is held from first to last.—Cleveland World

The story is cleverly worked out and will fascinate the lover of the sensational.—Buffalo Express.

Woman's Life to Save His Own Delay In Inflicting Penalty

Montpeller, Vt., Feb. 2.-Whether intent to kill, mutiny, non-support, Mary M. Rogers, now occupying the death cell at the Windsor state prison, will die on the gallows next Friday which she was found guilty of murderone was held for the grand jury, one ing her husband, Marcus Rogers, or be appealed and ten warrants were not granted a reprieve, while the supreme court is petitioned for a new trial, will be announced at Waterbury this afternoon by Governor Bell.

Everything in the package; add boiling water and set to cool. Flavors: -Lemon, Orange, Raspberry, Strawberry, Chocolate and Cherry.

fore the supreme court with petition for a new trial. The petitioners alleged that Leon Perham, now serving a life sentence for complicity in the crime had recently confessed that he had lied on the stand, swearing away Mrs. Rogers' life to save his own neck from the 3 bs. 25c gallows; that Mrs. Rogers was an accessory rather than principal, according to Perham's allegea confession, in which he was quoted as admitting that he and not Mrs. Rogers administered the chloroform; that there was hereditary insanity in the Rogers family, and that the physical condition of the 2 cans 25c condemned woman at the time the > make her mentally incapacitated. When Governor Bell opened the pro eedings at the Pavilion hotel yester day afternoon 20 persons interested in the matter were present. Of this number only six addressed the governor. Attorney Moloney of Rutland, the personal representative of Mrs. Rogers. made a lengthy plea for the woman whose case he has voluntarily taken up. In support of his request that the hanging be delayed, Moloney stated that he wished to present to the supreme court certain facts which had come to light which he believed to be of sufficient importance to secure a new trial.

> Former District Attorney Senter, Rev. J. K. Fuller, chaplain of the Windsor prison; Rev. P. C. Delaney, Mrs. Rogers' spiritual advisor, and former Lieutenant Governor Stanton also addressed Governor Bell, asking that a reprieve be granted.

The only person who appeared in opposition to the petitioners was Attorney General Fitts, who said that, while the state did not desire vengeance, it did want "justice sure and swift." The evidence brought out at the trial was, he said, too conclusive to justify the governor in granting a reprieve.

Mrs. William J. Blickensderfer of Stamford, Conn., who has been prominent in her efforts to secure a reprieve for Mrs. Rogers, was present during the hearing, but neither she nor her counsel, Charles McCarthy, addressed the governor.

Persons who have been active in the Rogers case are besieged with letters and hundreds are received by Governor Bell every day, some demanding executive clemency and others demanding that he show no favor to a condemned woman, which he would not show to a man under similar circumstances. One of these communications was signed "The Black Hand," and it warned the governor that if Mrs. Rogers eventually secured her freedom, she would be put to death by the writer.

PANIC IN A THEATRE

Subdued by Concerted Action of Ochestra and Performers

Haverhill, Mass., Feb. 3.-Between the third and fourth acts of a play in the Academy of Music last night, the theatre was darkened while a moving picture machine threw animated scenes on a white sheet being on the stage. Suddenly there was an explosion in the machine and a bright flame flashed up the lighted the theatre.

Nearly every person in the audience, alarmed by the loud report and the flash of the light which followed, arose and started for the exits. The leader of the orchestra quickly had his musicians play a lively air, and a moment later the lights were turned on and the curtain rung up. The whole company walked forward to the foot lights and remained there, while one of them assured the alarmed audience that there was no danger. Order was soon restored and the play proceeded. Joseph Angell, who was operating the machine, succeeded in extinguishing the flames a moment after they broke out, but he was badly burned about the face and hands and suffered severely from the inhalation of smoke. He is expected to recover. Fifteen hundred dollars will cover the loss on the macnine.

THE HOME DOCTOR.

How Various Aches and Pains May Be Quickly Relieved.

A very good remedy for relieving earache is to fill a little bag of soft flannel with salt and make this very hot in the oven. Test it against you cheek to make sure it is not too hot and then apply to the aching ear.

To prevent discoloration from bruises it will be found expedient to apply ho water cloths to the injured part and renew frequently until the pain ceases. As soon as the barking cough begins in cases of croup give one drop of aro matic ammonia in a dessertspoonful of water. Repeat every fifteen minutes until relief is obtained or until a phy sician can be sent for. Moistened tea leaves applied to burn will relieve the inflammation and Adams to Quincy Point on Thursday, prevent a scar.

How to Rest the Brain.

There are five things to remember to help rest an overtired brain-(1) healthy indifference to wakefulness, (2) concentration of the mind on simple things, (3) relaxation of the body, (4) gentle rhythmic breathing of fresh air (5) regular nourishment. If we do no lose courage, but keep on steadily night after night, with a healthy persisten in remembering and practicing these five things, we shall often find what might have been a very long period of sleeplessness may be materially shortened and that the sleep which follows the practice of the exercises is better sounder and more refreshing than the sleep that came before. In many cases a long or short period of insomnia can be absolutely prevented by just these simple means. Here is perhaps the place to say that all narcotic such cases absolutely pernicio

MRS ROGERS' CRIME

Cold-Blooded Murder of Husband, as Related In Court The crime for which Mrs. Mary Mabel Rogers was sentenced to death was the murder of her husband, Marcus Rogers, at night, Aug. 12, 1902, at Bennington. As a result of the search the body of Rogers was found in the Walloomsac river. An autopsy disclosed the fact that the man was dead before his body entered the water. Mrs. Rogers, Leon Perham and a woman friend of Mrs. Rogers, Estella Bates, were taken into custody, and for a time they persisted that they knew nothing about the affair. Later young Perham made a complete confession, and, according to Perham's story, he and Miss Bates went by prearrangement to the place where Rogers was to meet his wife. The Yellow Holly

A story of mystery containing a beautiful love romance by

Fergus Hume

AUTHOR OF

"The Mystery of a Hansom Cab," "The Lone Inn," etc.

The mere announcement of a new story by Fergus Hume is the best advertisement to those acquainted with his work; others may be interested in the following taken from a large number of complimentary press notices:

The author of "The Mystery of a Hansom Cab" is one of the best writers of mystery tales, and his new offering, "The Yellow Holly," shows no deteriora tion in the art of working out a complicated theme. - St. Louis

If you wish to play a game of hare and hound with mystery and find you have missed the hare every time you think you hare every time you think you have run him down, read Fergus Hume's "The Yellow Holly." It is a detective story and a multiple love story with more sensations to the chapter than there are impulses to the wireless telegraph—New York World.

Quincy Point Social.

The ladies of the Washington Street Congregational church served another one of their famous suppers in the vestry Thursday evening. The supper consisted of all kinds of pies, baked beans, etc., and there was an unusually large attendance. Following the supper was a very interesting program including selections by Wollaston Glee club, whistling solo by Miss Townsend, vocal solo by Joseph Byrne and readings by Miss Townsend. Miss Townsend came from Emerson's School of Oratory. Her readings were thoroughly enjoyed. The audience was delighted to hear Mr. Bryne again and his solo was heartily applauded. The selections by the Glee club were particularly good and they responded graciously to the hearty encores. Among the gentlemen to sing in the club were: Messrs. Byrne, Pollock, Page, Hayden, Linscott and Pollard. Miss Sara M. Kelley accompanied on the

Governor Has No Power In Fall River Situation

CONFERENCE AT BOSTON

Labor Leaders Advised to Adopt Conservative Course In Dealing With Alleged Cases of Discrimination by Mill Men

Boston, Feb. 4.-Grievances over the treatment some of the mill operatives in Fall River receive at the hands of some manufacturers were laid before Governor Douglas by the executive committee of the Textile council, in the hope that the governor might at least induce the manufacturers to meet the union officials in conference, where the situation could be discussed once more.

The union officials were in private conference with the governor for nearly two hours and when they came out they stated that they were "perfectly satisfied with the conference." Beyond this they would say nothing, but the governor's private secretary issued the following statement a few moments later.

"The executive committee of the Textile council of Fall River had an interview with Governor Douglas and related to him the conditions existing in Fall River. There were some complaints of discrimination on the part of certain mills in the re-employment of those who went out on strike. The governor assured the committee he had no official power to compel either the manufacturers or the operatives to give the other conference to adjust grievances, but advised a conservative course in dealing with the alleged cases of discrimination."

The situation that these men had to present to the governor is, in brief, that the machines on which they were employed prior to the strike, the manufacturers maintaining that they would not be justified in displacing the operatives obtained to run those machines while the strike was in progress.

It is a maker of dispute whether such refusal by the manufacturers constitutes discrimination in violation of the governor. The men claim it does, and appealed to the governor, as the arbitrator, for his interpretation. The ground taken by the manufacturers has been that it is no violation of the terms. nor discrimination, to re-engage no more than are actually needed or may be provided for without making dis-

Some of these, especially among the mule spinners, are merely waiting, as they know they can go back to their former places as soon as there is anything for them to do. The principal complaint comes from the slasher tenders and weavers.

Football Considered Good Sport New York, Feb. 4.-The New York alumni of Lafayette college held their night. President Warfield said that he considered football good sport despite the fact that President Eliot had declared that it was too rough a game for the gentlemen of Harvard to indulge in. PROMPT AND COOL

Remarkably Brave Act by Fire Department Engineer

New York, Feb. 4.-A remarkable display of courage and coolness in the face of danger was witnessed, when the driver of a fire engine was thrown from his seat by a collision and the horses started on a wild run. The other persons, was saved by the action of Engineer William L. Corley, who climbed around the swaying boiler and down onto the pole until he got posses sion of the reins and brought the fright-

In falling, the driver grasped the pole between the horses and was dragged for blocks almost under their feet. Corley, who was at the back of the engine, was thrown down by the shock of the collision and fell into the firepan, being badly burned about the feet and hands. He, however, crawled forward and stopped the horses. His burns will keep him out of service for several weeks. The driver was in a state of collapse when rescued, but was not seriously hurt.

Housebreaker Caught

New York, Feb. 4.—Inspector O'Brien announced last night that he had in custody the man who committed the recent robberies at the residences of several wealthy men and various crimes The prisoner was registered as Christopher Smyth, 19 years old. Bondsmen Superseded

The personal bondsman is fast becoming obsolete; the risk to private fortune is too great.

The corporate bond is just as rapidly supplanting the old form; and, in time, men will marvel that they were ever called upon to incur the danger of personal suretyship.

In point of safety, convenience and propriety, there can be no comparison between the two; the one is just as weak and perilous as the other is strong and safe.

The time is near when it will be thought as reasonable to borrow the key of a friend's safe as to borrow his name for surety purposes. Persons who are required to give bonds should apply to

Stockings and socks should always be washed before being worn, for then wear as long again.

Greased ribbons or silk may be cleaned by rubbing with French chalk of magnesia and then holding the material by the fire. This will entirely absorb the grease, so that it may be rubbed off.

When the hands have become soft and shrunken by using soda and hot water, rub them with common salt, and it will help to make them smooth

Delicate colored silks should never be laid away in white paper, as the chloride of lime used in bleaching the paper often draws out the color.

Buttermilk is excellent for cleaning sponges. Steep the sponge in milk for some hours, then squeeze it out and wash it in cold water. Lemon juice is also good.

Louise Michel's Impressions of an Extraordinary Experience.

MORE UNEASINESS THAN PAIN FELT

Late French Communist Said Her Senses Were Transformed and as Death Advanced She Felt That She Was Returning to Elements From Which She Came-The World Seemed So Small-A Vision of War.

A remarkable experience of the late Louise Michel, the French communist, is thus described by herself in the Lon-

In all probability each of us experiences when dying certain sensations which in the main agree, what difference there is being in minor details.

Last February I undertook a long lecturing tour with my friend Girault. The tour included about thirty towns | morning dust the feet over with French in France, Corsica and Algeria. Crossing from England, the first lectures were given in Calais, Roubaix, Tourcoing and Liancourt. In the last named town I struggled against influenza, which seized me after a severe blizzard. At Troyes, where I spent a few days, the doctor and my friends protested against my proceeding to Chaumont, where I was to deliver my next lecture. I did not want to act contrary to their advice, and yet I felt that my will would be weakened by yielding to their wishes. Will is like the steel of a sword-it can be bent too much. I thought that by going to Chaumont I might be cured, for it was there that I studied, and Chaumont and Saris were the only towns I knew prior to my going to Caledonia.

On reaching Toulon I imagined I had conquered my illness, and it was with that conviction that I lectured, but on returning to the Hotel Terminus, where I intended resting for a day or two, I felt exhausted, and it was found that the influenza had developed into congestion of the lungs.

I rapidly sank into a condition that is best described in the expression "la guenille humaine"—the human rag. Yes, it seemed as if my body hung like proached I became mere sensation and compared my state to the magnetic needle seeking the north when disturbed by a cyclone. My senses were transposed-one discharging another's duties. I had the impression of reading a telegram my friend Charlotte held in her hand through my fingers. As death advanced nearer I felt more uneasiness than pain. I was gliding into the elements with two impressions—one that of being carried away almonds and sweetened to taste. The world seemed so small-too small, in fact, for the human race not to be one people. I saw the different races stretching in concentric circles around the bubble caused by Time's dropped stone. Before my eyes was a veil or fog. I could only distinguish persons in the room by their stature.

They looked like large shadows. I had a vision of war; the field, an immense blot of blood, covered with the dving and the dead. Riderles horses were stampeding away, while in the distance the battle was in full swing. Mothers, children and old people crouched together, abandoned. Fire lit up the ruins of their homes. Then of water and apply to the spots. This I saw dens and caverns inhabited by wild beasts invaded by prehistoric men, with torches in their hands. These took possession, to be in turn driven out by their successors, carrying the lights of science and of art.

How did I return to life? I cannot say. THE HOME DOCTOR.

How Various Aches and Pains May Be Quickly Relieved.

A very good remedy for relieving earache is to fill a little bag of soft flannel with salt and make this very hot in the oven. Test it against your cheek to make sure it is not too hot and then apply to the aching ear.

To prevent discoloration from bruises it will be found expedient to apply hot water cloths to the injured part and renew frequently until the pain ceases.

As soon as the barking cough begins in cases of croup give one drop of aromatic ammonia in a dessertspoonful of water. Repeat every fifteen minutes until relief is obtained or until a physician can be sent for.

Moistened tea leaves applied to a burn will relieve the inflammation and prevent a scar.

A teaspoon of ammonia added to a footbath of warm water will do much to rest tired, burning feet. Sonk the feet in this water for fifteen minutes. Dry, and while the feet are warm and moist from the bath rub over them a small quantity of vaseline. In the chalk.

To remove a wart pour on it a drop of vinegar and then cover it with as much carbonate of soda as the vinegar will absorb. Keep it on ten minutes and repeat the application twice daily. In a few days the wart generally drops off, leaving only a tiny white mark. For burns or scalds nothing is more soothing than the white of an egg, which may be poured over the wound. It is more soothing as a varnish for a burn than collodion

How to Rest the Brain.

There are five things to remember to help rest an overtired brain-(1) a healthy indifference to wakefulness, (2) concentration of the mind on simple things, (3) relaxation of the body, (4) gentle rhythmic breathing of fresh air, (5) regular nourishment. If we do not lose courage, but keep on steadily night after night, with a healthy persistence in remembering and practicing these five things, we shall often find what might have been a very long period of sleeplessness may be materially shortened and that the sleep which follows the practice of the exercises is better, sounder and more refreshing than the sleep that came before. In many cases a rag, and I was able to regard it as no | a long or short period of insomnia can longer belonging to me. As death ap- | be absolutely prevented by just these simple means. Here is perhaps the place to say that all narcotics are in such cases absolutely pernicious.

How to Cure Tonsilitis.

Inflammation of the throat and tonsils is a common complaint at certain seasons of the year. A soothing drink for persons so affected is made by boil ing a teaspoonful of isinglass in half a pint of milk with half a dozen bruised in England, but is not commonly known in this country.

How to Know Linen.

Cotton may be distinguished from the linen when one is making purchases by moistening the tip of the linen the threads are more uneven handkerchiefs.

How to Renovate a Black Bag. To renovate a black bag take a tablespoonful each of sugar and gin, and when the sugar is dissolved thicken the mixture with ivory black, add the yolk of an egg, beat all together, then beat in the white. Stir and apply like a kid reviver and leave for over twentyfour hours to harden. Then polish with a soft cloth or a chamois leather.

How to Remove Indelible Ink Stains. To remove indelible ink stains make a solution of one-quarter of an ounce of cyanide of potassium to one ounce is deadly poison. Ink spots may be removed by applying crystals of oxalic acid to the spots, steaming over a bowl of hot water. This is also poison.

How to Cure an Inflamed Eye. For an inflamed eye use the white of a tablespoonful of rosewater. Apply this on a soft rag and change as often as it dries. The effect is most soothing,

How to Remove Paint Spots on Glass. To treat paint spots that painters have left on your panes of glass soak long enough to be very stubborn scrape the spots with the edge of a penny. It will not scratch as would a knife.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

An Exquisite Hair Dressing.

SOME MEN DON'T CARE. Some men are so indifferent to hair loss that they pay no attention what-ever to dandruff and itching scalp. But, later, when incurable baldness comes they will waste time and money in a vain endeavor to overcome the result of their own neglect.

THERE WAS A TIME. There was a time when was considered quite proper to ridicule and make light of the germ theory but it isn't good taste to do it now, when municipal governments are sending for scientific men to suppress germ contagion. Prof. Unna (ask your doctor about him) was the first to discover the dandruff microbe and now dermatologists the world over know that true dandruff is a contagious disease caused by a germ.

THE GUINEA-PIG PROVED IT. Drs. Lassar and Bishon, both noted scientists, took dandruff scales from the head of a student who was losing his hair and having made a pomade of them with vaseline, rubbed the same upon a guinea-pig and the pig became bald. (See George Thomas Jackson, M. D., on Diseases of skin, 4th edition.) Newbro's Herpicide should be used at the first suggestion of dandruff or itching scalp. It prevents scalp infection, robs the public hair brush of its power to do harm, and never fails to cure daudruff and stop falling hair.

THE LADIES KNOW. The ladies are quick to discover any diseased condition of the hair, for with them the natural impulse of preservation applies particularly to Nature's Charming Adorpment. When the hair becomes dull, brittle or lusterless it shows that the dandruff microbe has planted itself in the scalp and is sapping the hairs' vitality. In time it will cause dandruff, itching scalp and failing hair. This condition calls for the immediate use of Newbro's Herpicide. The wonderful effect of the very first application shows that it will destroy the cause, after which the hair will grow as nature intended

The Original Remedy that "Kills the Dandruff Germ." DISEASED HAIR EFFECTS FACIAL EXPRESSION

The face is a mirror of the mind and many women lose their youthful appearance by brooding over some physical misfortune that might be remedied. Lasting beauty comes from the consciousness that both hair and skin are perfectly healthy, as nature gave them, and this form of beauty shows through even the most irregular features. A woman may be perfect in form and her complexion may rival the color of the rose, but if it is her misfortune to have scant or lifeless hair, that misfortune will continually wound her pride and be reflected in her face. To such women Herpicide is a positive delight. It gives confidence by quickly producing the "correct" effect. Makes the hair light, fluffy and gives it an indescribable charm. A single trial will convince. Contains no oil or grease, will not stain or

A Gratifying Letter.

Herpicide is evidently one of the most valuable preparations for the purpose intended that is on the market. he results so far are most gratifying. I am practicing for 40 years and have at no time experienced better satisfaction to allay the irritation of the scalp which is common among our people.

Helped Growth of New Hair.

I can cheerfully recommend Newbro's Herpicide as being an article of real merit. Have used it on my daughter's head after a severe case of typhoid fever and stopped the hair from falling out and helped a growth of new hair. (Signed) Mrs. D. S. HUMPHREY. Carbondale, Pa.

UPHOLSTERING___

N Our Upholstery Department we attend to all kinds of Furniture Re-upholstering and repairing; mattresses and cushions to order or made over, window shades to order. Carpets taken up, cleaned and relaid. February is the best month in the year to have Furniture Re-upholstered. Work can be done and returned with greatest dispatch, something almost impossible when the busy season starts in. February prices are also attractive, being lower, in order to encourage people to have their work done during the dull season, enabling us to give our upholsterers steady employment.

only person to blame for the delay from time of receipt of County Commissioner's order in April 1903, to date of beginning work, viz: Sept. 1904, was our Commissioner of Public Works, as it can be seen that under our City Charter the Commissioner has sole authority over all streets, ways and bridges, except what is contained in Sect. 15 of the charter, regarding laying out, T ADIES' and Children's hose, 10, 12 1-2, 15, widening, etc., and I find nothing to show that he tried to exercise any authority over this particular bridge or 1383 Hancock Street. to expedite matters in any way. I have been quoted as saying that the city of Quincy ought not to bear any expense for the widening of that bridge and approaches, as petitioned for. It seems to me to be clearly an expense of the railroad, under Chap. 111 of the Revised Laws, Sec. 133. It would seem to me that the Special Commissioners made the award under Sect. 134 of Chap. 111, which award should have been appealed from within 14 days, for the reason that our Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages, petition does not ask for a bridge long enough to cover four tracks of the steam railroad, thereby causing a great expense for an approach 380 feet long, for expense on Madison, Old Colony Office Tel. 219-3. and Sagamore streets. Also the damages to Mahoney and such other estates as will be damaged for taking land for approaches and grade damages. Having had some experience in these natters, it looks as though the City of Quincy had been humbugged.

First, by having to pay a large part of the expense, for the sole benefit will accrue to the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. Second, if this work is carried out as now planned we shall have our main outlet from Quincy at a grade of 4 per cent. where it need not have been over 2 per cent. and such grades of Old Colony, Madison and Sagamore streets Afternoons by appointment. And as I have read in your paper that our proportion of expense would be about ten thousand dollars, it seems very likely that we are liable to have an expense of, perhaps, double that amount before we are through.

To-day is Quincy's second inauguration day for 1905. A day when the old department officials walk out, and the new officials walk in. Yet so well regulated have city affairs become that a stranger visiting City Hall would not be aware that any changes had taken place. At the close of business Saturday night, those officials who were to retire, last year. There are no changes on the Library board or the Adams Academy board. Each of the boards will organize at heir first meeting in February, the old boards continuing to serve until a majority of the old board qualify. It will probably take the greater part of this week to finish the hearing in the suit of John Sheahan against the city. The case of the plaintiff was finished Friday and when court adjourned until Monday Engineer Branch, the first witness for the city, was on the stand. It is possible that this suit may delay the turning over of the Sewer department to the Commissioner of Public Works until Feb. 13, instead of today is planned. When the Sewer Commissioners fixed the date for the transfer as Feb. 6, it was thought that the Sheahan case would be disposed of before that time. The case was marked for trial the first week in January, and had it gone on then it would have been completed before this. Court cases, however, are uncertain things, for which the city were not responsible, and instead of the first week in January it was the last week before the case came to trial.

The Sewer Commissioners are anxious to turn the department over as soon as possible, but they desire to have all matters cleaned up before it is done. Everything has been cleaned up but this one matter. The Yellow Holly

A story of mystery containing a beautiful love romance by

AUTHOR OF

"The Mystery of a Hansom Cab," "The Lone Inn," etc.

The mere announcement of a new story by Fergus Hume is the best advertisement to those acquainted with his work; others may be interested in the following taken from a large number of complimentary press notices:

The author of "The Mystery of a Hansom Cab" is one of the best writers of mystery tales. and his new offering, "The Yellow Holly," shows no deterioration in the art of working out a complicated theme. - St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"Percy was dead!"

If you wish to play a game of hare and hound with mystery and find you have missed the and and you have missed the hare every time you think you have run him down, read Fergus Hume's "The Yellow Holly." It is a detective story and a multiple love story with more sensations to the chapter than there are impulses to the wireless telegraph—New York World.

Fulfilment of Desire of the Oberlin Banker

MAY AID MRS CHADWICK

Was Expected to Be Star Witness Against the Woman In Cases of Alleged Forgery and Conspiracy In Ohio

Oberlin, O., Feb. 6 .- C. T. Beckwith, president of the defunct Citizens' National bank of this city, died at 10:45 o'clock last night after two days of unconsciousness, during which dissolution was expected at any moment. Only the family surrounded the deathbed of the banker.

C. T. BECKWITH.

Mr. Beckwith was 65 years of age On Dec. 14 last the federal grand jury in Cleveland returned five indictment against Beckwith upon the charge of violating the national banking laws in connection with the loans made to Mrs Cassie L. Chadwick by the Citizens National bank of Oberlin, of which de ceased was president. From the day o his arrest Beckwith's health failed tapidly as a result of worry over hi troubles. He frequently declared dur ing his illness that he wanted to die For several days prior to his death he refused to take food in any form. Death resulted directly from hear trouble The death of Beckwith may ma terially weaken the cases of forgery and conspiracy to misapply bank funds. now charged against Mrs. Chadwick It was expected that Beckwith would be the star witness in both the federal and common pleas courts.

There is no way to perpetuate Beck with's testimony. The constitution of the United States says an accused person must be confronted in court by the accusers. A deposition or atlidavit cannot be used. Beckwith was indicted early in Denber for wrecking his ins loans to Mrs. Chadwick, which, he declared in his confession to District Attorney Sullivan and the federal grand jury, were made upon her representation that she was an illegitimate daughter of Andrew Carnegie and that he was the actual signer of two notes, one for $500,000 and one for $250,000, which she deposited with Beckwith to secure the loans made to her. In all Mrs. Chadwick secured, it is said. something like $600,000 from Beckwith including the bulk of his own private Beckwith was one of the last to lose faith in the woman, and when be did he forthwith told his story to the authorities. The shock prostrated him and his subsequent arrest, indictmen and admission to bail completely wrecked his health.

For three weeks he had hovered or the brink of eternity, while the woman who is responsible is in the common jail at Cleveland, awaiting trial.

The death of Beckwith, of course removes a vital witness against her but Sullivan has stated that he had sufficient without Beckwith, whose confession was sworn to

Proceedings in Bay State

Boston, Feb. 6.-It is stated on good authority that if the litigation against Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick should fail. owing to the death of C. T. Beckwith, that proceedings against her will immediately be instituted in this state. The suit brought here would be in connection with an alleged loan made to Mrs. Chadwick by Herbert D. Newton of Brookline.

Election Cheats Sentenced Denver, Feb. 6.-W. S. Lyons, convicted of being an accessory to illegal voting at the November election, was sentenced to jail for six months. Lyons was a clerk in the city auditor's office. Guy Wheeler and C. B. Rueve, election officers, were convicted of breaking the seals of ballots and were sentenced to jail for six months each.

New York Hold-Up Man Says He Did Not Work For Profit

'RAFFLES'" CONFESSION

Police Could Have Easily Captured Him If They Had Tried Hard Enough-Boasts of His Dexterity With Weapons

New York, Feb. 6.-Christopher petrator of many startling robberies in private residences within the past few weeks, has made a confession, according to a statement made by Acting Inspector O'Brien.

Smyth declared that he had not worked for plunder, but merely for the gines was delayed by the death of one enjoyment he got out of the excitement incident to the robberies. He confessed that he had been interested in the exploits of western bandits and that he had tried to emulate their example. The character of "Raffles," he declared, had also given him ideas and he had attempted to follow out this example. He vowed that it would have been the easiest thing in the world for the police to have captured him on various occasions, but that there had been no attempt made to follow him after he had left the house he entered, except in one instance.

He declared confidently that in several instances he could have secured diamonds and other jewels had he so chosen, and was sure that he could have gone to any bank in the city and obtained whatever he demanded. Of his dexterity with weapons, he boasted that he could hit a 50-cent piece at 50 yards 99 times out of a hun-

Smyth denied absolutely that he has had any confederates and declares that he has been working alone. Besides the $85 he got from Ernest G. Woerz, he netted all told $1 from the hall attendant at the Delta Phi club and $35 from pawning a watch taken at the same time. He insisted again and again that he had worked not for profit but for the excitement.

Symth told with great gusto of callng on the telephone an evening paper which had offered a reward of $1000 for his apprehension. He said: "'Will you pay me the reward if I go down to the office?' I asked them. They wanted to know who I was and I said 'I'm Raffles. I'm the man you want.' They said that they would pay the money

"I telephoned to Mr. Woerz that I was the man that held him up and told him that he needn't bother going around trying to identify people who had been arrested. 'He isn't caught,' I told him. | weeks that the frost has penetrated the 'And he isn't going to get caught. ground to a depth of several feet and And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy the last publication to the city's water mains. Unless the temperature rises within a few days I'll blow up your home with dynamite. I mean what I say. I will now tell you that I'm the man. Good bye.' I also telephoned to the Shipmans. I felt real bad that the girl had been made ill by the fright."

U. Solomon, organizer of the Socialist Democratic party in New York, sent a letter to Police Commissioner McAdoo denying that Smyth had ever been a lecturer for the party or had ever been known to have had any affiliations with it.

Family Had Narrow Escaps Brockton, Mass., Feb. 6.-The family of Charles C. Holmes narrowly escaped death by suffocation from the smoke of a fire which destroyed their residence on West Elm street. Flames Made Quick Work on Hotel, Cottage and Barn

Abington, Mass., Feb. 6 .- Seven guests at Keen's hotel, five men and two women, fled from the building just in time to escape being penned in by a fire that destroyed the structure and its contents. The fire, which was discovered soon after 5 o'clock in the morning, started in a stable, adjoining the hotel, and was caused by an overreated stove pipe.

The stable was consumed with its ontents in a few minutes, and the flames coursed along an annex connecting with the main building of the hover and the latter structure was soon on fire. The fire next communicated to a barn in the rear of the hotel and thence to a cottage occupied by the family Smyth, who is locked up at police head- of James Foley. The cottage was badquarters, charged with being the per- ly damaged and all of the furniture belonging to the Foley family was ruined. The total loss is estimated at

The firemen had great difficulty in getting water on the fire, inasmuch as three hydrants in the vicinity of the blaze were frozen and one of the enof the fire department horses.

Robbers Made Their Escape Boston, Feb. 6.-John F. McGlorey was beaten and robbed in the Fenway last night by three men, two of whom were negroes. The assault was committed within a short distance of Huntington avenue. The white man approached McGlorey and asked for a match and when the latter opened his coat to get one the two negroes sprang upon him, hit him with a sandbag and then kicked him into insensibility. The assailants secured a small sum of money and a gold locket. McGlorey is suffering serious internal injuries. The robbers escaped.

GERMAN IRE AROUSED

British Civil Admiral May Have Talked a Little Too Plainly London, Feb. 6 .- The speech of Ar. thur H. Lee, civil lord of the admiralty, on Feb. 2, has created such a storm in Germany that the government organs here are busily endeavoring to ediorialize away its effect. Lee himself, in a communication to The Standard, makes a similar effort by declaring that he was incorrectly reported and giving what he calls a correct version, which is so different from the original report as to do infinite credit to the ingenuity of English newspaper reporters. According to The Standard's Berlin dispatches, unless the foreign office promptly repudiates responsibility for Lee's alleged utterances, the German government will make a formal com-

Suspension of Fighting

St. Petersburg, Feb. 6.—According to General Kuropatkin's latest reports which indicate the wounding of a third Russian general, Dembowski, the operations at Sandiapu and the fighting at Shakhe have been momentarily suspended. The Russians successfully repulsed the latest attack of the Japanese eastward army with heavy loss. The cold is still intense. There are indications that the Japanese are preparing to break the inactivity on their own account as soon as the weather moderates. No facts regarding the reports that Kuropatkin is about to give up his command can be obtained.

At Montreal the advertising manager of the Canadian Pacific is a man named Ham, and the city ticket office is in charge of a man named Egg. The two are fast friends, and if both happen to be out of town at once inquiries for Ham and Egg are frequent. By a coincidence both report to an official named Bacon, whose chief clerk is named Brown. Recently Ham and Egg were both in Bacon's office. The telephone rang, and Brown answered. He caught an inquiry for the Canadian Pacific office and said:

"This is it." "Who's this talking?" asked the voice. "This is Brown. Do you want Ba-

Monday was a very unpleasant day for the February meeting of Adams chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, at the home of Miss Annie L. Prescott, and only the Quincy members were present. Mrs. Titus, regent, presided during the brief business meeting.

It was announced that the Adams family were to make extensive repairs on the birth place of President John Adams. Skating on Bay.

The pleasure of taking advantage of the perfect skating on the bay last Saturday and Sunday was shared by hundreds of people from Quincy, Woilaston and Atlantic: Some speared cels through the ice, some walked out to the danger line for the sake of telling their city friends about it the next day, but the majority glided over the smooth surface in the good old-fashioned way for very love of the sport. The statement of the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company published in another column is worthy of study by those who are contemplating life insurance. It shows that this veteran among life insurance companies has assets of $65,224,841, and a surplus of $4,828,696, which is a proof of the absolute safety of the company. That the surplus is not far beyond this sum is due to the fact that the company religiously divides its earnings with its policy-holders in the shape of dividends, $1,151,427 being used for that purpose last year alone. The company stands unapproached as a model of conservative and successful management on safe and sane lines.

GLIMPSES OF GORKY.

Story Told About the Russian Author's Flesh Diet.

Maxim Gorky, who was recently arrested in Riga and is described as "the leader of the Russian reform party," has a number of idiosyncrasies, among them being a periodical change from a flesh to a vegetable diet, says the Detroit News-Tribune.

It is said of Gorky that he dined at a table d'hote one day during one of his periods of vegetarianism and was much annoyed by the importunities of an old of the boiled ham?" "None, thank you." "Dear me! But surely you'll have a portion of roast beef?" "No." said the novelist, continuing to eat vegetables only.

"Some roast mutton?" resumed the indefatigable old lady.

Gorky gave her a stern look. "Let me inform you," he said, "that I never eat that raw."

In an autobiographical sketch Gorky

"My father died in Astrakhan when was five years old. After the death of my mother my grandfather placed me in a shoe store. I was then nine years old, and my grandfather had taught me to read in the psalter and prayer book. I ran away from my studies and became a draftsman's apprentice; ran away from him and entered the workshop of a painter of saints' images; then I served on a steamer as a cook's boy; then I became a gardener's assistant.

"After my fifteenth year I felt a passionate wish to learn, in pursuance of which I betook myself to Kasan under the impression that knowledge would be imparted free to all who desire it. It turned out, however, that this was not the case, so I went to work in a pretzel bakery at a salary of 3 rubles a month. Of all the kinds of work I have tried this was the hardest. In Kasan I came into relations with the 'lost people' and lived long with them. "I worked on the places on the Volga, now as a woodchopper, now as a porter, and during this time read every book I could lay my hands on, which various kind people supplied me with. I got along very badly and in 1888 even tried to kill myself by shooting a bullet into my body. I lay a long time in the hospital, but finally recovered and went into the apple trade.'

to take around decanters and cigars after dinner. The little engine, over which two dolls in blue overalls preside, is constructed of silver plated copper in miniature reproduction of a Great Western locomotive. The tender is stacked with coal from the millionaire's own coal mine.

When the millionaire touches a button the train starts. It runs quite slowly round the track, and when a guest picks up a decanter the current is broken, and the train stops till he replaces it. The total length of the train, which is driven by electricity, is more than five feet, and the track is constructed for a twenty foot table.

Atlantic Bridge a Reproach. Editors of the Daily Ledger:

The new bridge on Hancock street at Atlantic, and its grades is a reproach to the city. This improvement should not have been undertaken till proper and sufficient plans were first drawn and approved by the parties who were in office especially hired for this purpose, as in others to zealously guard the interest of our city. These plans should have proper grade lines established and there should be a filling on the south side of the bridge beginning at or near the culvert, which shows a depression. The grade lines should begin there and fill from five to six feet. Now, where was our City Engineer, when all this was going on? Is it not part of his duty to see that all street lines and grades are properly laid out? It should be born in mind that originally there were three distinct parties ontributing to the expense in this matter:-the street railway, the steam railway, and the city. Now with this inderstood, the city officials should be

UNION IS UNSHAKEN

Russia Still Devoted to Her Autocratic Monarch

AN ADDRESS BY NOBLES

Says Officials and Statesmen Cannot Solve All Questions --Whole People Should Participate In Legislation

St. Petersburg, Feb. 7.-The assemoly of the nobles of St. Petersburg have adopted an address to Emperor Nicholas congratulating him on the birth of the heir to the throne and assuring him of the confidence of the naion. The address says: "Sire-We have met in troublous times. Foes are attacking us, their aim being to bring Russia to a shameful peace, wring from her her distant territories, and bring to naught the system of government which has been sanctioned by centuries. A way out of the difficulties must be found. We realize that every word addressed by your majesty in this painful hour is veighted with grave responsibility. We are witnesses to your majesty's efforts to secure the welfare of Russia. The decree of Dec. 25 revived the hopes of your subjects, who saw therein the rue salvation of the fatherland. "This is not the first time dark louds have lowered over Russia, but despite former efforts to shake the basis of the government, the country became stronger and advanced along the path of progress. From union be tween an autocratic monarch and a devoted nation Russia has ever derived a strength which neither the foreign foe nor trouble at home could exhaust. "The nobility of St. Petersburg are convinced that this union is unshaken and must prevail. With the aid of God our valiant troops, who are not spar ng their lives for the emperor and the fatherland, will crown the Russian rms with fresh glory, and troubles at nome will cease.

"The whole nation awaits with eagerness the fulfilment of the imperial will; but officials and statesmen, of whatever qualities and zeal, cannot solve all the questions of the nation's life. Your forefathers harkened to the voice of custom, so far from weakening, strengthened the autocracy and aided it to attain its present greatness.

"Order now that elected representatives of the country may raise their and serve the sovereign faithfully, for resign. the salvation and glory of the country and the confusion of its enemies." The address was adopted by a vote of 158 to 20.

The present circumstances in Finland render it almost certain that the crime is of a political character and of the same nature as the assassination of Count Bobrikoff, the governor general of Finland, in June of last year.

The Russification of Finland has been meeting with great opposition and creating much bitterness, especially since the formation of the party of active resistance, which was recruited from the bolder spirits of the original party of passive resistance and to which the perpetrator of this latest crime probably belongs.

At the conference of revolutionary parties of Russia in Berlin last November a program for general concerted action was drawn up, and the assassin of Soininen undoubtedly was in touch with the dissatisfied element throughout Russia. The Yellow Holly

AUTHOR OF

"The Mystery of a Hansom Cab," "The Lone Inn," etc.

The mere announcement of a new story by Fergus Hume is the best advertisement to those acquainted with his work; others may be interested in the following taken from a large number of complimentary press notices:

The author of "The Mystery of a Hansom Cab" is one of the best writers of mystery tales, and his new offering, "The Yellow Holly," shows no deterioration in the art of working out a complicated theme. - St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

If you wish to play a game of hare and hound with mystery and find you have missed the hare every time you think you have run him down, read Fergus Hume's "The Yellow Holly." It is a detective story and a multiple love story with more sensations to the chapter than there are impulses to the wireless telegraph—New York World.

Property at New Atlantic Bridge Will be Benefited.

And All Reduced

Difficulties.

At the public hearing before the City Council Monday evening on the Atlantic bridge, mention was made by Mr. Galvin who appeared for the Mahoney heirs, of another plan which he had seen and which was perfectly acceptable

This plan was one prepared at the office of Herbert T. Whitman and is practically on the lines suggested in the communication of John Q. A. Field, although both parties had no knowledge of the others' ideas.

The plan of Mr. Whitman while taking about the same amount of land as proposed by the plan before the City Council, leave the adjoining property in good shape, and does away with grade damages.

The County Commissioners' plan leaves the property in a hole, practically useless, and leaves Old Colony street with a 10.67 per cent. grade, Madison street with an 8 per cent. grade, and Sagamore street with a 6.88 per cent. grade.

The Whitman plan does away with SKIRTS, the steep grades of Sagamore, Old Colony and Madison streets by relocat- SHRT WASTS, ing Sagamore street, which is diverted from its present course near the Duggan estate by an easy curve to the east, intersecting Hancock street opposite Madison street. The location will be where the Mahoney buildings now stand and the maximum grade of Sagamore street will be not over two per cent.

This will make two valuable business ots of Mahoney lot and a valuable orner of Sullivan and Chick properties. Between Hancock and Sagamore streets there would be a gentle slope which could be grassed. Coming up from old Colony street, on the right sid would be a flight of stairs leading to the bridge, so that the distance would e no longer for pedestrians.

From the Atlantic station the plan calls for a foot way, with a hand rail, adjoining the railroad wall to Hancock

"Yes, Johnny is a dear." It might be added that Johnny would Atlantic-Branscheid & Marten's store. have "risen to the occasion" a few

No matter how excellent of character or how flowery of discourse be the pleader, the heart in the cause is wanting when the argument is for a third person. No one can fight a man's battles for him.

If right is on his side, let him come forward himself and claim the justice that goes hand and hand with right, for it is bound to be his if he deserves

This subject has caused a chill wind to sweep over Atlantic, cooling friendships of long standing, and allowing anger and uncharitableness to brood in nearts under the very roof of the house of God. It stands to reason if two Violin solo, Intermesso from "Cavalleria persons discuss a flower or a stone, the only way to settle the argument is to Reading, "Aunt Melissy on Boys," produce the object. So in this matter, if unjust accusation has been brought to bear upon innocence, let not the town of Atlantic, but the person blamed step forward and cry it down, as befits innocence for self and his supporters.

Utah. The Mormon question also received an airing during the day. While the provision for the separate admission of New Mexico was under consideration, Mr. Burrows, chairman of the committee on privileges and elections, announced his opposition to the bill, and stated that it was due to the practice of polygamy in that territory to such an extent that he considered it unwise to take the administration away from the federal authorities. The bill originated in the house and will go to conference.

London, Feb. 9 .- The privy council has decided the Greene-Gaynor case in favor of the American government and at the same time administered a who set them at liberty.

Gaynor and Greene, who remain in Quebec, are to be arrested at once, as they are closely watched by American government detectives. They must then be arraigned for extradition to the United States, and the case must be heard on its merits.

John F. Gaynor and Benjamin D. Greene were indicted in Savannah, Ga., Dec. 8, 1899, charged with embezzlement and defrauding the United States government, together with Captain Oberlin M. Carter, in the performance of government contracts for the improvement of the Savannah river and other river and harbor work in that district, the illicit profits being estimated at $2,000,000.

The principal in these was Carter, then an officer in the engineer corps. the charter list and success is assured. He was convicted in August, 1898, of A smoke talk will be held next Thursembezzling nearly $3,000,000 from the government in connection with the improvements at Savannah harbor and other incidental irreguralities, and sentenced to uismissal from the army, to 10 years' imprisonment, and to have his disgrace published in the papers and in general orders, with notice to all officers that their recognition of him in any way would lead to their trial for scandalous conduct.

Gaynor and Greene fled to Quebec while his trial was in progress.

A Quagrennial Function

Washington, Feb. 9.-Although the result of the presidential election was known on Nov. 8, it was not until yesterday, when the senate and house met in joint session, that Roosevelt and Fairbanks were officially declared to be elected president and vice president. respectively, for four years beginning March 4, 1905. Senator Frye presided. The count showed that Roosevelt and Fairbanks received 336 electoral votes and Parker and Davis 140. The whole proceeding consumed exactly 50 minutes, thereby establishing a new record in counting the electoral vote.

How Old Pieces of Carpet May Be Put Very handsome rugs may be made at home with but little time or expense. Very neat and durable rugs may be made from bits of ingrain carpet, and new pieces can be bought for a very small sum, but old pieces of carpet can be used after cleaning thoroughly. Cut into bias strips a little more than one inch in width and ravel out one-half inch; then sew these strips on a firm foundation, overlapping them so that only the fringe is visible, says a writer in the Christian Work and Evangelist. Some rugs that have done good service for several years were made of wide bordering that comes for brussels carpets. Two different remnants were purchased with enough yarn fringe for trimming the rugs. The desired length of the rug was taken and two lengths of the carpet cut and neatly whipped together; then the ends of the rugs were hemmed and the fringe sewed on, some as some of the high priced woven

Perhaps the easiest way to make a rug from old cloth is to cut the pieces into strips about three inches wide, then lay two or three of the strips together, sew through the center with the handsome rug seen recently was crocheted on a large wooden book in the single stitch and was made of odds and ends of materials in both cotton and wool, and the faded woolen pleces stripes were crocheted in the hit or miss

Pretty homemade rugs can be made preferable to the inartistic store articles, which seldom have good colors and never wear well.

Author of "The Mystery of a Hansom Cab," "The Lone Inn," etc.

> Fergus Hume has done nothing better than this in his many popular detective stories. The outcome keeps the reader constantly guessing, and a big surprise is the climax of every complication.—Albany Times-Union. Fergus Hume has written another clever story called "The Yellow Holly." Like all of Mr. Hume's works, there is an entertaining mystery with startling incidents and dramatic denouements. The characters are clear and distinct and the reader's attention is held from first to last.—Cleveland World.

The story is cleverly worked out and will fascinate the lover of the sensational.—Buffalo Expresa.

The court consists of two wide avenues, and beautiful sunken gardens between them, and which are flanked by the Agricultural Palace and European Exhibits Building. On either side of these baildings with their short sides facing the lake, are situated the other main exhibit palaces which bear the names Oriental Exhibits Forestry, Mines and Metallurgy, Fine Arts and Machinery, Electricity and Transportation. The buildings, all covered with ivory white-staff, are built on one general architectural scheme, embodying a free form of the Spanish renaissance. A broad flight of steps known as the "grand stairway" leads from Columbia court to the band stand on the lake shore. The slope on either side of the stairway is terraced, affording a delightful resting place from which to listen to the band concerts and watch the pyrotechnic displays on the lake.

In the western part of the site a considerable portion of the grounds has been left almost in its natural state, forming Centennial Park, and beyond this park, in a little valley, are situated the experimental gardens, where all manner of western farm and garden products will be displayed as they actually grow. Guild's lake is spanned by the beautiful "Bridge of Nations." The end of the bridge adjoining the mainlaud will be called "the Trail." The trail, which is to be the amusement street of the fair, will be 150 feet wide and 800 feet long, the shows being located on either side of a wide avenue. On the Government Peninsula, which is reached by the way of the Bridge of Nations, the main Government building will occupy three acres. The structure will be flanked by two towers, each 260 feet high, and ornate peristyles will lead to structures which will house the Territorial, Irrigation and Fisheries exhibits, a fourth smaller station. The government's exhibit will represent an aggregate expenditure of $800,000. While our own government will be the largest national participant, nearly clark every nation that arises to the dignity of a place on the map will be represented at the exposition. It was really a very nice compliment, but Miss Bull, with malice aforethought, spoiled it in the utterance by laughing pointedly. Train, who had already set his face for a smile, grew red, and madame darted a look at Miss Bull quite out of keeping with her motherly manner. More than this, she it. Before he could collect his wits a spoke her mind. "I hope, Mr. Train, that you will speak the whole truth of some of us." Miss Bull shrugged her thin shoulders and in direct contradiction to the traditions of the evening produced her pack of cards. To abstain on Friday evenings always annoyed her, and since madame had been rude Miss Bull seized the opportunity to show her indifference and enjoy by doing so her favorite pastime. She was a small, thin, dry old maid, with a pallid face and bright black eyes. Her mouth was hard and smiled treacherously. No one liked her save Margery, the niece of Mrs. Jersey. But Margery was supposed to be queer, so her approval of Miss Bull

"It's very nice," replied the old maid, dealing the cards, "but I have heard it before."

"You may not have the chance of hearing it again," said madame. "It's a world of change," replied Miss Bull in her sharp voice. "Margery, was that a heart?" Margery pointed a fat finger to the

A Lack of Evidence

Towarda, Pa., Feb. 10.-The trial of Mrs. Sophia Merritt, one of the family of five charged with the murder of and burning of Maggie B. Johnson, her son's wife, came to an unexpected ending when the district attorney announced that he had no more evidence, and the court directed a verdict of not guilty. Bigler Johnson, the dead woman's husband, had previously pleaded guilty to the general charge of murder, and evidence is now being taken to determine the degree of guilt The murder charges against Mrs. Merritt's twin children, Alanson and Nancy, for complicity, will, it is understood, be dropped.

Tuesday morning, a sudden shock was that the steamer had struck some submerged object, which he thinks may > possibly have been an unusually heavy block of ice, and which stove a hole in the hull, near the engine room. Hoping to save the lives of those aboard, and possibly to keep the steamer from sinking in deep water, Captain Gorst at once ordered the engines started at full speed and headed the vessel off his course, to the northwest, in order to get her clear of the drifting ice and nearer to land. The captain even thought that he might be able to alter his course again and reach Halifax harbor. Soon, however, it became evident that the steam would not last long enough for that, and he put the steamer's head for a nearer point. After he had been on the northwest course for a short time the ice became lighter. At this time it had begun to snow. When it was found that the water was rising so fast in the engine room that the engines soon must stop, and that the vessel then would be in great danger of sinking, despite hard work at the pumps, the boats were cleared away. It was decided that the captain and the passengers, with the stowaways and part of the crew, should embark in one of the boats, and the other members of the crew in a second boat. The 11 bags of Newfoundland mail were quickly placed in a gig, but a heavy sea carried the gig away and only one of the mailbags was saved.

The captain's boat had a hard pull to shore through the ice. Mrs. Prowse who was in this boat, displayed grea courage and endurance and was cheerful throughout the passage. When the boat neared the shore, at Pleasant Point, the ice was packed so closely and the men were so exhausted that it was impossible to row farther Many people living near the scene however, had sighted the boat and had come to the water's edge. When they saw the plight of the boat they did everything in their power to ren der assistance. Lines were made fast to the boat, and several men from shore went out on the slab ice, at much risk to themselves. The boat was soon pulled ashore and all on board were cared for with the utmost hospitality. The other boat reached land with less trouble.

All remained at Pleasant Point until the arrival of the tug sent from here, which, after investigating the scene of the wreck and finding that the steamer had sunk in 10 fathoms of water, brought all to this city.

There are many men who wear their Mrs Edwards Makes Confession to Her Counsel

Daughter of Woman Sentenced to Death For Killing Husband Gave False Testimony Against Negro at Their Trial

Reading, Pa., Feb. 10 .- Mrs. Kate Edwards, who is under sentence to be hanged with Samuel Greason for the murder of her husband, has made a statement to her counsel in which, it is said, she exonerates Greason from complicity in the murder. The statement will not be given to the public until it is presented to the board of mitted the crime.

Mrs. Edwards and Greason, who is a negro, were convicted of the murder of Edwards, and since the death sentence has been pronounced extraordinary efforts have been made to save them from the gallows. The board of pardons has heretofore refused to interfere and the state supreme court has affirmed the lower court's verdict.

Mrs. Edwards' confession, it is thought, will place the case in an enpardons. The board will meet at Harrisburg, Feb. 15, the day before the day fixed for the double execuion. If the woman's statement is accepted by the board, it may save the man's life. If the woman is spared, it will therefore be entirely on sentimental grounds, as strong pressure is being brought before the board to not permit the woman to be hanged. In the trial much testimony was presented to show that Edwards was a dissolute character; that he drank heavily and that he treated his wife in a brutal manner. It was shown Representing the highest grade that Edwards was killed while he lay drunk at his home.

> It is expected that the execution of the statement of Mrs. Edwards. It is said Mrs. Edwards' conscience has been troubling her since she has been receiving the spiritual ministrations of her former pastor, Rev. Stephen Schweitzer, and that she could restrain herself no longer. That she has not made a statement before is, it is believed, due to the fact that she desired to shield her daughter. davit signed by Mary Edwards, the further will be done in the case. daughter. This affidavit, which is now in the hands of John Rothermel, counsel for Greason, is as follows:

"I wish to state that I was very angry at Samuel Greason for what he. did to my mother, but he had nothing to do with the killing of my father that I know of, and therefore, he should not be hanged for that crime. I certainly wish they would not hang my mother."

Mrs. Annie Kutz of this city also has made an affidavit in which she states that after Mary Edwards had been acquitted she informed her (Mrs. Kutz) that her mother had struck her father on the head while he lay drunk, causing his death; that she (Mary) was present at the time; that Greason mag polish. No stained hands—no dirt—no rust was present at the story in clation to arrange in their respective was not there, and that her story in clation to arrange in their respective court about Greason was not true.

A WATER FAMINE

Cold Weather Creates a Serious Situation In Vermont

Burlington, Vt., Feb. 10 .- Reports received here from all sections of Vermont indicate that the worst water famine in the history of the state is being experienced at the present time. The prolonged and intensely cold weather has caused all the small streams to freeze all the way from the surface to the bed, and the exceptionally light snowfall during the winfreezing of wells. Most of the springs and small streams have frozen se completely as to be practically dry and the farmers are, for the greater part, deprived of their customary water supply.

It has been the common thing during the past two weeks for the farmers to drive from their homes to a large stream or river, often several mile distant, where holes have to be cut in the thick ice, and the water pumped into barrels in which it is carried int wagons to the farms. It has been necessary to drive live stock long distances in order to wate it and in many cases the horses, cattle and sheep have been ruined by falls on the icy ground. All over the Quincy, Mass. state mills that are dependent upon water power have been obliged to suspend operations.

Killed by Unknown Men

Manchester, N. H., Feb. 10.-George Pellerin, a weaver, was taken from the sidewalk here at 4.30 o'clock yester day afternoon in a dying condition and five minutes afterwards expired in the office of a physician. Accord ing to the police, three witnesses have reported that Pellerin was assaulted by two unknown men, who fled afte knocking Pellerin down and kicking him as he lay on the sidewalk. N motive can be assigned for the alleged assault, which, so far as can be stand for different stations and indicate the trains stop as follows: persons, and the case presents many elements of mystery.

Thieves' Bold Holdup

Boston, Feb. 10 .- A daring robbery was committed last night in the store of the Canner Furniture Company, at 359 Harrison avenue, and Anthony Fortuna, 23 years old, and Lucontomo Marratto, aged 29, have been arrested charged with the crime. According to the police the two men entered the store and finding that Louis Goldman, a clerk, was alone, they set upon Goldman and beat him until he was unconscious. They then searched his pockets and secured $50.

"Go father?" and tell the servants to send up the negus and sandwiches," she said sharply.

Margery rose heavily. She was a huge girl twenty years of age and little Miss Bull, who loved no one, had taken to her no one knew, but the two were inseparable. Seeing this, madame usually kept Margery hard at work in Madame then retired to her throne and saw that the servants arranged the tray properly. She had a gigantic chair, which was jokingly called her throne, and here she received strangers in quite a majestic way. Mrs. Jersey was not bad looking. She had a fresh colored face, bright black eyes tained a certain comeliness which showed that she must have been a handsome woman in her youth. Her manners were motherly, but she showed a stern face toward Margery and did not treat the girl so kindly as she might have done. As a rule, she had gave way to paroxysms of passion which were really terrifying. But Margery alone had been witness of these, and Mrs. Jersey passed for a dear, gentle old lady. A moment later Train entered, and after him came a tall young man, fair haired and stalwart. He was handsome, but seemed to be ill at ease and pulled his yellow mustache nervously as Train led him to the throne. "This is my friend," said Leonard, presenting him. "He just managed to get here, for the fog is so thick"-Here he was interrupted. "Madame," cried Mrs. Taine, "what is the matter? Mr. Harmer, the water-wine-quick.' There was need of it. Mrs. Jersey had fallen back on the throne with a white face and twitching lips. She appeared as though about to faint, but, restraining herself with a powerful effort, she waved her hand to intimate that she needed nothing. At the same time her eyes were fastened not so much on the face of the stranger as on a piece of yellow holly he wore in his coat. "I am perfectly well," said Mrs. Jersey. "This is only one of my turns.

I am glad to see you, Mr."-"Brendon," said the stranger, who seemed astonished at this reception. "George Brendon," interpolated Train, who was alive with curiosity. "Have you seen him before, madame?" Mrs. Jersey laughed artificially. "Certainly not," she replied calmly, "and yours is not a face I should forget, Mr. Brendon."

She uttered the name with a certain amount of hesitation, as though she was not sure it was the right one. George nodded.

"My name is Brendon," hesaid, rather unnecessarily, and Mrs. Jersey nodded in her most gracious manner. "I bid you welcome, sir. Any friend of Mr. Train's is also my friend. If there is anything to amuse you here?" She waved her hand. "We are simple people-fortune telling, a little music and the company of my guests. Mrs. Taine, Mr. Harmer!" She introduced them, but every now and then her eyes were on the yellow holly. Brendon remarked it

"You will meet with a violent death." Brendon waited beside Mrs. Jersey with a most indifferent air. She was far more anxious to hear the fortune than he was.

"You are in trouble," announced Miss Bull in a sepulchral tone, "and the trouble will grow worse. But in the end all will be well. She will aid you to get free and will bestow her hand on you." "She?" asked Brendon, looking puz-

Train touched his arm. "It is"- he began, but Brendon frowned, and Leonard was quick enough to take the hint. Miss Bull went on telling the fortune. There were the usual dark and fair people, the widow, the journey, the money and all the rest of the general events and happenings which are usually foretold. But there was always trouble, trouble, and again trouble "But you will come out right in the end," said Miss Bull. "Keep a brave heart."

"I am sure Mr. Brendon will do that," said madame graciously. While George bowed to the compli ment Miss Bull again shuffled the cards and fastened her keen black eyes on madame. "Will you have your fortune told?" she asked coldly. "Oh, certainly," said Mrs. Jersey in a most gushing manner; "anything to amuse. But my fortune has been told so often and has never come truenever." And she sighed in an effective manner. Miss Bull continued her mystic counting. She told madame a lot of things about the house which were known to most present. Mrs. Jersey laughed and sneered. Suddenly Miss Bull turned up a black card. "You will meet with a violent death," she said, and every one shuddered.

MISS VINY'S ODD VALENTINE

By OTHO B. SENGA

[Copyright, 1905, by American Press Association.] ISS VINY PERKINS closely scanned the stock of valentines, giving careful perusal to the verses attached. There were the usual rhymes about hearts and darts and love and dove, but none seemed to please her.

"What's the matter, Miss Viny? Can't you find nothin' you like? Shell have some more in termorrer-some with lace paper, all rigged up like a bay winder.

'Well, I'll come in again." And Miss Viny passed lingeringly out of the little country store.

"I don't s'pose any of 'em would say just what I want," she murmured thoughtfully as she went up the lane. "I wish I could make up some po'try myself; then I'd have somethin' that'd hit the mark."

The thought seemed to please her, and she nurried into the house.

"As soon as I git dinner over and Jason starts for the gristmill I'll put my mind on to it. The idea of a full grown man bein' so scart as Silas Simpson! It's time somebody took him in

Well for Miss Viny's peace of mind that she could not know that a similar remark was at that instant being made by Silas Simpson's sister.

"It's time somebody took you in hand, Silas Simpson. Here you've been goin' to see Viny Perkins for nigh on to eleven years. Why don't you spunk up and ask her?"

"Well, Mandy," chattered Silas defensively, "I've been kinder tryin' to lead the conversation up to it"-"Humph!" Mrs. Thompson ejaculat-ed deristvely. "I've been into the store today lookin' at valentines," affirmed Silas, still on the defensive. "Valentines!" uttered his sister, with stinging sarcasm. "You'd better hang yourself for a valentine. 'Twould be the smartest thing you could do."

The sarcasm was lost, but the idea found lodgment in the slow moving

"Yes, and then she'll be taken in," muttered Mrs. Thompson, giving the biscuit dough an extra poke, adding hastily, as if repenting her momentary disloyalty, "However, Silas is a mighty good pervider, if he is slow, and a pleasanter spoken man, take him by and large, never lived."

Mrs. Thompson would have been reluctant to confess that the probably lonely state of Jason Perkins in the event of his sister's marriage had often preyed upon her mind and that as often she had thought of herself as being a likely person to succeed Miss Viny as the mistress of Jason's fine old home and broad acres-airy, fairy castles under which no solid foundation of reality could ever be placed unless Silas could be "braced up" to a proposing

That night an inquisitive moon, rising soft over the hilltops, looked down into the peaceful valley, and the moon was the only one that saw Silas Simpson as he hurried toward the Perkins farm with his sister's big willow clothes basket over his shoulder. The curious moon veered around the big pine tree and watched Silas as he adjusted the ropes that were attached to the handles of the basket over the door knob, arranging for the basket to rest on the upper step.

"A most singular proceeding," commented the watching moon.

But at Silas' next move the moon nearly collapsed, for Silas pinned a paper to his coat sleeve and, doubling his awkward body into the basket, reached up and clanged the big brass knocker. Alone in the bright, warm kitchen, Miss Viny started to her feet.

"A valentine!" she exclaimed. "Well, I'll give 'em a chance to scoot. I don't want to ketch nobody.'

She went slowly through the sitting room into the entry and, pushing back the bolt, essayed to open the door. It was apparently held from the outside. Grasping the knob with both hands. she gave a tremendous pull. The door flew open, bringing the basket with it and emptying its contents in an undignified tangle at Miss Vinv's feet.

"For the land sake!" she cried. "What possesses you, Silas Simpson?" Silas scrambled to his feet and pointed to the paper on his sleeve, which bore in large letters the name, "Miss Viny Perkins.' "I know I'd never git my courage up to offer myself to you in any other way, Viny, and so I thought I'd be your valentine."

"And a pretty mess you've made of it, as usual," said Miss Viny sharply. He raised his head manfully. Something very tender, almost noble, came over the dull features and straightened the awkward body. "I shan't make any blunders in lovin' you and takin' care of you, Viny," he said simply. A strange, new feeling of submission crept into Miss Viny's heart. "You come in here, Silas, and I'll show you what I was just goin' to send you. I made it myself," she added as she handed him an evelope addressed to "Silas Simpson."

He drew out the sheet of paper carefully. A big red heart was pasted at the top, and the lines below were in Miss Viny's cramped but legible handwriting. He read aloud slowly in a high pitched, singsong tone that in his school days had always been reserved for poetry:

No further groans or tears I'll shed, But hurry round as best I'm able To cook his meals and get the table.

"Now, Silas, speak, and I'll say 'Yes." No need of waiting long, I guess. A month from now and I'll be ready To hold your hand before Parson Steady.

"You cut out that heart?" he said hesitatingly, putting a thick forefinger on the scarlet representation. Miss Viny nodded, watching his face

Washington, Feb. 11.-The Republicans of the house of representatives decided in conference that the house statehood provision shall prevail or that no statehood legislation will be enacted by the present congress. The Huansan dispatches both armies are resolution which, it is said, sets forth devoting feverish attention to the this position, and which was adopted by a vote of 112 to 33 after three hours of debate, is as follows:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this conference that the action and policy of the Republican caucus held April 15, 1904, touching the admission of Oklahoma and the Indian Territory as one state and New Mexico and Arizona as one state, as provided in the bill of the house No. 14749, which will has been amended by the senate and is now pending in the house committee on territories, be insisted on, and that volved in sensational litigation with the we insist on such parliamentary pro- Chicago City Railway company, has ceedings as can be had by a majority been found guilty of perjury. The first was a resolution reciting the history of the statehood legislation in the house and reaffirming the caucus action taken at that time. Another was a resolution providing that the statehood bill be made the subject of conference between the two houses. The third was an amendment to this resolution, adding that in such conference the house conferees be instructed to insist on the house provisions of the bill. No vote was taken on any of these propositions.

Speaker Cannon occupied the floor at length on two different occasions. The debate was keyed to a high pitch at all times. The ground was taken by those who favored the house provisions or nothing, that the Republicans of the body would be sacrificing their position taken heretofore to a few Republican senators who had seen fit to unite with the minority of the senate if the bill as amended was accepted.

peated, Though Workmen Are Reported to Be Weaker--Soldiers Shoot Polish Strikers

St. Petersburg, Feb. 11.-St. Petersburg is again face to face with a remediate incitement being the failure of the workmen to secure payment for the time they were out on strike, added to the fact that there has been no adjustment of the demands which led to the strike last month. The Putiloff Iron works, where the former strike originated, is playing the principal role. There are 30,000 workmen already out within the metropolis, and the workmen at the torpedo factory in Kolpine. 18 miles distant, have also joined the strikers. There is a strong prospect of the movement extending.

Errors Made by Jurors in Computation of Items.

FIRST ANNUAL FAIR

The jury in the Superior court at Salem yesterday returned a verdict against the City of Quincy for $8,621.51 in favor of John Shocker & C. in favor of John Sheahan & Co., con-tractors. This was a suit brought egainst the city by John Sheahan & Co. for services rendered the city in constructing what is known as Section No. 3 of the Quincy Sewerage System, which was the sewer beginning at the pumping station and ending at the corner of Woodbine and Hancock streets.

> Mr. Sheahan's claim amounted in all to about $18,080. The case some time ago was referred to an auditor who decided against Mr. Sheahan on all items save about two thousand dollars. Mr. Sheahan did not accept this We have marked these at award, however, and insisted on having a trial before a jury at Salem, which trial has been going on for the last three weeks

Upon the rendering of the verdict, Mr. Blackmur asked that the jury return their finding upon all the items 1387 Hancock Street, submitted, whereupon the foreman of the jury handed to the court a paper containing the figures of the jury showing how they had arrived at their verdict. Mr. Blackmur took the paper, and upon analyzing the same, discovered that the jury had made obvious errors in computation, which made a difference of over $3,000 in the verdict, so that the verdict should have been $5,649.46

The matter was immediately called to the Court's attention, but as the jury had been dismissed, nothing could be done to rectify it.

A motion for a new trial will be filed at once and the court will be asked to 63 Howard Avenue, either set aside the verdict or reduce the same. There were everal items upon which jury made a compromise in favor of the plaintiff, upon which, the defendant claims, under the ruling of the court, there was no evidence whatever to have gone to the jury, and the be argued before the court.

CHAPTER I.

HE did not put the sacramental phrase on her cards, as no invitations were sent out. These were delivered verbally by boarders desirous of seeing their friends present on Friday evening,

It was really a scratch party of nobodies, and they assembled as usual in the drawing room on this especial evening to play and not to work. Mrs. Taine laid aside her eternal knitting: Miss Bull dispensed with her game of "patience;" Mr. Granger sang his one song of the early Victorian epochsometimes twice when singers were scarce-and Mr. Harmer wore his antiquated dress suit. In her black siis gown, her lace cap and "the diamonds" Mrs. Jersey looked-so they assured her-quite the lady.

None of the guests was under fifty, save a newcomer who had arrived the previous week, and they wondered why he came among them. He was young, though plain looking, and he was fashionably dressed; though stout. This was the first time he had been present at madame's reception, and he was explaining his reasons for coming to Any man, woman or child who can give the Bloomsbury. Granger drew himself up and pulled his gray mustache-he was the buck of the establishment-and Harmer nodded, saying, "Well, well!" his usual remark when he did not understand what was going on. Only Mrs. Jersey spoke. Train had taken a sitting room as well as a bedroom, therefore he must be rich, and as he had not haggled over terms it was necessary that he should be flattered. Mrs. Jersev saw a chance of making money out of him.

"How delightful," she said in her motherly manner. "I hope you will say nice things about us. Mr. Train." "I shall tell the truth, madame. The truth does not flatter." Mrs. Jersey became still more motherly and paid a compliment. "That depends, Mr. Train. If the truth were spoken about you, for instance." It was really a very nice compliment, but Miss Bull, with malice aforethought, spoiled it in the utterance by laughing pointedly. Train, who had already set his face for a smile, grew red, and madame darted a look at Miss Bull quite out of keeping with her motherly manner. More than this, she spoke her mind. "I hope, Mr. Train, that you will speak the whole truth of

Miss Bull shrugged her thin shoulders and in direct contradiction to the traditions of the evening produced her pack of cards. To abstain on Friday evenings always annoyed her, and since madame had been rude Miss Bull seized the opportunity to show her indifference and enjoy by doing so her favorite pastime. She was a small, thin, dry old maid, with a pallid face and bright black eyes. Her mouth was hard and smiled treacherously. The Yellow

By FERGUS HUME

Author of "The Mystery of a Hansom Cab," "The Lone Inn," etc.

Fergus Hume has done nothing better than this in his many popular detective stories. The outcome keeps the reader constantly guessing, and a big surprise is the climax of every complication.—Albany Times-Union.

Fergus Hume has written another clever story called "The Yellow Holly." Like all of Mr. Hume's works, there is an entertaining mystery with startling incidents and dramatic denouements. The characters are clear and distinct and the reader's attention is held from first to last.—Clausiand Werls.

The story is cleverly worked out and will fascinate the lover of the sensational.—Buffalo Express.

With the exception of the identification of Hoch by several of his victims or their friends, nothing new developed at the hearing of the coroner's jury, and at the conclusion of the examination of witnesses last night Cor- aster, showing that the officers and oner Hoffman announced that the in- crew displayed splendid bravery in the quest would be postponed until next face of death, special instances of Wednesday.

The principal witness at the exami nation was Mrs. Fischer-Hoch, a sister of the woman over whom the inquest was being held. This witness is the woman Hoch married a few days after the death of Mrs. Walcker-Hoch. In her testimony, the witness explained in minute detail all the circumstances surrounding the death of her sister, but there was nothing in the evidence to prove that Hoch was responsible for the woman's death.

Mrs. Fischer-Hoch told of having spent a night at her sister's house, when the latter was one of Hoch's "I had quarrelled with my sister," she said, "and lay awake until 3 o'clock crying, and heard my sister and Hoch exchanging angry words up stairs. Editors of the Ledger: I wish through your valuable columns to publicly thank the new Commissioner of Public Works for his very prompt action, after complaint being made, of opening up the gutters and stopping the surface water of the public highways from running into the cellars of the houses on Upland road from Dimmock street, Upland road and Saville street, past five years to my knowledge.

I called this morning at City Hall at .30 to see the commissioner and enter my complaint. I expected to catch him napping, but be was there on deck ready for business. I stated my case. Mr. Burke said that he would examine the condition of the streets at once. At 8 o'clock he was on the neglected streets investigating, and before 9 o'clock, less than one and onehalf hours from entering the complaint, On exhibition at C. F. Pettengill's Jewelry the gutters were all open on Upland road and Saville street to the railroad. I did not advocate, work for, or vote for the new administration, nevertheless it does prove to me the new Commissioner of Public Works is a hustler and attends to business.

Our New Story.

Fergus Hume, author of "The Mystery of a Hansom Cab," "The Lone Inn," etc., is so well known to Daily Ledger readers that no commendation of "The Yellow Holly" is needed. The name of the author stands for a good story having the absorbing interest which is particularly desirable in a serial for newspaper publication. However, to assure Ledger readers that the author's hand has lost none of its cunning, we quote the following from the Philadelphia Public Ledger:

"The time spent in reading 'The Yellow Holly,' the lastest story by Fergus Hume, is well worth the while. Mr. Hume has written much that is good, and his 'Mystery of a Hansom Cab' will always be remembered. Mr. Hume proves himself too clever. Who killed Mrs. Jersey is a mystery until the close of the book. The real assas- fant in arms, but my father would not sin has never been suspected by any of part with me. He kept Mrs. Jerseythe characters in the story, much less she was my mother's maid, remember by the reader. CHAPTER II-(Continued.)

"Does she want her daughter to marry that old thing?"

"You don't understand, Leonard. I mean that if I become Lord Derrington when the old man dies Mrs. Ward will consent." Train sat down helplessly and stared.

'I don't understand," he said. "I'll put the thing in a nutshell," explained Brendon. "Lord Derrington is my grandfather."

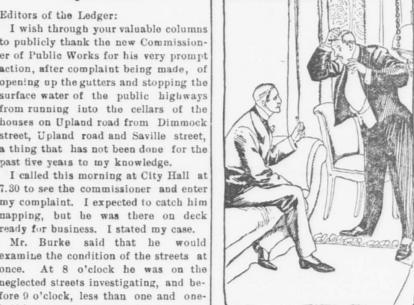

"Your-but he never lived here?" "No. The grandfather who lived here and with whom I stayed was my mother's father. He was called Lockwood. Derrington is my father's father. Now do you understand?" "Not quite! How can you become Lord Derrington when he has a grandson-that young rip Walter Vane?" "Walter Vane is the son of my father's brother, and my father was the elder and the heir to the title."

"Then, if Lord Derrington dies you "Exactly. But the difficulty is that I have to establish my birth."

Leonard jumped up and clutched his hair. "Here's a mystery," he said, staring at his friend. "What does it all mean?" "Sit down and I'll tell you."

Leonard resumed his seat and glanced at the clock. "We have a quarter of an hour," he said, "but I think we'll defy Mrs. Jersey and sit up this night.' "No," said Brendon hastily, "we may as well do what she wants. I wish to conciliate her. She is the only person who can help to prove my mother's marriage." "Humph! I thought there was something queer about her. Who was she?" "My mother's maid! But I had better tell you from the beginning." Train sat down and produced a cigarette. "Go on," he said. "No, wait! I want to know before you begin why Mrs. Jersey was so struck with that yellow holly?"

This time it was Brendon who looked puzzled. "I can't say, Leonard." "Do you think she connected it with some disaster?" asked Train.

"From her looks, when she set eyes on it, I should think so." "Does Miss Ward know Mrs. Jer-

"No. She knows nothing about her." "And it was Miss Ward who gave you the yellow holly?"

"Yes. When I was at afternoon tea." "Then I can't see why Mrs. Jersey should have made such a spectacle of herself," said Leonard, lighting his cigarette. "Tell your story."

"I'll do so as concisely as possible," said Brendon, staring into the fire. "My mother was the daughter of An-Hume especially likes to write tales of thony Lockwood, who was a teacher crime, and in plot. 'The Yellow of singing and lived here. She was Holly' outdoes any of his earlier very beautiful and also became fastories. It is one of those tales that mous as a singer at concerts. The son the average reader of fiction of this of Lord Derrington, Percy Vane, saw sort thinks he knows all about after he her and loved her. He subsequently has read the first few chapters, but Mr. eloped with her. She died in Paris two years later, "bortly after I was born." "And you ame to live here?"

"Not immediately. I was but an ina bit of a scamp. He was, at all events, a gambler and lost all his money at the tables. He became poor and his father, Lord Derrington, refused to help him." I inherit." "He was angry at the marriage, I suppose."

riage? But to make things clear I had better go on as I started. My father went to San Remo, and from that place to prove my legitimacy." he sent me home to my grandfather Lockwood.

"By that time Mrs. Jersey had left. "Who could?" asked Brendon cyniche always insisted that there was a marriage. I grew up here and went to school, afterward to college. My grandfather died, but there was just enough money to finish my education. The house was sold, and by a curious coincidence Mrs. Jersey took it as a boarding establishment. Where she got the money I don't know. But I passed out of her life as a mere infant, and I don't suppose she thought anything more about me. Perhaps she recognized me tonight from my likeness to my father, as she mentioned that she had seen my face before. But I can't say."

"What became of your father?" "That is the tragic part of the story. He was murdered at a masked ball at San Remo. The assassin was never discovered, but he was supposed to be some passionate Italian lover. My grandfather Lockwood was so angry at the way in which his daughter had been treated that he never stood up for my rights. I would not do so either but that I love Miss Ward. Now, it is my intention to see Mrs. Jersey tomorrow and get the truth out of her." "What does she know?" "She knows where the marriage was celebrated and can prove that my birth is legitimate. That is why I came here, Leonard."

"Why did you not speak to her tonight?" "I think it is better she should be in a quieter frame of mind," said Brendon. "She has never seen me since I was a small child, and my name of Brendon is quite unknown to her." "Why do you call yourself Brendon?" asked Train. George began to pace up and down the room.

"Pride made me do that," he declared. "When my father was murdered at San Remo, Lord Derrington denied the marriage and refused to do anything for me. My grandfather Lockwood gave me his own name, and I was called George Lockwood for many a long day. At the age of fifteen Mr. Lockwood died, and then a note came to my guardian saying that Lord Derrington proposed to allow me a small income.

"For what reason?" "I can't say. Perhaps it was re-

Train shook his head. "I have met tartar feels remorse, then there is a chance that pigs may fly."

"That's an elegant illustration, Leonard," observed George, with a smile; "but to continue (as I see it is nearly 11), even as a boy I felt the indignity put upon me. I refused, with the permission of my guardian, the offered sum and continued at school. When I left to go to college I changed my name so that Lord Derrington should not have the chance of insulting me further or of knowing who I was. My guardian suggested Brendon, so, as that was as good a name as another, I took it. Hence Mrs. Jersey can't possibly know me or why I came to see her. She will be wiser in the morning," added Brendon grimly. "Eut she evidently saw in you some likeness to your father."

"Evidently. From all I have heard Mrs. Jersey was in love with my father, even though she was only a lady's maid. But I know very little about her. My business here is to learn." "But why has she kept silent all these years?" Brendon shrugged his shoulders. "She has had no inducement to speak out," he said. "That is why I wish you to lend me £300, Leonard. She will require a bribe." "And a larger one than that, George.

A woman like Mrs. Jersey would not part with such a secret for so small "Oh, I can pay her what she demands when in possession of the estates. But at present she will want to see the color of my money." Train stared into the fire, meditating on this queer story, which was quite a romance. Then he saw an obstacle. "George," he said, "even if you prove that you are the heir, you won't get any money. Lord Derrington is still living."

"Yes, and from all accounts he means to go on living, like the truculent old tyrant he is. But the estates are endies, and of course the title is mine, too, when he is done with it. If Mrs. Jersey learns these facts she will come to terms on a promise of money when

"Then you will speak to her in the morning?

"Yes. She is the only person who can right me. But I mean to be the husband of Dorothy Ward, and my only chance to get round the mother is

"I don't think Miss Ward cares much for her mother."

I had another nurse, and it was she ally. "She is a worthless little canary who took me to this house. My grand- bird. But I tell you, Leonard, that, father was delighted to have me, as frivologs as Mrs. Ward appears to be.

HAD NO TIME TO LOSE Revenue Cutter Lands Mail to

Besieged Nantucket Islanders Nantucket, Mass., Feb. 13.-The 12 days' ice embargo of Nantucket was raised by the revenue cutter Mackinac, which landed passengers, mail and a few sides of beef at Quidnet and took away 14 persons who had been unwilling inhabitants of the island for nearly two weeks.

While the trip of the Mackinac was made speedily and the transfer in quick time, her return was none too soon, for scarcely had she disappeared towards Woods Hole when a southeast storm, which had been threatening all day, broke with great fury, and Nantucket sound was being lashed by a 40-knot gale.

There was great excitement at Quidnet when the mail and newspapers came ashore and there was a wild scramble for the first batch of papers. The transfer was made without the slightest accident. The southeaster began within few hours after the little vessel left for the mainland, but word was received late last night that she gained Woods Hole in safety.

WICKED CLAUDIUS II.

F the 14th day of February were devoted solely to the purpose assigned to it in the church calendar, it would still be a notable day. The fact that it commemorates the martyrdom of so good a man as St. Valentine should serve to distinguish it. The monkish chronicler proceeds in excellent middle age Latin to record the fact that on that very 14th day of February certain most important March 17. wonders happened. One of the prettiest of these legends is that all the birds in the empire began to mate on that day and have continued to choose this particular time all adown the cen-

It must be admitted that the connec tion between this charming bit of feathered sentiment and the spilling of the blood of the sturdy old Roman saint is too subtle to be made apparent, but that does not in any way detract from the beauty of the coincidence, nor does it disprove it. Any one may assure himself of that fact by going out upon the Roman campania on the morning of that day and taking note of manent cures of all humors and all the activity which has come upon the eruptions, relieving weak, tired, bird life of the region.

If this fail to convince him, let him keep his weather eye open as to the St. Valentine day observances of the young men and maidens of this same cam-

Of course there is the counter supposition that the quaint and touching customs peculiar to the day had their other medicine has restored health origin in the heathen feast of the Lupercalia. Those who prefer to draw even their gentlment from purely ortho-

Portland, Or., Feb. 12.-Judge A. H. "No one knows the torture I have endured since Jan. 31 when I made a statement to the grand jury concerning the date of the copartnership agreement between Senator Mitchell and

"The last straw came, however, when I learned that the federal grand jury was preparing to indict my son, who had written the agreement between Senator Mitchell and myself on the typewriter, for perjury, and when I learned that the agents of the government were in possession of facts proving that the document was not signed March 5, 1901, as I had sworn, but that it had been prepared and signed last December." "Do you expect to testify against Senator Mitchell?" was asked.

"Yes, I expect to be called as a wifness in the case against Senator Mitchell and I will tell the whole truth regarding the business of the firm, without regard to consequences."

Among the papers brought by Senator Mitchell's secretary, Harry C. Robertson, from Washington, was a letter from Mitchell to Tanner, dealing with their partnership agreements. The letter was surrendered by Robertson to United States Attorney Hency and appears as one of the exhibits in the case against Mitchell.

The government considers this letter that, as they contend, it shows the line of testimony which Mitchell desired Tanner to give before the grand jury on his second appearance before that body. The letter has three postscripts: "Don't show Harry this letter, or tell him anything in it. Don't let him see our books. Tell him nothing. "Keep important papers in safe, and safe and office carefully locked, as these scoundrels will get in if possible. "Burn this without fail."

Drift of Opinion.

The Lowell Citizens sees, or thinks it sees, an impending conflict between the flying wedge and Governor Douglas with respect to the trade and technical school question. The governor announced himself in his inaugural address to be in favor of such schools, while the influence of the trade organization is generally against them, or at the best is only lukewarm in their favor. The governor is in principle on the right side of the question, though good methods of applying the idea with respect to some of the trades are not yet quite clear. The opposition of the trade unions is one of the singular manifestations of conservatism which appear in places where another attitude would be expected.-New Bedford Standard.

Many young men miss their chances to rise in the world because they are not ready for the next step when the opportunity comes. As long as one is satisfied with just enough knowledge or skill to perform the work in hand, the chances for rising any higher are not very bright. But those who are not content with remaining in statu quo, lose no opportunity to fit themselves for a sphere of larger usefulness. They are looking ahead for advancement and prepare themselves by diligent study and constant practice, and when there is an opening they are ready for it, because they are equal to meet the requirements which the advance step call for. Everybody cannot get the higher positions, but there is no harm in getting ready to fill such when they come your way. If you are not competent cause they are equal to meet the reyour way. If you are not competent, you surely cannot expect to advance, but if you are there's a chance of win-

Too many people keep the flowers they have plucked for you until the day of your funeral. Their songs of praise are not heard until your procession is passing their door. The mantle of charity does not become public property until put in use by the preacher who conducts the 'last sad rites. If a man has flowers for me I want them while I am on earth and can smell their fragrance. They will do me no good sitting at the head of my coffin. The grass that is kept green about my last resting place will be of little avail to me on the other shore. Here is where I need the flowers and the smiles and the praise, not over there. If the fellow who is going to go around to the house after I am gone to see "if he can be of any help" will come around tomorrow I can tell him how he can be of a whole lot of help. There will be plenty of them. It is allthe living and sing your songs of praise at the dinner table. Don't wait for the funeral. -Osborn (O.) Farmer.

Somebody wants a law enacted requiring the trial of divorce libels by juries, but the only argument we have seen in its favor has been that such a trial might be more distasteful to the applicants for the libel than the present hearing before a judge, which is often licity. The argument may be good, but it is hardly enough to warrant a change with all of its attendant upset We have marked these at of practice. Position Taken by President Regarding Treaties

PACTS TO BE WITHDRAWN

enate's Right to Make Amendments is Recognized -- Regards the Action as a Blow to the Cause of Arbitration

Washington, Feb. 14.-President Roosevelt will not present the arbitration treaties as amended by the senate to the countries with which they were negotiated. In reply to numerous inquiries by representatives of the press at the state department, Secretary Hay made, in substance, the following statement:

"The president regards the matter of the general arbitration treaties as concluded by the action of the senate on Saturday. He recognizes the right of the senate to reject a treaty either by a direct vote in that sense, or indirectly by changes which are incompatible with its spirit and purpose. He considers that with the senate amendment the treaties not only cease to be a step forward in the cause of genera arbitration, but are really a step backward, and therefore he is unable to present them in this altered form to the countries with which we have been in negotiation."

Senator Cullom, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, after reading Secretary Hay's comment on the action of the senate in amending the arbitration treaties, said: "The senate's position is right, undoubtedly. If anything is done hereafter, the president will have to take the senate into his confidence. It might require a little more time, but otherwise I can see nothing in the senate's course inharmonious with the president's interpretation of his treaty-making power.'

The arbitration treaties as amended and ratified by the senate on Saturday were sent to the president yesterday. Each was accompanied by the usual resolution setting forth the action taken by the senate. The vote of 50 to 9 in favor of the adoption of an amendment to the treaties does not give the full strength of the senate on the question of insisting upon its prerogatives in treatymaking. There were five pairs re corded, but in each case it was stated by the senator announcing his pair that he believed if his pair were present he would vote for the amendment.

It is stated that the administration is not on the verge of a "break" with the senate over the fate of the arbitration treaties. Mr. Roosevelt has said repeatedly to everyone who has been in his confidence while the treaties were under consideration that no matter what fate the treaties met in that body or how they were amended, he would not allow his own relations with the senators to become strained.

He has all along desired that the treaties should be ratified by the senate in the form they were presented. but in his note to Selator Cullom and his talks with senttors and others he has declared that should a majority of the upper house not agree with him he would consider the incident closed. Those who look for further urgings from the White House or a flare of temper, due to the sharp setback given the president in the vote in the senate, will be disappointed.

No Cause For Uneasiness

London, Feb. 14.-The announcement of President Roosevelt's determination to proceed no further with the arbitration treaties in consequence of the senate's action in substituting the term "treaty" for "agreement" is received with some degree of surprise, but with no evidence of concern in official circles in London. Disappointment is expressed at the foreign office. but officials there say they are confident that a treaty upon which all parties can agree will be signed ultimately. While there is every evidence that officials regret this second failure to secure an arbitration treaty with the United States, the matter is not treated as cause for the slightest uneasiness.

San Domingo Action Warranted Washington, Feb. 14.—As an incident to the issue between the administration and the senate respecting their relative rights in treaty-making, it has been developed that in giving its approval Jan. 11 last to the "treaty of monly known as the Pan-American arbitration treaty, the United States senate has committed itself to the recognitions of its power to delegate to the executive the right to make special arbitration arrangements, and in executive circles it is held that this power is sufficient to warrant its action in the case of San Domingo.

SPIRIT OF LINCOLN

Should Guide Action on the Southern Race Problem

ADDRESS BY PRESIDENT

"All Men Up, Not Some Down," the Only Safe Principal Upon Which Americans Can Act--An Eloquent Profession of Faith In Our People

New York, Feb. 14.-As the guest of honor at the Lincoln dinner of the Republican club in this city last night, President Roosevelt made a speech on the race problem.

He appealed to the north to make its friendship to the south all the greater because of "the embarrassment of conditions for which she is not alone responsible;" declared that the heartiest acknowledgements are due to the ministers, law officers, grand juries, publie men and "great daily newspapers in the south who have recently done such effective work in leading a crusade against lynching," and said that the problem was to "so adjust the relations between two races of different ethic type that the backward race be trained so that it may enter into the possession of true freedom, while the forward race is enabled to preserve unharmed the high civilization wrought out by its forefathers."

The president invited agreement with the position of Bishop Strange of North Carolina on the southern question, saying: "All reflecting men of both races are united in feeling that race purity must be maintained. Some of the points made by the presi-

"The only safe principle upon which Americans can act is 'all men up,' not that of 'some men down.' " "Law-abiding black men should, for the sake of the race, be foremost in relentless and unceasing warfare against lawbreaking black men."

"Lincoln, himself a man of southern birth, did not hesitate to appeal to the sword when he became satisfied that in ro other way could the Union be saved. "The southern race problem de mands the most earnest effort, the broadest charity, of the statesman, the student, the philanthropist and of the leaders in our national life." "I believe in this country with all my heart and soul-that our people will, in the end, rise level to every need will in the end triumph over every difficulty that arises before them."

"For weal or for woe we are knit together; and I believe that we shall go up and not down, that we shall go for ward, instead of halting and falling

President Roosevelt prefaced his *peech by a short extemporaneous introduction in which he said that, albers of his old political club, what he was going to say would be said as an American speaking to good Americans. He then entered upon his set speech but departed frequently from the text. and these departures constituted some of the most interesting features of the

In speaking of the readiness with which people delight to find fault in neighbors, he said: "It is a good thing to remember that, while it is occasionally proper to join in mass meet ings for the purpose of calling attention to neighbors' shortcomings, it is normally better to turn to our own."

In presenting figures showing a decrease in lynchings in the last three months, the president said: "These are striking figures, and I take a certain satisfaction in them in view of some of the gloomy forebodings of last sum-

This was another side remark which caught the president's hearers: "There is not one of us that does not sometimes stumble, and shame be to us if we do not help him up; but if he lies down there is no use in trying to carry him. It will hurt both of us."

As the president left the Hotel Astor there was a slight delay in the arrival of the carriages. Turning to the mounted policemen who were acting as his escort, he thanked them and added: "You look a great deal better than you did in my day."

Paine's Celery Compound Makes Nerve Force

Nerve Force rules the world.

Health-the satisfaction of living,-is the right of every man and woman born into the Health is a question of keeping all the organs of the body working together in fine, smooth, harmony.

The force that rules them all—that makes them work as nature meant and makes them keep in harmony-is Nerve Force.

Without Nerve Force there can be no health at all—no success—no joy in living.

The center of life is in the nerves. The real root of health or sickness is found in the condition of the nerves.

Neglect the nerves and they will make you feel this neglect in many ways, they control all of the organs of the body and must be kept healthy and strong to do their work properly,tired nerves cannot keep the organs of the body working in that harmony which is essential to real health.

This is why Paine's Celery Compound is able to bring health in so many different forms. Paine's Celery Compound feeds and nourishes the nerves. It makes new Nerve Force. It makes pure, rich blood, a clean active liver, a stomach that acts quietly and strongly upon all the food that is given to it, bowels that throw away promptly and surely all the ashes from life's engine room.

It makes the heart beat true and evenly, it makes the brain clear and vigorous. The Nerve Force does this all, and Paine's Celery Compound makes the Nerve Force. Best of all it makes that buoyant life-spirit, the thrill of health, that is the secret of happiness and the keynote of individual success. This is the work of Paine's Celery Compound. It is the most celebrated nerve vitalizer and tonic in the world.

We give the testimony of many individual cases, simply that you may know their experience in their own words.

"I am a man of more than 60 years, and for the past 20 years I was a great sufferer with acute stomach trouble and rheumatism I tried a number of specialists, but their efforts were unavailing and I felt as though life was not worth living, and I had given up all hope of being a well man again. My wife, who also had stomach trouble, at the suggestion of a friend, tried two bottles of Paine's Celery Compound and was fully restored to health. She then encouraged me to try the same medicine; I did so, and now I am a sound and well man, able to work every day. I bless my good wife every day for my good health, as she got me to take Paine's Celery Compound, in my opinion the greatest medicine ever given to the world for nervousness, stomach trouble, rheumatism and kindred ailments. Yours very truly,"-Martin Baldwin, 610 North 10th St., St. Joseph, Mo. Feb. 25, 1904.

Doctors know and value this prescription and make constant use of it in their practice.

Its effect is almost instantaneous—the nourishment and vigor given to the nerve system by Paine's Celery Compound is felt at once. The patient feels this at once and gains confi-lence by it. The Nerve Force begins at once to make each organ of the body do the work that nature expects

Two days' treatment with Paine's Celery Compound will prove its marvelous power. Remember this,-Paine's Celery Compound is the prescription of one of the most famous physicians this country has ever known, Prof. E. E. Phelps, of Dartmouth University, and all reputable druggists sell and recommend it.

MURDER INFERRED

Hearst Replies to Charges Made by Sullivan

SENSATION IN CONGRESS

New York and Massachusetts Representatives Indulge In Personal Vituperation and Are Finally Checked by Speaker

Washington, Feb. 14 .- Not in recent years has the house witnessed such a spectacle as it did yesterday with Mr. Sullivan (Mass.) and W. R. Hearst (N. Y.) as the central figures. Both indulged in personalities of the gravest character and so stirred the house to BOSTON STREET TRAGEDY arouse among certain members a feeling of the greatest indignation.

Mr. Sullivan heaped upon Hearst a tirade of denunciation, while the latter, by implication, charged Sullivan with complicity in a murder.

The affair grew out of the recent discussion of the freight rate discussion York American and Journal.

NICHOLAS II., CZAR OF ALL THE VALENTINE'S POETS

By GEORGE H. DONALD

T. VALENTINE'S day, the duly appointed and scrupulously observed festival of tender sentimentality, has from time im-Baltic to the Black sea, the church memorial been the greatest day in the bells rang merrily in token of the joy calendar for the poets, both major and land the exchanging of the species of the subjects of the "little father" minor. The prosaic world may decline of love token known as valentine that an heir to the throne had been to become enthusiastic over the sources among the younger portion of the colof inspiration from which many of ony became so prevalent that one of these amatory verses sprang-perhaps, the governors imposed a fine of 5 shilit is well that this should be so-but there is no hesitation in regard to the explanation whatever, love was the poet's bravest theme. Much of the dainty vers de societe of the post-Elizabethan periods appeared originally in valentine form. With all their superfluity of "my lady's eyes" and "my leman's tresses," they are beautifully conceived and altogether charming.

Many of the most interesting old valentines began with a definition of love. It was evidently a favorite diversion of the amatory poets to answer the question, "What is love?" Perhaps the master of them all set the fashion in that matchless bit from "The Merchant of Venice:"

Tell me, where is fancy bred-Or in the heart or in the head? How begot, how nourished? Reply, reply!

It is engendered in the eyes; With gazing fed, and fancy dies In the cradle where it lies. Let us all ring fancy's knell.
I'll begin it— Ding, dong, bell! Ding, dong, bell!

And again in that perfect love song, entitled "O Mistress Mine:" What is love? 'Tis not hereafter

Present mirth hath present laughter.
What's to come is still unsure.
In delay there lies no plenty. Then come kiss me, Sweet-and-twenty; Youth's a stuff will not endure.

During the days of the restoration amatory verse flourished valiantly and valentines were in great request. Robert Herrick, who had been ejected from his humble rural parish by the long parliament, went up to the metropolis and wrote penny valentines for the bookstalls. After the return of the exiled Stuart these love songs beof the Grand Duke of Hesse and a young clergyman found himself famous. Herrick was an adept in the construction of sentimental verse. It be the fact they are more than condelicious confection so often made the

Go, happy rose, and, interwove With other flowers, bind my love! Tell her too, she must not be That so oft hath fettered me Say, if she's fretful, I have bands Of pearl and gold to bind her hands. Tell her, if she struggle still, I have myrtle rods at will For to tame, though not to kill.

Take, then, my blessing thus and go And tell her this-but do not so Lest a handsome anger fly Like a lightning from her eye

And burn thee up, as well as I. It was about this time that Nicholas Breton endeavored to overcome the disdain of his fair Phyllis by dispatch-Ing a valentine a single verse of which has served a like purpose a hundred times:

Who would not that face admire? Who would not this saint adore?

Who would not this sight desire Though he thought to see no more? Quaint William Browne was a metrical sixteenth century dabster of no uncertain skill. He was also addicted to the valentine writing habit of the day, and his present fame rests almost solely upon the oft quoted gem beginning:

Shall I tell you whom I love? Hearken, then, awhile to me, And, if such a woman move As I now shall versifie, Be assured 'tis she or none That I love and love alone.

Thomas Carew was a cavalier and accomplished gentleman at the court of the first Charles Stuart. He was noted for his gallantries, and he must have been the champion lady killer of his day. His valentines were especially fetching, and, strangest of all; modern critics find them most artistic in construction and sentiment. One of them, which must have touched the heart of the disdainful court beauty who received it, began thus:

Give me more love or more disdain. The torrid or the frozen zone Brings equal ease unto my pain; The temperate affords me none Either extreme, of love or hate,

Is sweeter than a calm estate. But the most accomplished writer of dilettante court fop, Sir John Suckling. guishing cavalier. In spite of his personal affectation Suckling's poetry is entirely free from artificiality, and his A. D., 1995, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause if any content of the score. Nevsky prospect, and was built in 1745, guishing cavalier. In spite of his perimens of versification, albeit they are expressed in the rather flamboyant phraseology of the time. Almost equal to the incomparable "Why So Pale and Wan, Fond Lover?" is his poem, once the burden of a valentine, beginning: the burden of a valentine, beginning:

I prithee send me back my heart Since I cannot have thine, or if from yours you will not part,
Why, then, shouldst thou have mine? Feb. 14.

The charming quatrain called "The White Rose," ascribed to the joint authorship of William Congreve and William Somerville and purporting to have been sent as a valentine by a Yorkish lover to his Lancastrian mistress, is one of the most perfect poems in any language. To a single white rose was

If this fair rose offend thy sight, Placed in thy bosom bare,
'Twill blush to find itself less white
And turn Lancastrian there.

But if thy ruby lip it spy, As kiss it thou must deign, With envy pale 'twill lose its dye And Yorkish turn again.

lings on any person who might be found guilty of the "Babylonish practice." An ancient Salem record bears witness to the fact that one Abiel Jordan was convicted of the indiscretion and sent to jail for declining to pay his fine. Unkindest of all, a copy of the offending poesy, which was dedicated to a certain Mistress Dorothy Darew, was attached to the court record. Abiel wrote:

The birds quit singing as she passeth by, The roses blush a deeper hue, The squirrels cease their merry revelry At sight of Dorothy Carew.

Miss Bull governs her. I don't want to lose no good situation through bad manners. Here's madame's tea. Take it to her sitting room. She's sure to be up and waiting."

Jarvey went grumbling up the stairs. Mrs. Jersey was an early riser and usually had a cup of tea in her sitting room at 7 o'clock. After this refresher she gave audience to the cook, looked over her tradesmen's books and complained generally that the servants were not doing their auty. Madame was not at her best in the morning, and Jarvey went up most unwillingly. When the boy went the servants continued chatting and eating. It was just on 7, and they were reluctantly rising to begin their duties when a crash was heard and then a clatter of boots. "There," cried the cook, "that brat's self and kept the key. It could not be been and smashed the tray. Won't madame give it to him? Mercy, mercy"-her voice leaped an octave -"he's mad!"

This was because Jarvey, with his hair on end and his face perfectly white, tore into the kitchen. 'He raced round and round the table, his eyes as usual and then have gone to put huddled together in fear, and the cook going upstairs." seized the toasting fork. There was an unusually large number present Tuesday evening at the monthly meeting of the Wollaston presided and the meeting opened with speakers of the evening were Assistant Mocha Coffee . . . U. S. District Attorney Lewis and Mayor Newton of Everett.

Mr. Lewis was down to speak on "Citizenship." He was introduced with a few preliminary remarks of a joking nature. In replying Mr. Lewis occupied the first few minutes of his time by speaking in a humorous vein, in which he good naturedly rubbed it into the presiding officer.

Mr. Lewis' theme or lesson was drawn from the recent Tucker trial. He spoke of how the verdict had been characterized by different persons in the press. It seemed to him that criticisms of this kind represented a dangerous tendency among the people. A tendency, if not Opposite Fore River Works checked, which may lead to serious if not direful consequences, not different from another part of our country that takes men and lynches them without a

It needs the consideration of men of thought. He could not suggest how to reach its solution, but one solution depends upon the active participation of citizens in municipal affairs.

We are too willing to sit by the fireside than to attend the store. primaries and nominate men to conduct Admission: the affairs, and then to criticise. The grave problems that confront us can not be met except by men capable to bandle affairs. In some municipalities almost twothirds of the tax is for municipal indebtedness and support of schools. This shows that you are borrowing of the future to meet the demands of the present. We are piling up a tremendous problem for the future. It is a question if we can meet it. If we demand these improvements we must pay for them. It is not the fault of any one administration that your tax rate is high. Yet you judge an administration by its tax rate rather than by their acts. We all should bear equally the burdens. These problems have got to be met in a different spirit than we have Particular attention to difficult piano moving, met them in recent years. They must be met by men who are willing to spend a part of their time in looking for the wellfare of the government. He spoke of the efforts that had been made by the Legislature for an equalizing of the tax, which makes it easy for Brookline to pay over $50 per pupil for education where other communities find it very difficult to pay $25 to $30.

We have got to meet that problem some day by a better and fairer system of taxation than today. They are to be met in a spirit to get at a just equalization rather than to avoid our personal obligation. Representative women were present from all parts of the city. The meeting was called to talk over the needs of a club with perhaps an idea of forming by another season.

Miss Elizabeth Johnson presided and Clothing Torn from Robert McLean for a club in Quincy. The reason why it was now brought forward was because of a letter received from Dr. Jeffrey R. Brackett, who wished to give his Quincy home on Goffe street morning. He was at work about a or philanthropic society and it was thought a woman's club might embody Dr. Brackett's idea. One of the most prominent features of the proposed Woman's Club is the idea that it will do much to unite all wards of the city. This is something devoutly to be desired, and its success will mean much for Quincy. The ladies seem to be very enthusiastic over the organization of such a club.

Physical Director Bugbee of the Y. M. C. A. had considerable courage to appounce an exhibition so soon after the opening of the new gymnasium, but he knew what the boys had been doing and the program which they presented was a surprise to the friends in attendance. And he promises something much better in the near future. The gymnasium certainly, is becoming very popular, and so is Mr. Bugbee.

Unity circle of King's Daughters is another organization of which Quincy should be proud. As the pastor of Bethany church remarked at the annual meeting, it is the best distributor of charity in the city. Unity circle has the distinction of being the largest circle of King's Daughters in Massachusetts, and the largest but one in the country. From the report today a little idea of some of the work being done may be obtained.

Drift of Opinion.

The bribery of jurors has raised the inquiry how does it happen that men who are susceptible to such influences get on the panel? One reason is the unwillingness of business and professional men to serve as jurors. Another is the length of time the jurors are obliged to be in service. Another reason is the habit of lawyers challengare men of judgment. There is need of Large Naval Oranges, ing men off the panel who they think shaking up in this direction, and the District Attorney should not stay his California Prones, hand until a reform is effected.-Lyn Item.

RIGHTS OF SENATE

Have Generally Been Observed In Making of Treaties

STATEMENT FROM LODGE

But One Treaty Out of Forty-Four Has Been Rejected-Some Powers Would Not Exchange Ratifications on Basis of Senate Amendments

Washington, Feb. 15.-Senator H. C. Lodge presented to the senate in executive session a list of all the general and particular arbitration treaties or arbitration articles in treaties containing other provisions, that have been submitted to the senate. The senator has compiled also a statement showing the constitutional methods of making and ratifying treaties in certain foreign countries.

The disposition of each arbitration treaty is given by the statement. It shows that 44 were submitted, of which Quincy, Dec. 19, 1904. 43 were ratified, and one, the Olney-Pauncefote treaty with Great Britain was rejected. Of the treaties ratified, 37 were not, and six were amended. Seven arbitration agreements have been entered into without being submitted to the senate. They all provided for the settlement of private claims.

The compilation of the laws covering ratification of arbitration agreements of all the countries with whom the United States has negotiated such treaties shows that in every instance the executive must secure the approval of at least one, and, in most instances, both parliamentary bodies, except in the case of Switzerland, where the parliamentary body is supreme in treaty making, the executive having none of the power, and of Great Britain, where the king must secure the approval of the ministry, virtually a committee of parliament, and analogous with the foreign relations committee of the senate of the United States.

The announcement is made by Lodge that he will not make any statement in answer to the letter of the president, which charged that the ratification of the arbitration treaties with the amendment adopted was a step backward. and not a step forward. "So far as I know, no one is going to make a statement on that subject," said the senator.

Secretary Hay has not yet com municated to the representatives of the powers here, with whom he had negotiated arbitration treaties, the action of 5 cfs. each the senate Saturday in amending those the senate Saturday in amending those conventions, and it is probable that he will not do so, permitting them to take notice for themselves of what has occurred, which they have done. The conventions are now in the custody of Librarian Allen of the state department, and unless he receives other orders from Secretary Hay they will be ders from Secretary Hay, they will e-121 lb main in the files of the department and will not receive further diplomatic > powers are unwilling to accept the amendment to the treaties made by the senate, and this is particularly (1) senate, and this is particularly the case with some who, holding that the amendments have devitalized the conventions, are willing to conclude them from sentimental considerations and merely sentimental considerations, and merely as fresh evidences of the strength of the growing feeling that international disputes should be settled by arbitra-

There are other powers, however, who positively decline to accept the senate amendment and to exchange ratifications on that basis. The principal basis of their objection to proceeding further with the treaties is found in the argument that the conventions would be entirely one-sided. It is pointed out in administration circles, in evidence of the allegation that the president has sought to establish no precedent in treaty making, that under The Hague treaty, to which the senate gave its approval, the executive has power to make special arrangements for arbitration.

The French word "compromise" used In The Hague convention is said by departmental experts to be equivalent, not to the English word "compromise," but rather to the term "agreement," and the executive branch of the government has proceeded heretofore, and without objection, upon this understanding.

Negotiations for further treaties have now been completely suspended, and the Japanese treaty, signed Saturday morning, will be the last of the

CORRECT PIANO TUNING AND GIANT PUMPING ENGINE Has a Capacity of Seventy-Two Million Gallons a Day Boston, Feb. 15 .- Boston now has in operation at the Calf Pasture p"mping station the largest pumping engine in the world. Before a number of city officials, newspaper men and a few invited guests, Superintendent of Streets Donovan opened the valve which set this powerful piece of machinery in operation. Almost simultaneously the massive engine was whirling around at the rate of 17 revolutions a minute, 3000 gallons being raised at one revolu tion, its total capacity being 72,000,000 623.80, of which $2,484.77 was refunded.

gallons every 24 hours. The engine arrived in this city in September, 1903, but it is so massive in size that it has taken more than 15 months' work to get it erected in such | Fire Department. position as warranted it being started. Its finished weight is about 1,700,000 pounds, and its approximate cost, including foundations, force mains, plans and inspection, piping and wiring, was about $342,000.

This giant pumping engine has one triple expansion beam fly-wheel engine which operates two single-acting pumps. The sizes of the cylinders are 1812, 33 and 52 3-4 in diameter, and have a 120-inch stroke. The diameter of the fly-wheel is 36 feet, with 15-inch face of rim: weight about 55 tons, which is made in 12 sections. The total height of pump and engine is about 70 feet

Sullivan Admits That He Was Convicted of Manslaughter

Had Aided Father When Assaulted by Drunken Man--Father Was Imprisoned, but Pardoned Later

Washington, Feb. 15.-The second chapter of the episode between Mr. Sullivan (Mass.) and Mr. Hearst (N. Y.) occurred in the house when Sullivan again took the floor on a question of privilege and related the circumstances leading up to the indictment and conviction of his father and himself for manslaughter.

In decided contrast with the remarks of Monday, when the two men heaped upon each other epithets and charges of a serious nature, Sullivan's statement was devoid of any further attack on his colleague, and was a straight recitation of the occurrences referred to by Hearst on Monday. Mr. Sullivan said: "It is true that on Nov. 19, 1885, my father, Eugene J. Sullivan, and myseif were convicted of manslaughter in the superior court of Middlesex county. The case arose in this manner: My father was the sole proprietor of a licensed hotel known as the Central house in Cambridge. An intoxicated man, who was not a guest and had not entered the hotel that day, came in the door and my father seeing him, shut the door against him. Thereupon the man went around to the back door and broke a window. My father went out upon the street, took the man by the collar and demanded that he pay for the damage he had done. The man responded by striking him, and a fight en-

"It is a fact that no weapons of any kind were used by either side. I came upon the scene at the time when my father was being overpowered by this man and took the part of my father in the struggle. The jury found that the man was knocked down by a blow from my father's fist and struck his head against the curbstone and became unconscious. There was testimony in the trial of the case that he never recovered consciousness and died some two days after the assault.

"At the conclusion of the trial my father was sentenced to three years in the house of correction. The district attorney, on his own motion, stated to attorney, on his own motion, stated to the court that he would ask no sentence against me as I was then but 17 years eld, and without any moral guilt; that I was held solely because I was partly concerned in the assault, and only technically guilty. Accordingly, the court placed my case on file. I was not fined one cent nor imprisoned one minute.

"After 18 months of my father's term had been served, the governor's council of Massachusetts pardoned him, and their action was due to the fact that two witnesses who did not appear at the trial in the court came before the governor's council and one testified that he had gone with the deceased the next day to a hotel in Boston, where he obtained liquor, and that the deceased came back with him that night intoxicated. The other witness testified that during the night the deceased got up in his house and while proceeding toward the yard which adding the premises fell down a flight joins the premises, fell down a flight of stairs; was then picked up unconscious, brought to his bed and remained there without regaining conciousness until he died.

"This raised a doubt in the minds of sciousness until he died. the governor's council as to whether the fall upon the curbstone had caused the man's death or the fall down the the man's death or the fall down the stairs, most of them inclining to the view that it was the fall down the stairs which produced the fracture of the skull that resulted in unconsciousness from which he never recovered against me is that I was technically guilty of this offense, for even the district afterney admitted the control of the stormer admitted the control of the trict attorney admitted that I was not morally guilty; and I am constrained to say that if my deceased father were now alive and he were to be attacked it my presence I would come again to his defense. The facts in this case were fully published in all the newspapers of the city of Boston at the time.

"All these facts were before my conatituents when I was elected to the renate of Massachusetts in 1900 and 1901, and to the congress of the United States in 1902 and 1904. And it was not until 20 years after the alleged offense that any individual was found who felt that it was necessary or proper to allude to the circumstances of the case."

Mr. Sullivan's statement was listened to with marked attention and at its conclusion he was warmly applauded, many members leaving their seats and shaking his hand. Mr. Hearst was not present during the time he spoke.

The remainder of the day was deroted to consideration of the naval appropriation bill. Mr. Littlefield (Me.) speaking at length regarding the necestity for keeping appropriations within the limits of the revenues of the coun-

It was almost impossible to hear the concluding paragraphs of the president's speech at the dinner because of the activities of the secret service men. They swarmed around the main table and with a wedge formation took the president through the narrow hallway and up the stairs to the reception room, where his coat and hat had been left. Then a police sergeant in uniform, with half a dozen patrolmen, were sent to keep the stairs clear. Ten minutes later the president and his escort

They were stationed on the roofs and fire escapes and in the rellars in the neighborhood and for two blocks on either side of East Houston street a cordon of police cut off the crowds. The ordinary police cards permitting entry into fire lines and similar places were suspended and no one without an invitation to the dinner or a specially issued police card was pernritted to pass the tautly drawn line of patrolmen. When the president left the banquet room he was heartily cheered by peop!; in the windows and doors of tenements nearby. Mr. Roosevelt waved carriage and started for the ferry.

British Legislative Program May Hold Government Together London, Feb. 15.-The first day's proceedings in parliament left rather a decided impression in the lobbies that the government will manage to hold out till the end of the session. The government's legislative program, which is devoted in the main to social reforms, will be fairly popular, while the avoidance of difficult questions, like that of the redistribution of seats and Premier Balfour's firmness in thrusting aside the fiscal problem, all will tend in the same direction. On the other hand, the Liberals appear to be as distant as ever from any approach to unanimity on the vexed question of the leadership. Messrs. Campbell-Bannerman, Spencer, Asquith and Fowler all are spoken of as possible leaders of the next Liberal ministry, to say nothing of Lord Rosebery's even superior claim to that position, should he be inclined to exert his undoubted influence.

Everything will depend upon Balfour's success in holding his followers together and overcoming the apathy born of the knowledge that the whole country is looking for and expecting a

How Muscovite Children Are Taught to Revere Their Ruler.

THE CZAR GOD'S VICEGERENT.

Rebellion Against the Emperor Is Rebellion Against God and Will Be Eternally Punished, According to the Russian Creed-Service to the Czar Considered Absolutely Obli-

The Rev. J. Stewart Smith, pastor of St. Mary's Episcopal church in Kansas City, Mo., has a copy of the catechism taught in all the schools of Russia and Poland, and after reading what the czar's subjects learn as children their temerity in rebelling against Nicholas may be the better understood, says the Kansas City Times. According to this creed, not only are they resisting the head of the Russian government, but they are taking up arms against the representative of God on earth, for which they shall suffer dire and eternal punishment.

Father Smith secured the copy of the catechism from a Polish priest who had escaped from Siberia, and Father Smith was enjoined to the strictest secrecy as to the source of his information, the priest fearing the vengeance of the Russian government upon his relatives in Poland.

The first question in the catechism asks in what light the authority of the czar is to be considered with reference to the spirit of Christianity. The answer is as follows:

As proceeding direct from God. The second question and answer. which bear upon the first, are:

things? It is the will of God that men live in society; hence the various relations that constitute society, which for its better security is divided into parts called nations. The government of these is intrusted to a prince, king or emperor, or, in other words, to a supreme ruler. We see, then, that as man exists in conformity to the will of God society emanates from the divine will, and more especially the supreme power and authority of our lord

A hooded reflector makes it possible to sit comfortably in the boat and witness the curious things in the water below with great ease, and pictures may be taken also by means of a mirror. The furniture of the room was not in disorder; the red tablecloth was not even ruffled. The murder had been committed without haste or noise, as Quex pointed out to Miss Bull. "Whosoever murdered her must have been a friend," said he. "It doesn't seem a friendly act to kill a defenseless woman," said Miss Bull, looking coldly on the limp figure.

"You don't quite understand. What I mean is that Mrs. Jersey knew the Miss Bull shook her head. "I don't agree with you," she observed, and that." Quex was astonished that she should dare to contradict. "She was struck are to be found in the natural shades from behind before she had time to turn her head."

"Quite so. But the assassin must have entered the room, and unless the

"Then that makes it all the more certain. Had any one unexpected entered brim is softened with a rouleau of she would have been on the alert; there would have been a struggle. Now, we see that the furniture is not disturbed; therefore we can argue from this that Mrs. Jersey was in friendly conversa tion with the assassin. She was seated at the table and the assassin was at her back, which shows a certain amount of trust. In fact, Miss Bull, the person who committed this murder was the last person Mrs. Jersey expected to hurt her in any way.'

"I understand. But I don't fancy that madame had any friends. She was a woman who kept very much to her

"Do you know anything of her past?" "Absolutely nothing. She took this house some fourteen or fifteen years ago, I believe. I have been here ten and was very comfortable, save that madame and I disagreed on many points. She was always rude to me, and I don't think she was a lady." Miss Bull drew herself up. "My father was a general," she declared proudly.

But Quex was too busy examining the room to attend to Miss Bull's family history. He searched for the weapon with which the crime had been committed, but could find none. There was no blood on the furniture, although some had trickled down from the wound on to the tablecloth. The blow must have been struck strongly and surely and with the power of a deadly hatred. It was at this moment that the doctor arrived, and, turning the body over to him, Quex conducted Miss Bull back to the drawing room, where he examined all who were in

The first witness examined was Margery, and she refused to open her mouth unless she sat by Miss Bull. The old maid held Margery's hand and coaxed her into answering when she proved recalcitrant. Quex could not but admire the way in which Miss Bull managed the lumpish creature.

"You left the drawing room with this lady?" he asked, indicating Miss Bull and speaking in a persuasive tone. "Yes. We played 'patience' in Miss Bull's bedroom."

"At what time did you leave?" "About 11-just before it."

"Did the clock strike the hour when you were in your own bedroom?" "No," said Margery, trying to collect her wits, "when I was in the passage." "What were you doing in the passage? It would only take you a few minutes to get to your room, would it

"Yes," put in Miss Bull. "My bed room is on the second floor, and Margery's is on the fourth, right above my head. You could easily have got to your room before the clock struck, Margery."

"I did try to," admitted the girl, "but my aunt kept me talking." Quex sat up. "Did you speak to While Quex was thus examining the witnesses Train and Brendon were seated in the sitting room of the former discussing the crime. Brendon was gloomy, for in the unexpected death of Mrs. Jersey he saw the downfall of his hopes of proving his legitimacy. "There's no chance of my marrying Dorothy now," he said, with a sigh. "I'll remain plain George Brendon to the end of my days, and a bachelor at

"It's awful!" gasped Leonard, who was white and haggard. "I never expected that my search for types would lead me into the neighborhood of a tragedy. Who could have killed her? "I can't say."

"I wonder if her death has anything to do with your affairs?'

Brendon looked up suddenly and with a stern, flushed face. "Train," he said sharply, "whatever you do, say nothing about what I told you last night." "Yes. But what you told me might lead to the discovery of the assassin. "I don't care if it does," said Brendon angrily and rising to his feet to emphasize his determination; "you are to keep my confidence." "Oh, I shan't say anything. But do you think"-"I think nothing. But I am sure that my affairs have nothing to do with this death. I came to see Mrs. Jersey, and this morning I should have had the truth out of her. But she is dead, and so all my projects go to the four winds. But I don't want them spoken of." "You can depend upon me," said Leonard, dominated by the strong will of his friend. "But who could have"-"I tell you I don't know," cried George restlessly. "How you do harp

"What story will you tell?" "Any story but the one I told you," retorted Brendon. "Well," said Leonard, after a pause, "vou can rely upon me. I shall not say anything to get you into trouble.' Brendon laughed, but not pleasantly

"My good fellow. I have done nothing wrong. Even if my tale were told I could not be accused of having to do anything with this murder." "Oh. I didn't mean that for one mo ment," protested Train uneasily.

"I know you didn't. Nevertheless i this police inspector knew what I told you he might get it into his stupid head that-well"-Brendon broke off abrupt ly-"I don't know what he mightn't think. However, I shall answer his questions as to my visit here and then go away."

"I'll go also," said Train, with a shudder. "I can't stop here after what has occurred. It's terrible. To think of > that poor woman murdered! How meky I locked my door last night!"

Brendon stopped in his walk and looked sharply at the young man. "Why did you lock your door?" he asked, surprised. "Well, you see, after Mrs. Jersey came into the sitting room I didn't like to think of her prowling about. One is so helpless when one is asleep," and Train shuddered.

"Did you expect her to murder you? asked Brendon derisively. "I didn't expect anything," retorted Leonard, rather nettled. "But I didn't want her to come into my rooms, so l got out of bed and locked the sitting room door.' "Not your bedroom door?"

"But the less we have to do with this unpleasant matter the better. I suppose we, in common with every one else here, will be called to give evidence at the in quest. Once that is done and Mrs

Jersey is safely buried I wash my hands of the whole affair.' Train shuddered. "So do I," said he "I am the last man in the world to wish to pursue the subject. But who can be guilty? It must be some one in the house!"

"I suppose so," replied Brendon, "un less Mrs. Jersey had a visitor las night." "She might have had," said Leonard

"When I locked the sitting room door, and that was about half past 11, 1 think, I heard the closing of the from "The deuce you did!" "Yes. I put my head out and listened to see if all was quiet. I distinctly heard the front door close." "She must have had a visitor," said Brendon thoughtfully. "Yet as and alone could have let that visitor out and as she must have been alive to do so, the visitor cannot be the as sassin." "The visitor and then have closed the door himself." "Himself? How do you know the visitor was a man? It might have been a woman. Besides, Miss Bull told me that the door was locked as usual, and that she took the key this morning to open it from Mrs. Jersey's pocket. No, Train, the person who killed Mrs. Jersey is in the house. But were

I you I should say as little as possible to the inspector about this." Leonard took this advice and when juestioned simply stated that he had retired to bed at 11 and had heard nothing. Brendon made a similar statement, and Quex saw no reason to doubt their evidence. He questioned all the boarders and all the servants, but could learn nothing likely to throw any light on the darkness which concealed the crime. No one had heard a noise in the night. no one had heard a scream, and it was conclusively proved that every one in the house was in bed by 11 o'clock, the majority, indeed, before that hour. Margery, who saw madame at the striking of that hour, was the last person to see her alive. Mrs. Jersey went to her own sitting room and there had been struck down.

"It was about 12 o'clock that she was stabbed," said the doctor after he had made his examination, "but I can go only by the condition of the body. I should say a little before or after 12. She was stabbed in the neck with a sharp instrument."

"With a knife?" said the inspector. "No," rejoined the doctor decisively, "it was with a dagger-by a kind of stiletto. It was not by an ordinary knife that the wound was inflicted.'

EVEN CITIES AFFECTED

Barre's Fire Department Useless Because of Frozen Mains-erywhere by Cold Weather

Burlington, Vt., Feb. 16 .- The distress occasioned by the water famine in Vermont is daily growing more acute. Not for more than 40 days has the temperature risen above the freezing mark, and the exceptionally light anowfall has not furnished a blanket of sufficient thickness to prevent the frost penetrating the ground to an unusual depth. Reports received here from all portions of the state indicate an unpleasant state of affairs. At first the farmers and other dwellers in the rura districts were the ones to be affected as the freezing of springs and small streams made it difficult for them to get a water supply for their live stock to may nothing of the difficulty in obtaining a supply for domestic uses.

The larger towns and cities are now feeling the effects of the prolonged pe riod of cold weather. Water mains have been frozen all over the state, and the only supply of water has been materially decreased.

At Barre many water mains have been frozen solid. The fire department officials decided that, owing to the condition of the city's water system, the fire department apparatus would be useless in case of fire, inasmuch as nearly all the hydrants are choked with ice. Accordingly, orders were issued for the members of the department to patrol the streets day and night and attempt to put out any incipient fire with hand extinguishers.

Although there is a bountiful supply of water at St. Albans, some of the mains have frozen and two of then burst. The same conditions prevail at Stowe, where many of the mains have been rendered useless temporarily Reports from Bristol say that whole streets are without water owing to freezing mains. A serious condition of affairs is re ported at Randolph, where, in addition to the mains freezing, the supply of water is so low as to cause alarm. A train on the Central Vermont railroad was unable to obtain any water at Randolph and, in order to make the trip

LEW WALLACE DEAD

Famous Soldier-Author Succumbs to Long Sickness

MAN OF GREAT VITALITY

Perfectly Calm When Told He Was Dying and Declared Himself Ready to Meet His Maker -- Long and Honorable Career

Crawfordsville, Ind., Feb. 16.-After several months of painful sickness, General Lew Wallace, the world-renowned author-soldier, died at his home here last night.

The health of General Wallace had been waning for several years and for months it has been generally known that his vigorous constitution could not much longer withstand the ravages of a wasting disease.

For more than a year he had been unable to properly assimilate food, and this, together with his extreme age, made more difficult his fight against death. At no time has he ever con fessed his belief that the end was near, and his rugged constitution and remarkable vitality have been responsible for prolonging his life. Besides his physician, only Mrs. Wallace, his son, Henry Wallace, and his son's wife were present. When told by his physician he was dying, General Wallace was perfectly calm and his last words were expressions of cheet to his family. Bidding them farewell, he said: "I am ready to meet my Maker," and lapsed into unconsciousness. General Wallace was born in Brockville, Ind., on April 10, 1827. His education consisted of nothing more than a high school training.

But what he lacked in schooling he made up in knowledge of the world gained at first hand in the service of the United States government, which he represented at several foreign diplomatic posts.

As a comparatively young man Lew Wallace served a term as state senator, and almost immediately after the ou break of the Civil war he received his appointment as adjutant general of the state of Indiana. Giving up politics for the soldier's career, he served to the credit of his state and country. In 1861 he was commissioned a brigadier gen eral and again in the following year he received promotion to the position of major general. The latter was for conspicuous bravery and galiantry on the field of battle at the capture of Fort Donelson, Tenn. After the close of the war General Wallace was sent to Paraguay as United States minister, and returned to this country in 1878 to become governor of the territory of New Mexico. In 1882 he was appointed minister to Turkey, which position he held until 1885, when he retired from active life General Wallace is famous, if for no other reason, because he wrote "Ben the meeting adjourned a dainty colle-Hur." His other works of fiction are tion was served. "The Fair God" and "A Prince of Jeru-

CZAR HESITATES

May Not Commit Himself to the Zemsky Sobor

HAS STRONG OPPOSITION

Court Party Fears That Reviva: of Ancient Legislature Might Result In the Overthrow of the Romanoft Dynasty

St. Petersburg, Feb. 16.-In spite of Czar Nicholas' personal inclination in favor of the zemsky sobor as intimated to Count Leo Deonovitch Tolstoi, the imperial decision to summon this parliament has not yet been taken. The emperor is carefully weighing arguments for and against the plan before committing himself to this course. This statement is made upon the authority of perhaps the most liberal of the emperor's ministers, who last evening stated that the question remains under consideration at Tsarskoe-Selo.

"I myself have frankly urged upon his majesty," the minister said, "the view that the time has come when the people should no longer be denied a voice in the government, and the same counsel has been given by many others who, like me, believe that the moderate liberal element, which has been drifting away, can thus be rallied to the support of the government. His majesty received our views sympathetically and I believe is personally inclined to adopt the course we suggest. He now is carefully deliberating upon the sub-

"It is no secret, however, that powerful influences about his majesty are pressing the contrary view and advancing strong arguments which cannot lightly be thrust aside, even if the decision is finally favorable. Precipitation is impossible, although the people, who are laboring under the stress of excitement, seem to forget that for such a sweeping innovation time is necessary to formulate and elaborate the scheme for the electorate, composition and functions of the body.

"Reasons of state also exist, which might make it inadvisable to summor such a body during the continuation of the war, since the government is unitedly of the opinion that peace is impossible now. But if the zemsky sobor is to be convened at the conclusion of the war a proclamation should be issued now. Yet, no matter what the emperor's decision may be, the manifesto on reforms on which the committee of ministers is working will be productive of great good. The misfortune is that all the discontented classes are for the moment scheptical."

It is understood that one of the argunents used by the court party against he revival of the zemsky sobor is the act that that body in the old days w elded immense power, being itself re-Lomanoff dynasty to the throne and that, therefore, it might even undertake, if again called into being, to elect a new ruler. Generally speaking. the position of the opposition to the zemsky sobor is well voiced editorially in the Moscow Gazette, the leading exponent of the absolute autocracy of Russia, in which it is prophesied that any sort of national assembly will lead to a struggle between it and the czar which envitably will end in the overthrow of the autocracy. The article draws a parallel between the present political situation and the Nihilistic terrorism which almost wrung the constitution from Alexander II and after his assassination confronted Alexander III with a choice of alternatives. The article continues: "Then, as now, the public press loudly proclaimed that without a parliament or a zemsky sobor Russia must fall. Even government circles were so intimidated by an insignificant group of terrorists that it came to believe that Russia could be saved only by the zemstovists instead of the sensible power of the autocratic sovereign. But Alexander understood that the first condition for the walfare of Russia was the restoration of order, the government and not the people, the emperor and not the zemsky sobor, then rescued Russia from revolution.

"What was true then is true now. The emperor must again save Russia. Suppose the government were turned over to such men as composed the zemstvo congress, who met without the consent of the ruler, adopted resolutions and otherwise instigated the people to re-open revolt. If real power were lodged in their hands the resuit would be prompt defiance of the ruler and an open quarrel resulting either in a terrible civil war or the dethronement of the autocracy by revolution the third estate engulfed the other two estates, executing the king. So in Russis a zemsky sobor of the privileged zemstvo class would only be a stepping stone to universal representation. which would be bound to destroy the rule of autocracy and the Russian state." Kelly on Verge of Collapse Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 16.—Owen gains. Come and see for yourself. "Nervous Headaches-Run Down."

Tired, sick nerves cause nervous headaches. The nerves stop doing their work properly.

They protest against neglect and abuse. Their tired, sick condition is shown in many ways, sometimes one way, sometimes another.

Headaches, "unstrung," "worn out," "run down," "nervous," "blue," all warnings from sick Health, vigor, determination, courage—in fact,

all that makes life worth living depends upon a healthy supply of nerve force. Paine's Celery Compound makes new Nerve Force, it revives the old force and makes new. It not only does this, but by strengthening the nerves that control all the organs of the body, it cures the real cause of headaches, neuralgia, rheumatism, malarla, and the many diseases coming from a run down condition of the nerves. For 18 years Paine's Celery Compound has been the most universally used nerve vitalizer and tonic in the world. For 18 years—think of this fact and realize what it means.

Read the experience of Mrs. L. F. Mulray after

"Following a severe attack of La Grippe my general health seemed to be seriously affected. I suffered from constant nervous headache and was so unstrung that everything irritated me until I was in a precarious condition. I also was troubled with sleepleseness and would rise in the morning more weary than when I went to bed. As my medicine did not seem to help me any, the doctor advised a complete change, but, as I was unable to go away, a neighbor advised me to try Paine's Celery Compound. I used it faithfully for a week, feeling that I dally grew better and stronger and my health kept gradually improving until I had used three and a half bottles, when I was in perfect health, with no trace of my former troubles. A number of my friends who saw what Paine's Celery Compound had done for me have used It since, and they all feel as pleased with results as I am. Yours very truly."-Mrs. L.

F. Mulray, Fifth and Mercer streets, Seattle, Wash. Treasurer Skoogay Country Club. Thousands of grateful patients tell of the unfailing effect of Paine's Celery Compound as a nerve vitalizer and tonic. Physicians, the world over, use and prescribe it and testify to wonderful cures.

One bottle will prove its wonderful properties-it gives almost instant effect.

Try Paine's Celery Compound to-day. It braces you up at once.

See how much better you feel. See how much more easily the trials roll away. Let Paine's Celery Compound strengthen and restore your nerves, nourish your system, purify your blood and help you back to vigorous, buoyant health.

Remember this-Paine's Celery Compound is the prescription of one of the most famous physicians America has ever known-Prof. E. E. Phelps, of Dartmouth University. All reputable druggists recommend and sell

ROYAL DOMESTIC DRAMA

Countess Montignose Checks Supposed Abduction Scheme Florence, Feb. 16.-For some time Countess Montignoso, former wife of King Frederick Augustus of Saxony. has suspected that her German nurse, Mahote, was planning to abduct her little child, Princess Anna Monica Pia, and place her in the care of her father. the king. Yesterday, under the pretext that the German consul was going to see the nurse at the gate of the villa where the countess is residing, the latter led Mahote to the gate. Then, quickly pushing the nurse outside and closing and locking the gate, the countess cried: "Go to your master, spy." Entering the house the countess thrown out of the window to the street. The nurse protested against her ejectment, but unavailingly, and later applied to a locksmith to aid her in reentering the villa. The locksmith declined.

Failing to enlist the locksmith's assistance, Mahote went to Dr. Koerner, the Dresden lawyer who came here to demand that the countess relinquish the custody of the Princess Anna to King Frederick Augustus, and he. in company with the German consul, returned with her to the villa, where they found all the doors bolted and even the bell wires cut. Dr. Koerner appealed to the police, but was told that they could not enter a private house without the orders of a court.

Many of the people in the vicinity of the villa declare they will personally oppose any attempt at violence against the former Crown Princess of Saxony

Critical Situation at Lodz

Lodz, Feb. 16.-The situation here is becoming more serious. There is much suffering among the families of strikers. The governor himself admits that the conditions are very grave. He is anxious to avoid bloodshed, but fears it will be difficult. He has peremptorily ordered soldiers to refrain from exciting the animosity of the strikers and that they must not shoot unless first attacked. The attitude of the strikers shows increasing hostility. The governor fears that it will be necessary finally to proclaim martial law, and this may cost many lives. The large mills remain closed.

Almed at American Fishermen St. Johns, Feb. 16.-The colonia! government is being strongly urged to institute an inquiry into the fishery relations between the colony and the United States, with a view to taking drastic action to prevent American fishermen from enjoying a continuance of the present virtual monopoly of the north Atlantic fisheries, and to secura for the colony privileges equal to those proposed under the Hay-Bond treaty.

Sight Lost and Restored Appleton, Wis., Feb. 16.-Miss Sadle Clark of Neenah, Wis., a high school student, had never had any eye trouble until she woke on the morning of Feb. 6 to find herself stone blind. She was on a train yesterday afternoon, going to Milwaukee to undergo an operation, when her sight suddenly impaired by the systerious period of blindness.

No Insect Pests In Malls Washington, Feb. 16.-The house committee on agriculture has authorized a favorable report on the bill to prohibit interstate transportation of insect pests and the use of the United States mails for that purpose. A $5000 fine and imprisonment at hard labor for five years is made the penalty for violating the prohibitions of the bill.

Given Further Lease of Life Harrisburg, Feb. 16.-On recommendation of the board of pardons, Governor Pennypacker withdrew the death warrants in the case of Mrs. Kate Edwards, the white woman, and Saniuel Greason, the negro, who were under sentence to hang together at Reading today for the murder of Mrs. Edwards' husband in 1901.

Missing Middy Arrested Washington, Feb. 16.-The navy department is informed that Midshipmaa Milton W. Arrowood, who recently disappeared from the battleship Kearsarge, on which he was serving his final course, has been arrested in New York. He will probably be tried by court martial for desertion.

Election Frauds at St Louis St. Louis, Feb. 16 .- As a result of the investigation of the alleged frauds committed at the recent election, 17 bench warrants were issued against persons in the fourth ward, charging offenses against the election laws. Several arrests were made.

Pantomime Entertainment.

The I's of Bethany church gave an entertainment Wednesday evening in the chapel which greatly pleased an audience of nearly 200, made up largely of children. There were piano duets by Misses Minnie Packard and Mila Bates, and Misses Hazel Mowry and Ethel Humphrey, but the great attractions were the shadow pictures and pantomime.

Mother Goose rhymes were the themes of most of the shadow pictures. The scene at the dentists was the most elaborate and amusing. Several scenes from "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" and "Lovey Mary " were illustrated in pantomime. while Miss Mary Atkins read from the book. The horse which was introduced in different scenes was a very clever get up, and pleased the children.

The society is much pleased at the inancial success of their efforts, about $15 being realized.

Struck by Bridge.

Charles Hayes, 29 years old, of Norolk Downs, a freight brakeman, was truck by an overhead bridge at Campello last night, and found later on the op of a freight car, tying in a pool of lood. His lower jaw and collar bone were broken, and he sustained bad bruises and scalp wounds. He was aken to the relief hospital.

He is a son of Mr. Charles Hayes of Pierce street, Norfolk Downs, who for nany years has been employed by the railroad as tower man at the Atlantic Values Valentines.

A popular young clerk in a City Square store informed a Ledger reporter this noon that he was the recipient of no less than 27 valentines on Tuesday, which is convincing proof of the young clerk's popularity. He wishes to express his sincere and heartfelt hanks to the many contributors and ssures them that the valentines are to be valued in years to come as treasured souvenirs of St. Valentine's.

Dominican Protocol

POSITION OF PRESIDENT

Holds That This Government Should Take Charge of Customs of American States When Unable to Maintain Integrity

Washington, Feb. 17.-President Roosevelt's message, transmitting to the senate the new Dominican protocol of an agreement providing for the collection and disbursement by the United States of the customs revenues of San Domingo for the adjustment of all the obligations of that government, was made public by order of the senate in executive session. Few documents that have come to the senate in relation to any of the South or Central American or West Iudian republics have attracted so much attention. Because of the controversy that has arisen as to the right of the executive to enter into treaty arrange ments with any foreign government, without the advice and consent of the senate, extraordinary interest has Real Estate, Insurance, Mortgages, been aroused.

In addition to the president's discase of San Domingo, the protocol itself makes a specific declaration of its | application and in that respect is unusual in treaty making. The declaration recites that the government of the United States views "any attempt on the part of governments outside of this hemisphere to oppress the destiny of the Dominican republic as a manifestation of an unfriendly disposition towards the United States." The massage is of nearly 4500 words In Pawtucket a pastor is waging and was read in full to the senate. It been contracted beyond the power of countries, he says, have felt themselves

NO TRACE OF COX

More Frauds Charged Against Boston Insurance Agent Boston, Feb. 17 .- Instances of further alleged wrong-doing on the part of John O. Cox, Jr., the missing insurance agent, whose flight from Boston and exposure has caused the police to take extreme measures to catch him, are said to have come to light.

It is now believed that Cox left Boston with at least $20,000 in cash gained through a system of bogus notes. The police have discovered another insurance certificate on which $5000 had been loaned to Cox only a few days before his disappearance.

In addition to this it was discovered that Cox was the proprietor of a flourishing correspondence school of medicine, which he conducted at his home in the Massachusetts chambers. Yesterday the furniture and belongings of Cox were attached by a deputy sheriff on the claim of Pierce & Loring, the brokers. It was found later that the furniture had been heavily mortgaged just before Cox left.

No trace has yet been found of Cox. though the police of England and France have been notified.

Beston Loses Eminent Citizen

Boston, Feb. 17 .- Colonel Henry S. Russell, who had been Boston's fire commissioner since 1895, died at his winter apartments in the Hotel Agassiz. His death is attributed directly to heart disease. He had been confined to his home for about three weeks, having had an attack of the grip, but it was not generally supposed that he was critically ill. Mr. Russell was born at Savin Hill, now a part of Boston, in 1838. He had a fine war record and received the brevet of brigadier general of volunteers for gallantry before Pe tersburg, where he was wounded. Colonel Russell was famed as a breeder of fine-blooded horses.

INQUIRY ORDERED

Standard Oil Methods to Be Investigated at Once

WILL COVER WIDE SCOPE

Proceedings by Bureau of Corporations to Be Rigid and Complete--President Speedily Acts on House Resolution

Washington, Feb. 17.-President Roosevelt has directed Commissioner Garfield of the bureau of corporations to make at once a thorough investiga tion of the Standard Oil company with reference not alone to the Kansas fields, but to its workings throughou the country. The investigation will cover the entire scope outlined in the Campbell resolution which passed in a remarkably short time without a dissenting vote, and which reads as fol-"Resolved, That the secretary of commerce and labor be and is hereby requested to investigate the cause of causes of the low prices of crude oi or petroleum in the United States and especially in the Kansas field, and the unusually large margins between the price of crude oil or petroleum and the selling price of refined oil and its byproducts; and whether the said conditions have resulted in whole or in part from any contract, combination in the form of a trust, or otherwise, or conspiracy in restraint of trade and commerce among the several states and territories or with foreign countries; also to investigate the organization profits, conduct and management of the business of such corporations or cer porations, company or companies or corporate combination, if any, and to make early report of its findings, according to law, to the end that such information may be used by congress as a basis for legislation or by the department of justice as a basis for legal proceedings."

So far as the Kansas field is concerned, the inquiry will refer especially to the alleged boycott against the oil producers. At the same time, it is expected the investigation will go into all phases of Standard Oil methods. The president directed the investigation after a conference with Representative Campbell. Later, Mr. Campbell will confer with Mr. Garileld as to details of the investigation.

Mr. Campbell declares ample testimony can be had from Kansas producers to warrant criminal prosecutions. President Roosevelt is understood to be determined to leave noth ing undone to have the bureau of corporations get to the bottom of the charges against the oil monopoly. No further congressional action will be needed. Under section 8 of the act creating the department of commerce and labor, either house of may call for an investigation such as requested in this case. Representative Campbell saw Commissioner Garfield after his visit to the White House. Mr. Garfield had al- tion it will be well to examine them ready taken up the resolution passed by the house with Secretary Metcalf. He assured Mr. Campbell there would be no delay in investigating along the lines marked out by the resolution and that he or some other representative of the department of commerce and labor would start for the Kansas oil fields in a short time.

HAIRBRUSH HINTS.

How to Select One That Will Give Good Service.

The first essential of a good hairrush is that the bristles should really be bristles, not imitations, and that they should be of a good kind, says Pearson's Weekly. Russian bristles are the best; they are obtained from the back of the wild boar.

Russian bristles are very stiff, tapering in shape, about seven inches in length and either black or white These are the longest and stiffest of all. Only the butt end is used for hair brushes, and the other end, known as the "flag," is employed for making painting and decorating brushes.

The flag tapers very thin and ends in several sprouts, so that it makes a very soft and flexible brush. The butt end of the Russian bristle may be recognized by its thickness, for no other bristle has so large a diameter.

The next best variety is the Chinese and is sent from Tientsin. It is a black bristle, about five and a half inches in length and less stiff than the Russian. It is not so durable as this latter, but in other respects it is not far behind.

German bristles vary in length and quality. They are black, white and brown, and the length ranges from six inches to a mere stump of an inch or so. The white are regarded as the best of all these German varieties and consequently fetch the highest

American bristles are short, ranging from two and a half to three and a half inches. They are soft and flexible and for that reason are not so well adapted for the manufacture of hairbrushes. However, they are cheap and are therefore largely used to mix with the stiffer kinds. This, by the way, is one of the points to be noted when buying-see if all the bristles have the same stiffness.

Yet another variety is that obtained from the sea cow. These bristles an hard and durable, and they are black

Imitation bristles in the shape of fibers are often used. To detect the true bristle from the imitation and also to ascertain the quality of the real article, run your finger down the cer ter of the brush. If the bristles spring back quickly into the straight, up right position they are genuine, but if they return slowly to the original postmore closely, for this lack of resilience or springiness, is one of the signs by which you will recognize the fiber See that the bristles are secured in the back of the brush by wire. How to Clean Black Silk.

One of the things not generally known is the Parisian method of cleaning black silk. This method is simple and the result very satisfactory. The silk must be thoroughly brushed and wiped with a cloth, then laid flat on a board or table and well sponged with hot coffee thoroughly freed from sedment by being strained through muslin. The silk is sponged on the side intended to show; it is allowed to become partially dry and then ironed on the wrong side. The coffee removes every particle of grease without imparting to it either the shiny appearance or crackly and papery stiffness obtained by ammonia, beer or any other liquid.

How to Clean the Sewing Machine If your sewing machine works hearily it is probably because it either needs oil or the oil in it has become clogged. In the latter case it is a good plan to oil it with pure paraffin, then work it (without the cotton) with the treades or handle till the paraffin has soaked into it well. Then wipe off the paraffin oil, and unless there is something radthen work as well as ever.

TWO EXPLOSIONS

Disaster Overtakes Britain's New Submarine Boat

FOUR MEN ARE KILLED

Fourteen Others Receive More or Less Serious Injuries -- Reszuers Witnessed Terrible Spectacle-Overcome by Gasolene

Queenstown, Feb. 17.-Four men killed and 14 injured, of whom three are in a critical condition, was the result of two explosions on board the British submarine boat "A-5" in the har bor. The killed included Engineer Artificer Chaffee. Lieutenant Good. commander of the vessel, was blinded. His condition is critical. Lieutenaut Skinner, an officer of the submarine boat, subsequently died of his injuries. Only one man of the entire crew escaped uninjured.

The first explosion is believed to have occurred while the crew was engaged occurred while the crew was engaged in filling the gasolene tanks preparators to proceeding outside the harbor. The "A-5" caught fire after the first explosion. When this explosion occurred a number of the crew of the torpedo gunboat Hazard volunteered to go to the rescue of the submarine boat's erew, but hardly had they got on board the "A-5" when a second explosion took place and all the rescuers were more or less injured

The "A-5" was a new boat and only left her builders on Saturday. After extensive and satisfactory trials she was ordered to Queenstown for the purpose of familiarizing military officers with the appearance of a subma- 7 rine boat. Sixty army officers were present to witness the diving experiment, which led to such a tragic result. The crew were entirely volunteers.

The explosion, which was of the vio-Jence of a big gun and was heard 10 miles away, shook the submarine's convoy, the Hazard, from stem to stern. Dense volumes of smoke were seen immediately pouring from the only outlet of the hapless submarine. The rescuers report that it was only by superhuman efforts that they were able to force their way through the stifling fumes. They were repeatedly driven back and when, finally, they reached countered a terrible spectacle. Of the wounded and dying crew only one was able to speak coherently and he was begging to be saved the lower part of the boat they enbegging to be saved.

The rescuers were forcing up the second manhole forward when the second explosion occurred, blowled one of them 20 feet upwards. He fell in the water and was rescued. Others were slightly wounded. The Hazard sent a fresh party to the rescue and one by one the dead and injured were brought up, the rescuers in each case returning prostrated and faint with the fumes of gasolene. Lieutenant oner was delirious and tried to tear himself away from his rescuer.

As the submarine was on fire, she was towed to the dockyard basin, where bluejackets made efforts to get the only body remaining below, that of an engineer. They were almost asphyxiated before they succeeded. Afterwards the fire was extinguished. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

Munroe & Munroe to Resume New York, Feb. 17.-Judge Holt, in the United States district court, signed an order dismissing the involuntary petition in bankruptcy filed against the brokerage firm of Munroe & Munroe. The order also discharged Temporary Receiver Work and ordered him to turn over to the firm all stocks and money of which he had as receiver come into possession. It is understood Munroe & Munroe will resume business at once.

Four Japan se Casualties Russian Headquarters, Huan Mountain, Manchuria, Feb. 17.-The Rusmian guards at the damaged railroad bridge between Mukden and Harbin had ample warning of the approach of 63 Howard Avenue, the Japanese raiders, but the guards disregarded the Chinese warnings as "wolf" stories. The reports of the annihilation of the raiders are incorrect. Two Japanese were killed and two were made prisoners. Proposed Lincoln Ce tennial Washington, Feb. 17 .- Representative Bartholdt (Mo.) introduced a concurrent resolution providing for a joint commission of five senators and five representatives to prepare a plan for the celebration of the 100th anniversary

The results outlined were reached after a protracted session which was marked at times by considerable feeling. Friends of Hyde were disposed to view the outcome as a victory for their side, but in other quarters the result was regarded as a general compromise in which the contending factions met half-way.

That Hyde had a majority of the directors with him, however, was never in doubt. His election to the chairmanship of the executive and finance committees was regarded as significant in this connection.

The followers of Alexander lined ap against the forces of Hyde in an attempt to gain what they had demanded in a petition signed by most Representing the highest grade of the officials of the society, the re tirement of Hyde and the enfranchisementof the policy-holders.

Smallpox Isolates a Village Peoria, Ills., Feb. 17.-Not even a telegraph message can reach Smithfield, a village about 40 miles west of here, so strict is the smallpox quarantine, and so great is the ravage wrought by the malady. Charge Which Police Expect to Prove Against Hammond warrants, the officers visited his home in Peabody, returning last night with westments, crucifixes, chalices, altar cloths and other paraphernalia which had apparently been stolen from many Catholic churches.

In addition the police found a large quantity of miscellaneous merchandise, which, the police allege, will connect Hammond with numerous minor breaks which have occurred in this vicinity within the past two or three years.

The police claim to have learned that he has visited places where he obtained money on the pretense that he was blind, and that he was arrested at Elmore, N. Y., and served six months in jail for the offense. Hammond is 23 years old.

HOLDING THE LIGHTHOUSE

[Copyright, 1904, by T. C. McClure.] As a sergeant in a Federal infantry regiment I had been detailed to take charge of a lighthouse on the North Carolina coast, and one evening during the last year of the war I was driven inside by seven Confederates, who had landed from a sloop near by and whose mission was to destroy the light. I was well provided with arms and ammunition, and as they came within shooting distance I opened fire and wounded one of them. All of them at once moved to the left to get out of range, and five minutes later there was a demand that I surrender. In case of refusal they would burn me out. As the lower door was a stout one

The fellows could not tell whether I had been hit or not, and about 9 o'clock I heard them crawling up again to listen. As one of them rubbed against the door I fired through a loophole, and the yell which answered the shot was proof that I had wounded another. What the unwounded would do during the night I could only guess at and be on the watch to checkmate. The two wounded men must have suffered a great deal, but the leader was a determined fellow and bound to carry out

Soon after the wounding of the second man I heard the whole party moving away, and it was a matter of two hours before they returned. They had searched the shores for driftwood and brought back loads of it.

"I don't go so far as that. But I should not be surprised if something of that sort did eventuate." "Then you do go so far as that," said

Brendon, with a shrug. "However, there is nothing more to be said. My advice to you is to hold your tongue lest we should both get into trouble." The two parted, Leonard to pack up and Brendon to journey with his bag for Kensington. Both men were conscious of a relief when they took leave the reins which had fallen from the hands of madame, a few days put a different complexion on affairs. Margery knew where her aunt kept the money, and Miss Bull made several of the boarders behindhand pay up. Thus there was enough money to go on with, and Miss Bull decided to wait until after the funeral before deciding what the intended to do herself. When Mrs. Jersey was buried her lawyer made his appearance with the will. It was read to Margery, and Miss Bull stopped beside the poor girl as the only friend she had in the world. The will was short and concise, as it seemed that there was very little to leave. The lawyer read it and then looked at Margery to hear what she had to say. "You do exactly what you like, dear said Mr. James

"About this will," said Miss Bull, laying one thin finger on the document her niece, the money in the green box in her sitting room and also her jew-

"Is there nothing else?" asked Miss Bull, raising her black eyes inquiring-"That is the property of Lord Der-

"Is not that rather strange?" "Very strange. But the whole connection of Lord Derrington with my late client is strange. I know that she received from him an annuity of £500 a year and the lease of this house-by the year, remember-from December to December. Now she is dead the annuity lapses. The lease ends on the 31st of December and it will not be renewed. Lord Derrington, so far as I know, has no interest in Miss Margery Watson." 'What interest had he in Mrs. Jersey?" asked Miss Bull, scenting a scandal, and her eyes brightening.

"I can't tell you that, and if I could I would not." "Quite right. I beg your pardon for asking, but you see, in the interest of that poor girl, I wish to know exactly how matters stand."

"They stand as I tell you," said James, and he rose to go. "I have nothing more to do in the matter, and my connection with the late Mrs. Jersey ceases here"

"One moment," said Miss Bull quietly. "What of the furniture?"

"That is also the property of Lord Derrington. He bought the house as it stood from the executor of the last owner, Mr. Anthony Lockwood, fifteen years ago. Mrs. Jersey wished to set up a boarding house, so Lord Derrington placed her in here. Every stick in the place belongs to him. Should Miss Watson leave, she goes with the jewels, the money in the green box and with her deceased aunt's clothes."

"A very poor outfit to start life on at her age," said Miss Bull, rising in her prim manner. "By the way, Mr. James, what is the name of the late Mr. Lockwood's executor?" "Roger Ireland," replied the lawyer, looking rather surprised. "Why do you "For my own satisfaction, Mr. James. If no one else will assist this poor girl

I shall do so. Good day."

So far as James was personally concerned, he heard no more of the little woman. Miss Bull collected the boarders in the drawing room after dinner and made a speech. She said that it was Margery Watson's intention to keep on the house and that the terms would be as before. If any chose to stop they would be welcome, but those who decided to go could have their bills made out at once. Having thus acted as the mouthpiece of Margery, Miss Bull took the girl away to the sitting room of the late Mrs. Jersey, the very

It is not likely that Lord Derrington will continue it to you.

'Yes. For many years I have been with my aunt. She was my only relative, dear Miss Bull."

"All the better. I don't want other people interfering," said Miss Bull in her icy way. "Well, Margery, I shall see if I can get Lord Derrington to renew the lease to you, and I shall be your security. With the money in hand-I have counted it, and with that in the bank it amounts to £200-we can continue the boarding house. A few of the boarders will go, but many will remain, as they will not get any where so cheap a place. You will be the nominal head of the house, but in reality I shall manage. Do you agree? "I am your slave," cried Margery, with melodramatic intensity.

"You are my friend," said Miss Bull, woman, Margery, though I still have a again as she said this-"and I love "The most sensible thing you can you, my dear, for your goodness. Well,

From that moment Miss Bull was in charge of the Amelia square establishment. Whatever means she used to induce Lord Derrington to consent she certainly managed to get the lease clever. DR. TRUE:

I have long felt it to be a duty I owe to you and to the world to say something in recommendation of your Elixir. Indeed, I feel that all I can say will express but a small part of the gratitude I feel for the relief it afforded me and my child. I was confined to my bed several weeks with canker, and suffered more than I have words to express. After trying many things I began to despair of ever obtaining relief, but I am happy to say that a few bottles of your Elixir completely restored me to health. And I would further state that I verily believe that it saved the life of my little daughter. She, with almost blind, and no tongue can describe the suffering she endured. Nothing seemed to do her any permanent good until I began to use your Elixir, when she began to mend at once.

Are You in the Rush and Bustle? While we join in the rush and bustle of this busy world, overtaxing our energies and racking our systems, many of us are morally culpable of reckless disregard of bodily strength and fitness. Then perhaps the health breaks down, and we seem doomed to long periods of pain and depression. Our whole life is darkened.

Eventful Life.

James A. Knowlton, father of C. F. Knowlton of this city, who died in Florida this week, had an active and eventful life. Early in life he was a carpenter, and then boat builder. He served as selectman of Swampscott for three years and overseer of poor for 17 years and held other positions. He kept a summer boarding house in Swampscott and had hardware stores in Swampscott and Boston.

Since 1854 Mr. and Mrs. Knowlton have spent their winters in the South; for many years at Ragged island, off South Carolina when he shipped thousands of ducks to the northern market.

Mr. and Mrs. Knowlton had been married over 57 years. They had eleven sons and daughters, of whom six are living.

The funeral took place today at Swampscott.

Railroad Conference.

The conference between the special committee of the City Council and Golden, N. P. Hill, T. Leary, T. Kerithe officials of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, in relation to better train service, to have been held Friday afternoon was postponed until next Tuesday.

In order to be prepared for the conference the committee met Thursday evening and discussed what it should ask of the railroad officials. A list of improvements desired was drawn up which will be brought before the rail-- road officials. The list contains several lequests in addition to those enumerated in the list of Mr. Blackmur pubished in Thursday's Ledger.

A REMARKABLE SHOT.

How a Kentuckian Put a Bullet Through a Bottle on Uis Head.

A remarkable record in marksman ship was recently made at a turkey shoot at the Roundstone Sinks, about ten miles from Hangaround, Jackson county, Ky., says a special dispatch to the New York Tribune. Word of the feat was brought by Jedediah Chick, the mail carrier, and by Fred Jewett, a well known lawyer. The stories of these two men, both eyewitnesses, agree in every detail.

The turkey shoot was well under way 5 cls. each and about half the birds had been killed when Peter McHone, a well known shot and notorious "bad man," appeared and attempted to enter the contest. A protest was at once raised by the poorer shots, and as these included every man interested it was decided in fairness to the others to bar out McHone. His protests were unheeded, and the shoot continued.

After it was over McHone attempted to win enough to pay him for his tramp to the place by placing bets on his own prowess with the rifle. He suggested betting on various difficult feats of marksmanship, but so great is his reputation that it was not till he offered to place an empty whisky flask on his Prof. Julius E. Dispute Between Firemen's Organization and Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers--Strike Might Not Be Unwelcome to the Company

New Haven, Feb. 18 .- An adverse decision, absolutely upholding President Mellen, was given by the sub-committee of the board of directors of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad on the appeal of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen of the system for a recognition, as a body, of those of its members who have been promoted to be engineers, but who have not affiliated with the Brotherhod of Locomotive Engineers.

> The grievance committee of the brotherhood to whom the decision, while not entirely expected, was most unwelcome, will proceed with caution. The suggestion which came to it last night, that arbitration is yet a means of avoiding a conflict, appears to have impressed that committee. The brotherhood has caused a poll of the memiters on the road to be taken on the question of giving the committee full power to act in the premises, which may even mean the authority to order a strike. These ballots in sealed envelopes are closely guarded here and probably will be opened on Sunday morning. Even this time is not definite, but by Sunday it is expected that the members of the full committee which must pass upon the question of a strike will have assembled here for a conference to plan for the future.

The decision was brought to this city from New York by Secretary Par-States which ran from Quincy quarries to tide ker of the railroad company and delivered last evening to Second Vice Grand master Shea at a room in a local which has served as a headquarters of

JOHN C. ROWAN.

Rheumatism.

Prof. E. E. Phelps, of Dartmouth University, the discoverer of the formula of Paine's Celery Compound, always maintained that rheumatism could be traced back to diseased nerves that failed to do their work properly.

Bear this in mind while reading the letter of John C. Rowan that follows.

Mr. Rowan wrote us over 10 years ago telling us how much he was being helped by Paine's Celery Compound. We wrote him a short time ago to find out if he still relied on Paine's Celery Compound.

"Yours of the 2d inst. is at hand, and in reply would say that I have never had any cause to change my opinion as to the good qualities of Paine's Celery Compound. you are aware, some ten years or thereabouts ago, I was a martyr to rheumatism, and suffered intense pain with it in my knees; could not rest at night, but walked the floor with pain.

"All manner of remedies were tried; some gave me temperary relief, others have had no effect whatever.

"Now, my reasons for taking Paine's Celery Compound in preference to other remedies was that on an occasion once before ! had taken two bottles of Paine's Celery Compound and was relieved so much that I did not take any more at that time, after my experience with other remedies which did me no good. Later, I was positive then that I had not given Paine's Celery Compound a fair trial to cure me absolutely of rheuma-

"I concluded to take twelve bottles, and I dld so, and I can assure you that you have a compound that is honest, and a sure destroyer of rheumatism. "I have found it so, for up to this present date I have never felt any symptoms of rheumatism. I take it every spring, but for the blood only.

"Now, we have a remarkajble case here in one of our schools, the janitor, Mr. William Garlow. He is a man between seventy and seventy-five years of age.

"He had suffered very much with rheumatism, so he felt he must give up his position. I had frequently recommended Paine's Celery Compound to him, and, like myself, he had taken one or two bottles of it, but did not give it a fair trial. I informed him of my case, and said: 'Try a dozen bottles, and it will convince you that my statement is cor rect.' He purchased five bottles; one he kept at the school, so he could take it as directions call for. Now he is well and feeling better than he has for years, and is a strong supporter of Paine's Celery Compound. His address is, William Garlow, Oakdale avenue, or Humboldt High School.
"Others have asked if it is a fact that

Paine's Celery Compound has done so much for me and keeps me so healthy. "That and the way I live have been the cause. At the time I had the rheumatism I was affected with catarrh. You can be assured I shall always be a friend of Paine's Celery Compound, for I am indebted to it-a debt I can never pay. You can refer to me and use this letter as you see fit in the cause of Paine's Celery Compound. I am, yours truly."-John C. Rowan, 137 East Winifred

If they think they can make a living on 10 acres of land and have $1000, they will try it and not think it too much. They reason that it is that much invested from which they can derive a livelihood and have a home besides. Numbers of them have settled here on 10-acre plots and made a living and saved up money, notwithstanding the fact that the family was of large size. So far we find them peaceful, lawabiding citizens without the dreaded stiletto. This is giving a general history of them as I know it. Of course some are more prosperous than others."

One of the Italian farmers said: "In another generation, when my children speak the English language and own good homes, why should they not be good Americans? "They say an Italian doesn't spend any money. An Italian comes to this country without anything, and he does not spend anything until he makes it. The first he does to do is to buy a home. The negro rarely owns a home or really cares for one, and spends a dollar a day while he is only making 75 cents, and sooner or later goes to prison, while the Italian practically lives in a prison for three or four years and spends nothing, and then buys a home. An Italian farmer with a home paid for and a few hundred dollars in the bank will spend money just like anyone else. A few of the older ones, with commendable love for the place of their birth, return the old country to spend their old age and die amid the scenes of their childhood, but their sons and daughters remain in their American homes, where life presents so many attractive possibilities, and rear large families of thoroughly Americanized citizens."

CHAPTER V.

VERY one who was any one Ward. She was a fluffy haired kitten of a woman, more like a Dresden china shepherdess than a mere human being. Nothing could be prettier than her face and figure and nothing more engaging than her charming face and her melting blue eyes she managed to hold her own against younger women. The late Mr. Ward, Lord Ransome's son, had been a fast young man, devoted to the turf and to his pretty wife. But he was killed when riding in a steeplechase two years after his marriage and left his widow alone in the world with one daughter for consolation in her affliction. Mrs. Ward, being in want of money-for her deceased father had been a general with nothing but his pay-played her cards so well with regard to her father-in-law that he allowed her a good income and thought she was to lost perfect of women. But Lord mansome was the only one of the family who thought so, for the

the pretty, pleading widow.

Not that Mrs. Ward minded. She characterized the women as frumps and the men as fools, and, having enough to live on comfortably, set up a house in Curzon street. It was thought that she would marry again, and probably she would have done so had a sufficiently rich husband with a title been fortheoming. But somehow no one worth capturing ever came Mrs. Ward's way, and as time went on she chose to assume the role of a devoted mother and, as she phrased it, to live again in her daughter. This was quite wrong, as Dorothy Ward was a slim, serious minded girl of nineteen, not given to gayety, and was one who was saxious to marry a husband with mind could make out. She resembled her in spite of the shaded windows, she mother neither in face nor in manner nor in tastes. Mrs. Ward openly lamented that Dorothy was such a difficult girl to manage, which meant that Dorothy had refused several good matches and had declined to be guided entirely by her mother's opinion. When the Earl of Summerslea proposed and was not accepted Mrs. Ward was furious, but Dorothy said steadily that she would never marry a brute with a title.

"You'll marry any one I choose," said Mrs. Ward when the two were discussing the matter.

"Certainly not Lord Su joined Dorothy steadily.

"And certainly not that penniless George Brendon," retorted her mother. "You shall not throw yourself away on

"He is a good man and a clever man, and a man whom any woman might be proud of winning, mother." "And a man with no money and no position. Who is he? What is his family? No one ever heard of him."

"You shall never see me the Countess of Summerslea. I know all about that nan. He is bad and dissipated."

Dorothy respected as well as loved George Brendon and every time she met him grew to admire and love him more. Mrs. Ward became quite exasperated and redoubled her efforts to icken Dorothy of the "creature," as she called Brendon. She took to praising him on all occasions and someimes asked him to dinner. At the same time she constantly abused young Walte, Vane, who was Lord Derrington's grandson and heir. He was the man she wished Dorothy to marry, as one day he would have a title and fifteen thousand a year. But in spite of this Machiavelian policy Dorothy still inned to love George and expressed a hearty dislike for Walter Vane, whom she characterized as a "weak-

"You would marry me to the prince of darkness himself if it suited your purpose," said Dorothy, from which speech it will be seen that Miss Ward had small respect for her fascinating

The two did not assimilate, as their dispositions were so different. Mrs. Ward complained that Dorothy was too religious, and Dorothy found the frivolous world in which her mother moved duli beyond words. It so happened that Dorothy stayed mostly at home or went out with one of her aunts, who was something of her type, while Mrs. Ward enjoyed herself at Hurlingham and Monte Carlo. Things were in this position when the murder of Mrs. Jersey took place. Dorothy read about it in the papers, and, knowing that George had gone to stop in the house with Train, was exmely anxious to hear particulars. She wrote to his Kensington address asking him to call, but received no reply. Then she saw that he gave evidence at the inquest, and two days later George made his appearance at Who had been voluble in her expres-

And, with a shrill, unpleasant laugh, Mrs. Ward vanished. Brendon paced the room, waiting for Dorothy. How Mrs. Ward had learned of his connection with Lola Velez he could not understand. Brendon was perfectly innocent, and what he had done for the dancer was dictated by pure kindness. But even if he explained the whole circumstances of his meeting and of his philanthropy to Dorothy, she was a woman, when all was said and done, and might not believe him. On the whole, he decided to take Mrs. Ward's advice and hold On some future occasion he might be able to explain, and at the present moment he had the satisfaction of knowing that his conscience was clear. He had just arrived at this decision when Dorothy entered the room. The next moment she was in his arms, and the two entered paradise at once.

Definition of the Simple Life. The simple life is a genuine life in contradistinction to the life that is artificial, unnatural and spurious. It is a life in which self is master and possessions and conditions are servants. It is a life which springs from an attitude of mind and soul. It is what is meant by the spiritual life. It is a life in the living of which lie the highest human realization and the deepest happiness. - Rabbi Alexander J. Lyons, Brooklyn.

Peace on Earth.

We used to speak of glory at Christmas time, but the theme of the present day Christian should be that of peace. If we are at peace with one another and if we are at peace with God, then, indeed, will glory reign supreme. To gain this peace or clear conscience it is sary to follow out the Gold en Rule, but the rule should be observed not only at Christmas time, but during the entire year.—Rev. Dr. William J. Church Critics.

When the world insists that a man shall practice what he preaches the world is right. When the world cries out against the hypocrisy of the professed Christians it is right. When the world demurs with a man who makes long prayers and gives short measure it is right. There never was an honest criticism made by the world against the church that was not true. The standard which the world has always set for the followers of Jesus Christ is a high standard.—Rev. E. H. Libby, Congregationalist, Englewood, Ill.

The Temple of Life.

The main work for Solomon's temple was the hidden work-the cutting, the chiseling, the shaping-down there in those subterranean quarries. And the main work for the temple of the life is work withdrawn and secret, back in the chambers of one's imaginings, lovings, willings. Down there in the subterranean quarries was the place to lay the plummet line upon the stones for that temple which shone on Mount Moriah. Back in the withdrawn places of one's imagining, loving, willing, is where to lay the plummet line upon the stones of deeds which must go to form the temple of the life.-Rev. Dr. Wayland Hoyt, Baptist, Philadelphia.

Advice For the New Year. The chances are that with most of us

1905 will be largely a repetition of the year just closed. When we come close home to ourselves, though we fancy we have it in our power to make ourselves precisely what we will, the chances are we shall continue to be just what we have been. Most people talk about turning over a new leaf, but the writing on the new leaf looks strangely familiar as we get toward the bottom of the page. When we consider our mental characteristics as the years have gone on, we have only intensified, the most of us, our inherited natures. You can cultivate a new interest. The great trouble with most men is that they get into ruts. They are narrow in their interests. There are only a few things they care for, and if you take those things away they do not know what to do with themselves. If you will begin this new year to train yourselves to become interested in some new thing, something outside of your business, by and by when you wish to retire you will be able to do so .- Rev. Dr. M. J. Savage, Unitarian, New York.

The candy sale held by the Guild of St. Perpetua of St. Chrysostom's church on the 10th at the home of Mrs. Page, Park street, was well patronized and in every way successful. An orchestra composed of Messrs. Armstrong, Simmons, and Brigham added greatly to the pleasure of the evening. The proceeds amounted to a little over twenty dollars.

The second session of dancing school under the direction of Miss Lena Crane of Ashmont, opened Wednesday evening in Music hall, Atlantic. There were new dances taught and everyone seemed enthusiastic over the prospect of a continuation of the good times of the former lessons. There will be a class next Wednesday evening and one or two balls beside the dancing school to follow later. There has been more enthusiasm over dancing this winter in Atlantic than has been evinced since the days of the old Social club, years

Teacher Long in Service to be

For Quincy to be successful in the new Boston Herald contest, started today, it will be necessary for the whole city to unite promptly on one school and one teacher, and to enter but one division either High or Grammar. As Boston, Cambridge, Somerville and other cities in the greater Boston district have larger High schools and alumni, it will probably be better for Quincy to enter its candidates in the Grammar school list.

One of the oldest schools in the "City of Presidents" is the Coddington, and it has a teacher whom all the city honors. One who on April 1 of this year completes fifty years of very faithful and successful service. In 1895 Quincy observed the completion of forty years of teaching at the Coddington school by Miss Julia E. Underwood, and presented her with $40 in gold.

This year there should be a grander testimonial and the Daily Ledger would suggest that her name be entered as the sole Quincy representative in the Herald contest, and that she be sent to the World's Fair at Portland, Oregon, during the school vacation next sum-

Sapt. Lull in his report for 1895 said: "Miss Underwood is one of our young teachers." She is young because she adopts new methods as readily as those ounger in years. We know of no one who deserves well of Quincy people, or who would appreciate a trip to the Pacific coast better than Miss Under-

If the services of the 5,500 school children of Quincy and their 11,000 parents can be enlisted in the contest for Miss Underwood, there are 2,500 Office, 4 Chestnut Street, Quincy, Mass. men and women who have been her Aug. 17. pupils, who would like to assist and make the completion of fifty years of service a memorable event, and a royal good time for her.

Among "her boys" was Frank F. Prescott of the Daily Ledger, and his sons, and they invite all Herald readers to forward their coupons to them. If the coupons are cut out uniformly just outside the border, the name, etc., can be printed in at the Ledger office. Coupons should not be rolled, but kept flat.

The Herald offers in addition to the trip to the World's Fair, a group of art treasures to the school which receives the most votes. In appreciation Lettuce. of cooperation on the Coddington school and Miss Underwood, the writer Hubbard Squash, thinks the Coddington will waive all claim to the art treasures, and agree Large Naval Oranges, to divide them among the other school buildings of the city after this plan. California Prunes, The school contributing the most coupons to Miss Underwood to have Firs Cut fib Roast, first choice; the second largest number the second choice, etc.

The weekly smoke concert of the Shipbuilders Club passed off most successfully last Friday evening, the capacity of the club being taxed to the utmost, indeed no further proof is needed as to the popularity of the club, or its inadequate accommodation for such entertainments.

It is now certain however that the latter difficulty will soon be obviated for Mr. H. R. Curwen, treasurer of the club, announced that he had interviewed the general manager of the works, and had suggested to him as a simple means of raising funds toward making the club premises more suited to their needs, that the new Fall River Line Steamer "Providence," now approaching completion be thrown open to the public for inspection at a nominal charge per person, the proceeds to be devoted to the purpose mentioned. Mr. Smith realizing that charity begins at home, cordially adopted the suggestion tendered him, which lasted forty minutes. and now it only remains to fix a suitable date and make proper arrangements members of the club have already the court. volunteered to show visitors through this magnificent vessel, and safeguard the interests of the firm, and no doubt a handsome sum of money will be

In a few well chosen remarks, Mr. J. C. Crain expressed his pleasure in being enabled to be present, and his confidence in the ultimate success of the lub. The ever popular Councilman Hynes in proposing a vote of thanks to the various artists, remarked that the club was growing at a rapid rate, and was now an assured success and he thought the treasurer's suggestion a 'providential one." Mr. Gibb who was unavoidably absent, was heartily thanked for his hospitality, upon the motion of Mr. Andrews.

Drift of Opinion.

Husbands are of many sorts. The American variety is supposed to be the best. Although the American man is not sought by foreigners as much as the American Woman, he is thought at home to be the best domestic investment in the world. No other is so ready to treat his wife as plenarily inspired. The American husband averages better than the poet Marston's computation, At a rough guess, half the marriages in this country are fairly happy, partly because the American men are kindly, sociable, and good tempered, partly because the American women are free and interesting. MOSCOW TRAGEDY

Grand Dukes Have Kept Indoors Since Its Occurrence

TREPOFF IS ALSO SCARED

Other Terrorist Crimes Anticipated, Several Officials In Southern Russia Already Having Been Assassinated -- Menacing Strike Situation Adds to General Alarm

St. Petersburg, Feb. 20.-It has now been definitely decided that the remains of Grand Duke Sergius will not be brought to St. Petersburg for the present, but instead will be placed in a temporary receiving vault of the cloister of the Chaudoff monastery, to await the completion of alterations now in progress in the Romanoff mausoleum in the cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul, where the permanent interment will occur, among the tombs of his ancestors.

This, however, is not the only reason for the decision not to bring the remains to the capital now. Even Governor General Trepoff has recognized the fact that no precautions can furnish an absolute guarantee of immunity sene and then set on fire, was the against an act of terrorism, and at a treatment accorded Max Spitz, a car great state funeral, where ancient custom requires that the czar and all of the Morrisania yards of the New York Romanoff family assemble and follow the coffin on foot, a single bomb might wipe out the dynasty.

sovereign also has led to the decision a watchman in the roundhouse, was that the czar shall not go to Moscow arrested on the complaint of Spitz, but to attend the funeral of his uncle. It denied knowledge of the assault. is possible that no members of the imperial family will be present on that occasion except those who are now within the walls of the Kremlin. Grand Dukes Constantine and Paul probably will represent the emperor at the service.

So grave is the danger of a repetition of the Moscow tragedy that several of the grand dukes have not stirred out of their palaces since the murder and, instead of going to Tsarskoe-Selo to attend the requiem there, they have participated in special services held in the chapels of their own palaces. This was the case with the Grand Dukes Vladimir and Alexis. A special requiem also was held in the winter palace, attended by General Trepoff, who is himself known to be SPORTING GOODS, under sentence by the lighting of games, and tion of the social revolutionists, and who, so far as can be ascertained, has not left his quarters in the palace since the assassination of Sergius.

The public is greatly concerned over the developments of the immediate future. Other terrorist crimes are generally anticipated. According to reports, many cities and towns are in a condition of political ferment and several officials have been assassinated in southern Russia.

According to a telephone message from Moscow, the students there are afraid to appear on the streets in their uniforms. In addition the strike situation has again grown menacing, especially in the matter of the railroads, three of which entering Moscow are almost completely tied up.

In St. Petersburg the strike has assumed the form of a lockout, the Puing discharged all their employes, with the notice that the works will 000 or 40,000 men out of work for an rested for disorderly conduct. indefinite period, even if no more join the ranks of the idle, rioting and collisions with the police are feared.

The monetary loss, including that on the personal property of the lodgers, is estimated at $9000.

Scarcity of Food at Nantucket Nantucket, Mass., Feb. 20.—The food situation on account of the long ice em bargo is daily becoming more and more serious, notwithstanding the landing of a supply of meat by the revenue cutter Mackinac on her two trips last week to the island. Flour, sugar, butter and molasses have become scarce, and the kerosene is almost exhausted, many families being dependent on candles, or in some cases without light and there seems little prospect of a breakup in the ice, which has held the steamer Nantucket a close prisoner in the harbor for nearly three weeks.

Practical pockets or receptacles for surplus change will be presented to the women depositors of a New York bank. They will be for the particular use of the pocketless woman, the one who conceals her wealth in her hosiery, says the New York Journal. The women of the West End Republican club were jubilant when they heard of the original scheme at their recent meeting at the Hotel Astor in New York. Mrs. Bella de Reviera made mention of it in her report touching on momentous questions. The unique purse is to prevent money from wandering around inside lisle thread or web silk. It will be attached to the garter, where the money can be placed and anchored. It will be made of chamois skin and locked.

Southbridge, Mass., Feb. 20.-The securities announced by a Boston law firm to have been lost by a client are the property of Herman S. Cheney, a capitalist of this town. This was definitely determined when Cheney sent for a representative of the press and gave the latter a statement which, he said, contain d all that he wished to or would say about the matter. Mr. Cheney's attorneys had refused to divulge the name of their client, though We have marked these at there were persistent rumors that Cheney had sustained the loss.

The lost paper has a face value of taken, but did not make clear how he thought this might be brought about. He did say, however, that none having access to the house was under sus-

Mr. Cheney, until a year ago, was the third largest stockholder in the works of the American Optical company, the business of which was founded by his father. He took the securities from a safe deposit vault i Boston about the first of the year for the purpose of making his annual 'u ventory. He had them in a closet at his home on Jan. 17, and a few cays later they were missing. Mr. Cheney's statement follows:

"It is true that I have either mislaid or there has been stolen from me a tin box containing bonds, stocks, notes and mortgages amounting to $285,000. The box containing the securities was in a closet at my home on Jan. 17, but a few days later, when I visited the closet, the box was gone I brought the box from my safe de posit vault in Boston to my home here in order to go over the securities and make an inventory, as is my annua custom. In the box was about $10,000 in unregistered bonds and notes which might readily be used by anyone who had them in their possession, but the securities included no other easily negotlable paper.

"Upon discovery of the loss I consulted my attorneys in Boston, Mac-Pherson, Hyde & Damon, and we de cided to engage a force of private de tectives with a view to recovering the city. The detectives have worked or the case without result, and, as some of the notes were coming due. I permitted the fact of the loss to become known. I still, however, hope to avoid personal publicity. As my connection with the loss has become known, I see no reason for withholding any of the facts which may lead to the recovery of the property. "As yet the local authorities have not been consulted by me, as my lawyers and myself still believe that we may be able to secure all the property without legal proceedings. I will add that no one having access to my home is under suspicion

Providence Man Slain In His Berth on Steamer

THE MURDERER ESCAPES

Victim Probably Never Moved After Shot Was Fired -- Money and Valuables Missing, Indicating Robbery as the Motive

Providence, Feb. 20.-John A. Hart was murdered on the Joy line steamer Larchmont while a passenger from New York to this city. The murder was not discovered until Sunday afternoon, after all the other passengers had left the steamer.

The stewards, in making their rounds, discovered the stateroom occupied by Hart closed and the door locked. The door was forced and the body of Hart was found in the upper bertle with a bullet wound in the neck. A blanket had been thrown over the head and upper portions of the body. The body was clothed in under garments but the outside clothing of the man was missing. No weapon was found in the stateroom, while a watch and chain a ring and a considerable sum of money which Hart was known to have possessed had been taken. The matter was reported to the police here and Medical Examiner Perkins held an autopsy, finding that the man was murdered and the motive probably rob-

The police have but little to work upon, as they believe that the murderer escaped immediately upon the of the crew by his nervous behavior and his repeated inquiries as to whether the boat would reach this city in time for him to catch the 12:07 train for

Hart was 25 years of age, and the son of Lorin P. Hart of this city, and was on his way to visit his father. Since last November he has been employed as a fireman on the Pratt Astral Oil company's tug No. 7. He communicated with his father here regularly and made frequent trips to this city. So far as known he was not acquainted with any of his fellow-passengers.

The police have been unable to find anyone who heard the shot fired of who can give the slightest information concerning Hart's movements after he came aboard the boat.

At the autopsy it was found that the bullet had entered the left cheek and had lodged in the base of the brain. The weapon was evidently held within two or three inches of the face when fired, as the powder grain blackened the pillow on which the man lay. It is the opinion of the medical examine that the man was asleep when shot and that he breathed but a few minutes after the bullet entered his head, in all probability not moving at all. An examination showed that the murdere must have made his escape by the door from the stateroom into the corridor the small window in the room not have

The only passenger known to have been awake after midnight was a mar who, at 2:30 o'clock, got a light for a cigaret from the watchman.

You cannot afford to grow old. In these days of strenuous competiti is necessary to maintain, as long as possible ones youthful appearance. It is impossible to do this without retaining a luxurious growth of hair. The presence of Dandruff indicates the nce of a burrowing germ ves and thrives on the lives and thrives on the roots of the hair until it causes total baldness. Newbro's Herpicide is the only known destroyer of this pest, and it is as effective as it is delightful to use Herpicide makes an elegant hair dressing as well as Dandruff cure. Expenses Than Last Year.

Estimates of Mayors Thompson and Bryant Compared Item by Item.

The annual estimates of Mayor Thompson and City Treasurer Fay for the current expenses of the city for 1905, to be raised by taxation, are a little lower on the acceptance of the report and the than the estimates of Mayor Bryant last year. With the School Committee subject in general, and the Council to poles on Whitney road, North and items added the total for 1905 is also smaller than 1904. But the maturing voted against acceptance of the report. debt and interest are larger so that the total to be raised by taxation is $8,170 The matter goes back to the committee. more than was contemplated last year.

In the summary below, the Daily Ledger has compared the estimates of 1905 with the estimates of 1904. In the issue of Saturday the Ledger will compare the estimates of 1905 with the appropriations of 1904, which vary some from the estimates. The estimates of the School Committee are added to the budget of the Mayor below to make a complete document.

the High school problem and spoke of the South Quincy lot, but was called to order. He then favored the acceptance of the report. He did not believe the citizens would care for $120,000 if they got what they wanted. Councilman Crane had hoped matter would be unanimous this year. But the committee in one short hour or two in the committee room can not frame any such report. To go into a committee room and in one short meeting vote for such an order was poor policy. He wanted more time to go into the matter thoroughly. It has been said that Gould would guarantee to build by his plans for $120,000. Mr. Jarvis informed chairman Porter of the School board last year that it would cost $160,000. THREE STEAMERS GUTTED

With Vast Quantities of Valuable Stores -- Loss Will Aggregate More Than $2,000,000

Boston, Feb. 21 .- Fire broke out on pier 4, Hoosac Tunnel docks, at 1:30 this morning, and the first alarm was promptly followed by a general signa!, calling all the available apparatus in the city for what early promised to be the most disastrous dock fire in years. The flames seemed to spread instantly, and in 10 minutes a general conflagration seemed threatening.

Within 20 minutes the entire portion of Boston's business district was filled with smoke, and at 1:50 the fire alarms sounded for suburban apparatus. Great tongues of flame shot high in the air, overtowering the grain elevator, and the blinding smoke drove the firemen away from the flames time and again. The fireboat and all available tugboats were sent for, while volunteer fire fighters were speedily impressed.

The first general alarm for years was sent in at 1:55, and it then was felt that the entire wharf district of Charlestown was doomed. Merchants on the Boston side were summoned, as it was feared that the flying embers would carry the fire across the Charles river and cause other fires in the city

Dense clouds of smoke rolled up Washington street, Boston, as far as Summer street, and through it all Thousands of people every year flared up showers of sparks. The posummoned early, as it was seen that the

WILL SUSPEND STUDIES

Demand Freedom of Speech, Conscience, Right of Association and Assembly and to Strike--Want War Stopped

St. Petersburg, Feb. 21.-With the de cision of the student body of the great university of St. Petersburg to suspend studies for the remainder of the university year, almost the whole educational system of Russia has entered upon a period of stagnation, the protest of the youth of Russia against the bureaucratic system and other governmental grievances.

Other universities of Russia, the gymnasia, and even grammar schools, were already on strike, and the mill tary in various portions of the empire have been obliged to resort to force to restrain schoolboys of tender years, who are joining the general movement.

The meeting of St. Petersburg students, at which over 3000 participated, besides voting with practical unanimity to suspend studies until Sept. 1, adopted a set of political resolutions demanding the formation of a constituent assembly and characterizing the proposed summoning of the zemsky sobor as inadequate for the emergency.

The resolutions, after speaking of "the progressive demoralization of Russia under the influence of the absolute regime," declare for freedom of speech, the press, conscience, the right of association and assembly and to strike, which are described as necessary conditions for the further progress

The meeting also unanimously decided to express disapproval of the ac tion of the government in dealing with the workmen who attempted to present their petition to the czar on Jan. 22 and its sympathy with the victims of the soldiery. A large faction voted in favor of stopping the war.

A strong revolutionary feeling was manifested at the meeting, the red flag was waved and the "Marsellaise" and other revolutionary songs were chanted. A large portrait of the czar in the great auditorium of the university where the meeting was held was torn in strips. The police did not interfere. Strong forces of police and Cossacks had been posted outside the building to prevent an expected street demon stration, but none occurred. Many professors and instructors in the university were present at the meeting, most of whom were in full sympathy with the objects of the assembly. Two tutors and a small number of students who wished to obtain their diplomas this year made an ineffectual attempt to stem the general tide

Czar Appeared Unmoved

Do You Need Bracing Up?

No other tonic in the world is like Paine's Celery Compound; no other remedy takes so simple and scientific a way to perform its wonders.

Paine's Celery Compound acts directly upon the nerves, feeding them Nature's nerve foodcelery-filling them with new viality. Through the nerves it acts upon the blood, purifying it, strengthening it, making it pure and strong and red and healthy. No other remedy purifies so gently and so quickly.

Paine's Celery Compound is the one known prescription that purifies without purging or weakening the system in any way.

If you feel "run down," "used up," nervous, tired,-in other words, if you need bracing up, try Paine's Celery Compound. Learn the full luxury and delight of being always at your best, able to live your life for all

Feel the exultant thrill of pure, rich blood and abundant Nerve Force, made by Paine's Celery

Compound. Paine's Celery Compound gives real Nerve Force, instead of the false activity imparted by mere stimulants. It is the best and quickest nerve tonic.

Tired, weak-nerved, thin-blooded, unhappy men and women get quick, sure, hearty health from this celebrated Nerve Vitalizer and Tonic. It drives away lassitude, gives courage and strength. It makes a rich increase in blood supply. and makes the whole system thrill with hearty health.

Miss Mary Stone, Secretary of the Young People's Christian Temperance Society of Milwaukee, tells her experience after feeling "run down" for months.

We have used Paine's Celery Compound in our family for a number of years and a few menths ago when I felt so worn out and run down that I thought I would have to give up my work and take a vacation earlier, mother suggested that I try a couple of bottles of Celery Compound. A few doses made me feel quite different, my appetite increased, I began to sleep well at night and felt rested like a different being and am glad to say that yeur medicine made it possible for me to continue my work uninterruptedly. Yours very truly,--Miss Mary Stone, 2621 Lisbon Ave., Milwaukee, Wis. Secretary Young People's Christian Temperance Society.

Try Paine's Celery Compound YOURSELF when you feel exhausted-when you grow tired sooner than you should-when you lose patience with the irritating cares of daily life—when you feel that your hopes and ambitions are not as high as they used to be-when you spend a sleepless night—when you get up almost as weary as when you went to bed-when you are worried-when the tired feeling puts its heavy touch upon you.

That is when you need the new Nerve Force, the good blood and fresh vitality that is given by PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND. Don't wait. Try Paine's Celery Compound to-

Take just one dose when you go to face the hard part of the day's trials. See how much better you feel.

See how much more easily the trials roll away. Two days' treatment with Paine's Celery Compound will give proof of its marvelous powers.

For 18 years this famous prescription has been the most universally used tonic in the world. It has stood the test of time. Physicians constantly use and prescribe it. No prescription has ever been formulated that equaled it in curative power. Remember this.—Paine's Celery Compound is the prescription of one of the most famous physi-

When to Anchor. A minister has given this well defined exposition of the text, "And having done all, to stand." On some body of water near his home there was one day a race between two boats. The captain of one saw that he was getting behind, but he also saw that at the particular point where they were the current was stronger than the wind and that the head boat, though apparently progressing, was really drifting backward. Quickly taking in the situation, this captain of the rear boat cast anchor and won the race.

BAKER'S CRITICISM

Thinks American Sympathy For Sergius' Friends Not Justified Washington, Feb. 21.-The house, after a seven-hour session, passed the naval appropriation bill, carrying a total of $99,914,359. The provision for two battleships, as reported by the committee on naval affairs, was retained. Both the majority and minority were badly divided over the proposition.

Several times during the debate the assassination of Grand Duke Sergius was referred to, the subject being 53 brought up by Mr. Baker (N. Y.), who condemned the action of President Roosevelt in sending a message of coudolence to Russia expressing the sentiment that the government and Americans viewed the act with abhorrence. The people, he declared, did view with abhorrence the massacre in St. Petersburg on Jan. 22, but the president, he said, had not seen fit to send a mes-42 sage of condolence on that occasion.

He was replied to by Mr. Grosvenor (O.), who took the ground that, regardless of the character of the duke or the question of the right or wrong of Russia's policy towards her subjects, the president, in sending the message, had done exactly what civilization recognized as his duty.

The climax came later in the day subject which he subsequently intro- the negative. duced and which, in effect, was a 95 so doing was because it had been suggested that in that event a motion would be made to expel him. "Success don't konsist in never making mistakes, but in never making the same ones "twict."

Josh never said a truer thing. If people would only wake up, look around and see their mistakes, profit by the lesson and then do it different next time, there would be more success floating around.

Some people are paying too much for furniture, it's a mistake. Low suburban rents and operating expenses enable us to undersell all Boston stores, consequently people are growing wise and our business grows.

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER? cations made, but nothing seemed to relieve him. At about 9 o'clock A. M., December 14, Dr. Craik arrived.

On this anniversary of the birth of Washington, I will mention another and more lamented occurrence. Whilst the bells of our city are now ringing in memory of the "Father of his Country," my eye rests on a sketch "Mount Vernon, by Lossing, 1859," describing the incidents of the last illness of Washington. From the full text I take the following excerpts: "On December 12, 1799, at one o'clock P. M., snow began to fall, at Mount Vernon, which soon changed to hail and then to rain. Washington set out for a ride on horseback, as usual. He came back and sat down for a late dinner without changing his damp clothes. On the following day (Friday, December 13) he complained of a sore throat and he omitted his usual ride. After dinner his hoarseness grew worse, yet he regarded it as nothing serious. When Washington retired that night Mr. Lear, Washington's secretary, suggested that he take something for his cold as his hoarseness appeared to increase. "No" Lettuce, he answered, "you know I never take anything for a cold. Let it go as it Hubbard Squash,

The matter of placing gates at the grade crossing at Saville street was taken up at this meeting. This is undoubtedly the most dangerous grade crossing in Quincy, and the committee cannot be too emphatic in asking that gates be placed there, that the lives of the people who are obliged to use this crossing may be protected.

Victim of Assault.

Jonas Snackley of West Quincy has received the sad intelligence of the death of his brother Hiram of Kansas City, under mysterious circumstances. The Kansas City hospital employes were unable to tell much concerning his death, except that he was brought in there by the police officers, in an unconscious condition. He regained consciousness long enough to say to the nurse that if he died his brother, Daniel, should be notified at Decatur, Ind. After this he lapsed into unconsciousness and died, the date being Feb. 3.

There was a great cut which seemed to crush the right side of the skull, and his body bore marks of the greatest violence, as if he had been struck, kicked or pounded with some blunt instrument, and his arms were all scarred, indicating that he had attempted to defend himself in the murderous assault which must have been made upon him.

The victim was born in York county, Maine, and was 67 years old. He was one of ten sons and daughters. The body was taken to Decatur Ind., where a brother resides.

CAUGHT NAPPING

British Government Ag in Assailed by Redmond

FINALLY SCORES A POINT

Compels Wyndham to Read His Correspondence With Mac-Donnell, Wich, However, Shows Nothing Dishonorable

London, Feb. 23 .- Encouraged by the reduced government majority in the division in the house of commons Tuesday night, the Irish party unexpectedly returned to the attack yesterday more fiercely than ever. Immediately after the opening of the day's session John Redmond gave notice of a motion to adjourn in order to discuss the conditions under which Sir Antony MacDonnell holds the post of under secretary to the lord lieutenant of Ireland. This move came as a surprise and caught the government off its guard, causing a great scurrying of the whips and much upsetting of arrangements.

The debate lasted till midnight when a motion to adjourn was defeated by a vote of 265 to 223, but Redmond scored a point by compelling Mr. Wyndham, chief secretary for Ireland, to read the correspondence between himself and MacDonnell, by which it was shown that the under secretary was given extraordinary powers and authorized to arrange for co ordination in the control and direction of boards and administrative agencies. It was also shown that Premier Balfour had concurred in this arrange-

SUFFERS FROM CANCER

Dr Harper Undergoes Successful Surgical Operation

Chicago, Feb. 23.-While at the University of Chicago hundreds of students were assembled to participate in prayers for his recovery, President Hur per of the institution underwent a serious surgical operation in the Presbyterian hospital. For nearly two years Dr. Harper has been afflicted with severe pains in the abdomen and about one year ago underwent an operation for appendicitis. This did not result in permanent improvement and it was finally decided that a second operation was necessary. It was generally thought by the physicians that it would reveal a cancerous growth of the intestines near the head of the colon This diagnosis was confirmed by the operation yesterday afternoon. The operation from a surgical standpoint was a success. The patient rallied splendidly from the shock and is in a condition that gives every promise of an early recovery from the effects of the operation. The ultimate recovery of Dr. Harper is a matter on which the physicians decline to commit themselves, but merely express "the reasonable hope that the disease may be checked." The disease had progressed so far that it was found impossible to remove all of the diseased dead in his father's house in that town r 10 08 abover 10 32

Wollaston Lodge, No. 174, American Benefit Society, held their regular meeting in Brasee's hall Tuesday evening, Feb. 21st, with a good attendance. Ten applications for membership were received, eight candidates elected for membership and five were initiated.

By invitation of Deputy John V. Carter of Loyal Lodge No. 96 of Brockwas dancing until 4 A. M., music being the society in this place, the lodge voted to make a visit to Loyal Lodge Tuesday evening, Feb. 28th. Mr. Carter complimented the officers on the manner in which they performed the initiatory service.

For "the good of the order," sisters Lida Waterhouse and Cora Merrill gave fine recitations and Brother Carter rendered character sketches; all of which being heartily applauded. Dr. E. R. Johnson favored the lodge with a brief speech.

Arrangements are being made for a good program for the next meeting. Cake and hot coffee were served at the close of the meeting.

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters.

Chapter 1. George Brendon, a young ondoner, visits his friend, Leonard Train, who has lodgings in the boarding house kept by Mrs. Jersey. Among the boarders is an elderly maiden lady, Miss Bull. Mrs. Jersey is startled by a piece of yellow holly worn by George. II. -George, whose real name is Vane, tells Train the story of his life. He is an orphan and the grandson of Lord Derrington, but the latter refuses to recognize the marriage of George's father (Lord Derrington's son), who had eloped. Brenden desires to establish his position as Lord Derrington's "Love leads to marriage, and in my beir in order to marry Dorothy Ward. Ireland was an eccentric character who collected posters. Most collectors turn their attention to stamps, to snuffboxes, to autographs and such like trifles, but Mr. Ireland hunted for those gigantic and gaudy pictures which make gay the thoroughfares of the city. He was a tall old man with rather long white hair and a clean shaven, benign face. His usual height did away with the impression of his excessive stoutness. George often wondered at his size, considering that the man ate comparatively little. Mr. Ireland was dressed in glossy broadcloth serupulously brushed and wore an old fashioned Gladstone collar. He had hint of sensuality was contradicted by the serenity and pallor of his face and by his life, which was as correct as his iress and as methodical as his hours. Never was there so methodical a man. He lived by the clock, and with him one day exactly resembled another. He rose at a certain hour and retired precisely when the hand on the clock indicated another. His meals were always regular, and he had stated hours for walking, when he went out whether it was wet or fine, sunny or foggy. The man was like a machine, and George, when living with him in his early days, had often found these restrictions irksome. It was 1 o'clock when Brendon called, and Mr. Ireland at him anxiously. Much depended had just finished his luncheon. At 2 precisely he would leave the house for his one hour's constitutional. Brendon was aware of this and had timed his visit accordingly. Nevertheless Ireland looked at his watch and mentioned the fact.

"I can only give you an hour, George," he said. "You know my hab-

Determined Effort to Pass the Quincy Appropriation.

Quincy will be interested in the folowing Washington dispatch to the Luckman, Herald as this city is included in the omnibus bill :

"The fight for the omnibus public buildings bill is reaching a critical stage. Friends of the measure, angry Giover, over the refusal of Speaker Cannon to Pelleran, grant a special rule for its considera- Walsh, tion, are resorting to every known ex- Connell, pedient to secure action upon the bill. Today the proposition was advanced that if the House leaders will not yield, the omnibus bill will be attached to one of the great appropriation bills, as an amendment in the Senate. Promoters of this idea say that if it is carried out, the House will have to accept the amendment, or permit the bill to which it is attached to fail.

An analysis of the measure shows that of the $9,499,000 carried by it $5,070,700 will go to states represented by men on the committee on public buildings and grounds which drew up

Russia's Self Respect Preserved and Satisfaction Given British Public at Same Time--What Havas Agency Says

Paris, Feb. 24.—The international commission appointed to inquire into the North sea incident practically concluded its work last night by finally agreeing to the report which will be publicly announced at the closing session to be held at 3 o'clock next Saturday. Concerning the general nature of the report the following state ment was made in a most authoritative quarter: "When the text of the decision befavorable to Great Britain than to Russia."

On the other hand, the Havas agency ing animals is every-day play for the confirms its semi-official statement of > "The conclusions as a whole are quite favorable to Russia, recognizing that Admiral Rodjestvensky could legiti mately consider himself in danger and act as he did. However, the report contains reservations calculated to satisfy British susceptibilities, the most important being that the commission esteems that the Russian fire lasted too long and also that Rojestvensky should

"The commission rejected a motion blaming the Russian crews. "The conclusions are said to be in the form of questions whereto the commissioners state their answers either unanimously or as a majority." The American officials are strongly inclined to accept the view first stated, that the decision is more favorable to Great Britain than to Russia. The four foreign admirals gave a banquet last night in honor of the presiding officer, Admiral Fournier (France). The latter will return the compliment on Saturday. Loubet will give a luncheon in honor of the commission at the Elysee palace Sunday.

Theatre Goers Got a Scare New Haven, Feb. 24.—During a performance at the Hyperion theatre last night, smoke was discovered coming through the floor at the rear of the orchestra-circle and a hurried word to the manager caused him to go down in the cellar, where he found a small fire in the coal bin. The manager smothered the flames. The smell of smoke was strong, but the presence of mind of a newspaper man who requested the audience to remain in their seats doubtless averted a panic.

The Hart Murder Mystery Providence, Feb. 24.-The investigation of the murder of John A. Hart, who was found dead in his berth on board the steamer Larchmont upon her arrival here from New York Sunday, has been transferred to the United States authorities on the claim by the local police that the murder was committed while the steamer was on the high seas. It has not been determined along just what lines the government's investigation will be conducted. But Three Men to Run Ship Boston, Feb. 24.-Barkentine Lake Side, Captain Fancy, of Yarmouth, N S., bound for that port from New York was sighted by steamer Boston 90 miles east of Boston light, laboring heavily and flying signals "cargo shifted. Synopsis of Preceding Chapters.

Chapter 1. George Brendon, a young Londoner, visits his friend, Leonard Train, who has lodgings in the boarding house kept by Mrs. Jersey. Among the boarders is an elderly maiden lady, Miss Bull. Mrs. Jersey is startled by a piece of yellow holly worn by George. II.-George, whose real name is Vane, tells Train the story of his life. He is had eloped. Brenden desires to establish his position as Lord Derrington's heir in order to marry Dorothy Ward. The place of marriage of George's parents is known only to Mrs. Jersey, formerly maid to George's mother. marriage?" "No. Lord Derrington said nothing till your mother was dead, and even then he said very little. It was when Vane was murdered at San Remo that he first decisively asserted that no marriage had taken place. He did so because Lockwood insisted that Derrington should acknowledge you as the heir. He refused to do so and said that his second son was the heir." "That is Walter Vane's father?"

"Exactly. And now the father is dead Walter Vane stands in your shoes. I wish you could prove the marriage, my boy," said Ireland, shaking his head, "but it will be a difficult

"I don't care how difficult it is," replied Brendon resolutely. "I am determined to learn the truth.'

"Who is the lady?" asked Ireland. "Miss Dorothy Ward. You don't know anything of her."

Ireland shook his head. "I left the adoration of the aristocracy to Lockwood," he said, with something like a there, my boy. To make a long story short, I met your mother in Paris, and shortly afterward she died, giving birth to you. Eliza Stokes was with as maid when the elopement took her when she died, and you were given into the charge of that woman. Your mother was buried in Pere la Chaise. Vane put up a stone to her-oh, he behaved very well, I don't deny that," added Ireland, but with a dark face.

"He was really fond of her, and I suppose there was a marriage." "Did my mother ever say anything about it?"

"Never. You asked me that before It was an accepted fact. After the death of Rosina her husband went to Italy. I was there, too, and it was at Milan that the episode occurred which led to the dismissal of Eliza Stokes."

"What was that?"

"Why, there was a young English waiter, quite a boy he was, who fell in love with Eliza when she was tak ing charge of you at the Hotel de Ville She refused to marry him and hinted that she loved your father. Vane heard of this and taxed her with impertinence. The end of it was that Vladimir stands between the people besides myself. Ergo, I am sitting on you. That looks as though Lady Der This Miss Bull called to ask me about rington believed in the marriage."

"It does," admitted Brendon hopenurse had anything been wrong. On the other hand, if she had been quite certain about the marriage she might have offered to take charge of me."

"She did, I believe, but your father was so fond of you-for your mother's sake-that he could scarcely bear you out of his sight. However, Eliza went and Jane came, and then your father went to San Remo. You were then two years of age."

"Did not my father return to England during all that time?"

"No. When he left England with an orphan and the grandson of Lord your mother he never returned. "Well," said the old man, rising, "it is my belief that Lord Derrington knows there was a marriage and assisted Mrs. Jersey so that she should hold her tongue. Now there is no more time. I must go out." And Ireland walked to the door.

"One moment," said George on the doorstep, "This blue domino connected with my father's murder-was she never traced?"

"No. There was no means of trac-

An Animal Story For Little Folks

The Two Pigs

A man was taking a pig to market when they came to a tree on which hung hundreds of apples.

"I'd like to have an apple," said the pig as he looked up wistfully.

"I'd like to have a barrel of apples," said the man, eying the fruit greedily. A little farther they came to a pear

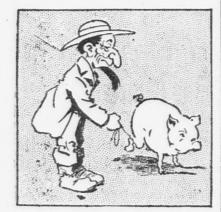

"I'd like to have a pear," said the hungry pig.

"I'd like to have a wagon load of pears," said the man.

Presently they passed a grapevine. "I'd like to have a bunch of grapes," said the pig.

"I'd like to have my wine press full of grapes," said the man.

They walked on until a large melon patch was seen at the side of the road.

"I'D LIKE TO HAVE AN APPLE."

"Oh, I wish I had a melon," sighed the pig.

"I would like to have a car load of melons," growled the man.

"Well, look here, mister, you are a bigger pig than I am. I think we are at the wrong ends of this string."

And he began a jerk and broke away. With a dash he went between the man's legs and upset him on the ground. Then Mr. Pig ran into the melon patch and picked out a good, red, ripe melon and ate it; while the man got up and brushed off his clothes and went home.-Atlanta Constitution.

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters.

Chapter 1. George Brendon, a young Londoner, visits his friend, Leonard Train, who has lodgings in the boarding house kept by Mrs. Jersey. Among the boarders is an elderly maiden lady, Miss Bull. Mrs. Jersey is startled by a piece of yellow holly worn by George. II.—George, whose real name is Vane, tells Train the story of his life. He is an orphan and the grandson of Lord Derrington, but the latter refuses to recognize the marriage of George's father (Lord Derrington's son), who had eloped. Brenden desires to establish his position as Lord Derrington's The place of marriage of George's parents is known only to Mrs. Jersey, formerly maid to George's mother. His mother died at his birth, and his father gery, niece of the murdered woman. The house has been leased from Lord

"Probably she had nothing to do with the blue domino or with the matter of the crime. From what Ireland says, however, a piece of yellow holly was mentioned in connection with the murder, and Mrs. Jersey, then Eliza Stokes, probably heard of it. That was why she shivered and turned pale when she saw the sprig in my coat."

Having thus decided the question, though not in a very satisfactory way, George rang the bell and was admitted into the sitting room in which the murder had taken place. It was empty, but Jarvey departed immediately to be lightly mentioned. But he could not feich Miss Bull.

Brendon looked from the him, rapidly made up her mind and they came back to the shore with their table to the door and wondered if the assassin had entered stealthily with a bared weapon and had stabbed the wretched woman before she had time to turn her head. But on second thoughts he was inclined to think that the assassin had been in friendly conversation with Mrs. Jersey before inflicting the fatal stroke. Even in the short distance between table and door Mrs. Jersey would have had time to spring to her feet and give the alarm. "No," thought George as he seated himself; "what I said to Train is correct. The assassin engaged Mrs. Jersey in friendly conversation and then watched for an opportunity to strike from behind."

He would have continued trying to made with a plaited skirt stitched very puzzle out the circumstances of the crime but that Miss Bull entered, accompanied by Margery. The little old maid looked whiter and more haggard than ever, but her eyes gleamed brightly, and she seemed to be in perfect health. Margery, now being the nominal head of the house, appeared more important, but she kept her eyes on Miss Bull's face and in all things took her orders from this superior being. "How are you, Mr. Brendon?" said Miss Bull, smiling in her prim way, but without offering her hand. "I did not expect to see you again."

"Why not?" asked George quickly. Miss Bull shrugged her thin shoulders and fastened her beady eyes on his face. "Many of the boarders left: light fawn broadcloth. The skirt, pret-on account of madame's murder, so I thought you had done the same."

"No." replied Miss Bull indifferently: "I don't suppose it did. I only talked for the sake of talking."

Brendon was rather embarrassed how to begin the conversation, especially as Margery was present. Something of this showed itself in his manner, for Miss Bull drew Margery's hand within her own and nodded affably. "Miss Watson is the head of the house," she said. "Do you come to see her or me, Mr. Brendon?"

"I come to see you," said George, hoping she would send the inconvenient third away. But she did nothing of the sort.

"In that case Margery can stop as my friend, Mr. Brendon. Anything you say before her will go no further. She keeps my secrets."

Heroism Rewarded.

Years ago a vessel was wrecked off the northwest coast of Ireland. Crowds gathered on the beach to witness the scene. A few brave men came forward Miss Bull cast a shrewd glance at and put out to the sinking vessel. As told Margery to go. The girl looked burden of human lives the watchers cried: "Have you got them all? Are they all saved?" "Yes," was the answer, "all but one. If we had stayed for him all would have been lost." Instantly a stalwart fellow stepped out from the crowd and called for volunteers. The mother begged the young man not to go, saying: "Your father was lost at sea; your brother William sailed away, and we have never heard from him. If you go my all will be lost." Embracing her, he said, "I must go." In a short time he was seen returning. "Have you got your man?" cried the watchers. "Yes," was the reply, "and tell mother it is brother Wil-

The "Undertaker's Friend."

Both men and women when they decide to "wrap up" do so by increasing the number of layers of clothing in front over those on the back of the body. It is a great mistake. The main "telephone exchange" of the nerves of the body lies in the spinal cord, situated in the spinal canal, and this exchange has immediate, complete and instantaneous connection with the skin of the whole of the back of the trunk and is much more sensitive than that of the skin in front.

It behooves us, then, to see that the back is covered, if not more than, at the shoulders. In men the thin back of the waistcoat is "the undertaker's best friend." In women it is the space between the top of the corset and the center of the neck, more especially in that type of garment popularly known as the "pneumonia blouse." - London be had at a certain address. The locality was not remote from fashionable regions, but was itself somewhat on the decline. Mr. Bransfield had a fair mental picture of it showing a row of small, old style buildings between more modern structures adjoining the avenues. Possibly a young man in hard luck and condemned to the severest economy might find something suitable to his means.

The street seemed to have improved, however, when Bransfield came to it, or was the difference in his own pock-

The last time that he remembered having passed that way was in May. He was then the local manager of the Farrell Aluminium company, with a salary of $300 a month and fat commissions, and, though he had just lost nearly all his savings in an unwise investment, he certainly did not feel poor. But in October there wasn't any Farrell Aluminium company on earth and hadn't been any since the grand smashup of early June, and Edgar with a salary of nothing and no commissions

He had never sought employment before. He had been thrust into the aluminium company immediately upon to the next. Suddenly the ladder itself of course, you don't have to have it." had vanished, leaving him standing with both feet planted on the empty air. He had been hopeful at first, then perplexed and finally scared. His faith in himself as a business man was unimpaired, but he had discovered that did not know how to sell-namely, his doubled his enthusiasm.

At the time when he went in search with a few odds and ends rescued from the aluminium company's offices-he was considering an offer of a position with a salary that would just fall short of paying his board in the house where he had been living; hence the need of a change in his arrangements.

As he walked along the street he was grieved to discover that the number mentioned in the advertisement designated was one of the best kept and most attractive buildings. It looked like a nice place to live, but not for Edgar Bransfield. He would have preferred to see a somewhat shabby exterior.

He looked up at No. 37 and observed a push button labeled "Janitor," but when he had ascended the steps he hesitated. After all, why ring the bell? A mere glance inside would satisfy him that the building contained no room at the proper price, and he might be spared a petty humiliation.

As he stood irresolute in the hall a young gentleman came in hurriedly and called out, "Hello, Allen!" but

"Looking for the janitor?" inquired the young gentleman, pausing upon the stairs. And then, without waiting for a reply, he put his head over the ban-

Evidently Quincy has been backward and modest in its claim for a government building if towns of 1,000 to 6,000 are to be favored with appropriations of $30,000 to $100,000 in the omnibus bill which is pending at Washington. Quincy has a population of 30,000 and postal receipts in excess of $50,000 annually, and is unable to obtain quarters large enough for the rapidly increasing business.

Many Small Towns After Post Office Buildings.

Some of the reasons which jeopardize the appropriation for a public building Mrs. Benjamin Johnson, Jr., of in Quincy are set forth in a Washing-School street entertained a number of ton dispatch. It is not exactly a public building bill but includes a little of Pretty souvenirs were awarded and the everything, whence its name of "omnibus bill" or "pork barrel bill." An analysis shows that a number of small towns are included in the appropriations. As an example, Paris, Tenn., with a population of 2,018, is to have a $50,000 public building. At present the postoffice at Paris, with receipts of $6700 a year, is accommodated at a rental of $248 a year.

Trinidad, Col., with a population of 5345, is given a $60,000 building. The present rent is $875 a year. The town of McComb, Ill., with a population of just 30 people more than Trinidad, only gets a $50,000 building, for the postal ly 3275 population, is given $45,000 although the postal service is accommodated now at a rental of $668 a year. Mississippi fares pretty well. The town of Greenville, with 7,642 population, gets $50,000. The town of Gulfport with only 1,000 population gets is accemmendated at the rate of $221 a year. The town of Yazoo City, which is in the district of Leader John Sharp Williams of the minority, having a population of 4,494, gets a $40,000 building.

Tennessee does pretty well, too. Knoxville gets a $100,000 building, but that is a town of 32,000 and a growing commercial city. Columbia, with a population of 6000, is given $70,000, and Johnson City, with a population of 4600, gets $50,000. Marfreesboro gets $30,000, and has a population of 4000.

HOW THEY COMPARE.

Estimates for 1905 and the Appropriations of Last Year.

Right Up to the Limit Which the $12 Law Allows.

When the estimates of Mayor Thompson for 1905 are compared with the appropriations of 1904, instead of the estimates of 1904, there is an increase of $3,804 for the Mayor's departments. It will be remembered that it was necessary last year to cut the estimates of Mayor Bryant over $6,000 to bring them within the legal limit.

The School Committee have asked for $5,332 more than last year, no increase being granted them last year. The appropriation for schools was $111,000 in 1903 and 1904, and $109,100 in 1902.

The Mayor and School Committee together have asked for $9,136

Mayor Thompon, in his inaugural address, said the Assessors could raise this year for current expenses $284,976.94. In 1904 the limit was $275,316. As the limit has increased $9,660.94 it will probably provide for the increase of $9,136 in the estimates.

Both years, however, are close to the limit, as $32,000 in receipts will be necessary this year, in addition to the amount raised by taxation, to This item was $50,000 larger last year but included one year municipal loans of that amount meet the proposed appropriations.

The appropriation of 1904 are given in the first column below, and the estimates for 1905 in the last column.

There are increases for the Assessors, the Department of Public Works, the Fire and Police Departments, the Departments of the City The well known and successful specialist and series of strong Sunday afternoon meet-Clerk, Tax Collector, City Treasurer, Public Library, Overseer of the Poor and School Committee.

Governor Warfield Says Opposition to Negro Vote Is Due to Their Ignorant Subservience to Corrupt Political Bosses

New York, Feb. 25.-In a speech at the annual dinner of the Maryland Society of New York here last night, Governor Edwin Warfield of Maryland commended the speech of President Roosevelt on the negro problem. made at the Lincoln day dinner of the Republican club in this city. Governor Warfield said in part:

"I was pleased that President Roosevelt took such a fair and patriotic stand upon this question in his speech. What he said convinces our people that he is beginning to realize the true status of the negro in the south. "Tired in the Morning"

This condition is unnatural. A healthy person gets up in the morning well rested, feeling fine and ready for the day's work. If you get up in the morning tired, it simply means that your nerves have not rested and their restlessness has not allowed you to rest in the healthy, normal way.

"Tired in the morning." "Run down." "All worn out"—these signs are the warnings—they mean that your nerves need attention. You must feed some new power to your

That is just what Paine's Celery Compound does. It feeds new power to the nerves and builds them back to healthy strength. It makes new Nerve Force.

It makes new vitality and makes life worth living

That is just why for the past 18 years Paine's Celery Compound has been the most universally used tonic in the world.

A. H. MERRITT'S EXPERIENCE WILL PROVE VITALLY INTER-ESTING TO THOUSANDS.

"Two years ago I had a nervous disorder that completely prostrated me. I couldn't sleep, and would lay and toss about all night, arising in the morning more tired than ever. head heavy, eyes dull and every bone and muscle aching. I tried to get along without calling in a doctor, but was finally driven to it. He treated me for some time, but with no perceptible improvement in my health. Some one recommended your Paine's Celery Compound. The change it effected in my system was noticeable almost instantly. I gradually took on flesh. The 'all-gone' feeling left me. In less than six weeks I was fully recovered from what looked to me like an everlasting sickness. I feel actually grateful to you, as my health to-day is a testimonial of what your medicine can do. Yours very truly."—A. H. Merritt, 32 Music Hall Building, Boston, Mass., Feb. 12, 1904. Bandmaster First Regiment Band, Heavy Artillery, M. V. M.

Try Paine's Celery Compound to-day. Its effect is almost instantaneous—the nourishment and vigor given to the nerve system by Paine's Celery Compound is felt at once. The patient feels this at once and gains confidence by it. The stronger nerve forces have begun at once to make each organ of the body do the work that nature expects of it. Two days' treatment with Paine's Celery Compound will prove its marvelous power. For over 18 years Paine's Celery Compound

Newbro's Herpicide

Your hairs WILL talk! It doesn't matter how much you try to silence them with heavy veils and broad hats, the ends will stick out and call to every passer-by, "See how dull and brittle we are!. She neglects us shamefully."

Every woman should have beautiful and abundant hair, for nature lavishly rewards those who labor intelligently to preserve and beautify it

Is your hair oily or sticky? Is it dull or lusterless? Have you dandruff? If so, you should use Newbro's Herpicide at once. It kills the germ of microbe that causes dandruff and falling hair, after which, the hair will grow as nature intended. It stops itching of the scalp almost instantly and gives the assurance of a cure from the very first application. It contains no oil or grease, and is unsurpassed for it daintiness. It makes the hair light and fluffy and gives it a

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

The police and physicians were summoned to the Alderman home just before 3 o'clock Sunday morning, and found Barrow lying stretched out upon the floor of Miss Alderman's room, groaning with pain. An examination convinced the physicians that his condition was critical and, at their advice he was removed by the police to the hospital.

Miss Alderman, who is about 50 years of age, lives with her mother, Mrs. Franklin Alderman, and a sister, Miss Cora A. Alderman. She told the police that she was lying awake in bed reading when her light was suddenly extinguished. She is quite deaf, and did not hear the intruder, but, feeling sure of his presence, reached for a small breech-loading single-barrel rifle which she kept by her bed. She then felt a hand on the bed coverings above her feet, and exclaimed: "It is time for you to be going if you are going." An instant later she discerned the outlines of a man's figure crouching tered Barrow's abdomen and he sank to the floor. Miss Alderman then told her mother and sister, who had been awakened by the shot, of the shooting. and, leaving the house, went to the home of her brother, Dr. Harry L.

Big Fleets Free of Ice

Boston, Feb. 27.-It was a welcome shift of the wind to the southwest yesterday when the large fleet of tugs, elsewhere by the heavy ice and northeast gale were released, and as a result all danger of a coal famine has passed away. Part of the stalled fleet reached the harbor yesterday with thousands of tons of coal, as well as phosphate, lumber and logwood cargoes. A big fleet of steamers, tugs and barges left the harbor.

The Nursery was not as great a success located in this section as we had hoped for and in March 1904 it was to January 1, 1905: thought best to move the Nursery rooms to a district nearer the homes of the children attending.

A half house of five rooms with attic From friends, was rented on Copeland street near Proceeds from: Brewers corner, thoroughly renovated and suitably furnished providing for the care of several infants in addition to the older children.

A little later we realized that we needed a resident matron, one who could give her undivided attention to Dividends, the work and one was engaged, in September of the same year. Later an assistant matron was engaged.

We feel that the present matron is the right woman for our work, one who is always glad to receive all visitors and show the Nursery and tell them of the work that is being accomplished.

Miss Gove has won the hearts of the children and the mothers, and visits them in their homes, helping the Matron's salary, mothers to find work. During the last Rent, four menths the number of children in Advertising, attendance has increased. The largest Groceries, number attending during any month Coal, was in November, 174 children were Sundries, cared for during the month with an Supplies, repairs, printing, etc., average attendance of seven. A dinner Cash on hand Jan 1, 1905, is served each day and a luncheon in Building fund in Quincy Savings Bank, 47 50 the afternoon a fee of five cents a day for each child is charged.

This condition is believed to have been fomented by crafty political agitators, who are stirring up the men and at the same time holding them in leash. apparently waiting some signal for concerted action. Fear is entertained that this widespread agitation may be connected with a plan to await a possible peasant outbreak in the spring, with which a general strike will be synchronized, the workmen joining hands with the peasants.

The situation in Riga is again reported to be very serious. The authorities there are apparently unable to cope with the lawless element.

In the Caucasus the situation is extremely bad, practically amounting to civil war. In Baku the inhabitants, barricaded in their houses, are petitioning the central authorities at St. Petersburg for relief from the existing condition of affairs. The government is sending reinforcements of troops, but, while these may be able to stop the reign of terror, they will be impotent to start the wheels of industry. Proprietors fear that the oil wells will be utterly ruined if pumping is suspended much longer. Conditions in other towns in the Caucasus are equally desperate. Owing to the gravity of the situation in the Caucasus and apprehension based on depletion of the district troops for the war, the government has appealed to the Armenian Catholicos to exert his personal influence to persuade Armenians to cease their excesses. The Catholicos went to Erivan, where mated at $7000. he exhorted the people to remain tran-

In Siberia, as well as in other parts of the empire, the government has granted considerable concessions to railway employes, in some cases according them a reduction of the hours of labor to nine a day. This renders the situation of private employers increasingly difficult, as they claim that it is impossible for them to concede so much.

New York, Feb. 28.—Thirteen per-Braintree Observer and Reporter | sons were killed and upwards of 50 injured, some probably fatally, by the collapse of the flooring of the Fleet African Methodist Episcopal Zion church in Brooklyn last night .. Of those killed 10 were women, two men and one a child. The building was an ancient ramshackle frame structure erected 60 years ago in the heart of the negro section of Brooklyn.

Arrangements had been made to hold funeral services of Sydney Tainter, one of the older members of the church. and the auditorium, which is on the second floor of the building, the ground floor being used by the Sunday school, was crowded with an audience of upwards of 300 persons, of whom the majority were women.

The congregation was waiting in silence for the arrival of the body and Pastor Jacobs was standing at the aftar awaiting the summons to meet the funeral procession at the door, when a sharp cracking of timbers was heard and in an instant the half of the auditorium nearest the door collapsed, carrying down more than 100 persons, who were crushed in the wreckage of the flooring and pews.

A great volume of dust for a few moments hid the victims from view. The remainder of the audience, finding themselves cut off from the door and expecting every instant that the rest

JOHN S. LONG.

Dr. S. Weir. Mitchell, the Great Neurologist, Warns Americans Who Neglect Their Nerves.

"In busy centers the number of deaths due to nervous causes has increased twenty per cent in forty years. Onefourth of the deaths in cities to-day are from nervous diseases."-Dr. S. Weis. Mitchell.

The clean, rich nerve-force that was behind the health and happiness of thousands upon thousands is literally burning itself up like the dry wick of an empty lamp. It is the "Strenuous Life," with a vengeance. Can men who go to their work in the morning tired and with lax spirits give to their own affairs the electric touch of confidence and power upon which success depends?

Can mothers worn out and nervous, plodding dully or ill-tempered through the routine of homekeeping, bring into the family life that precious spirit of hopefulness and happiness without which the word "home" seems a mockery?

When you feel exhausted-when you grow tired sooner than you should-when you lose patience with the irritating cares of daily life-when you feel discouraged-when you feel that your hopes and ambitions are not as high as they used to be-when you spend a sleepless nightwhen you get up almost as weary as when you went to bed—when you are worried.

These are all signs that your nerve forces are burning low. Neglect the nerves and they will make you feel this neglect in many ways, they control all of the organs of the body and must be kept healthy and strong to do their work properly,tired nerves cannot keep the organs of the body working in that harmony which is essential to real health. This is why Paine's Celery Compound is able to bring health in so many different forms. Paine's Celery Compound feeds and nourishes the nerves. It make new Nerve Force. It makes pure, rich blood, a clean active liver, a stomach that acts quietly and strongly upon all the food that is given to it, bowels that throw away promptly and surely all the ashes from life's engine room.

It makes the heart beat true and evenly, it makes the brain clear and vigorous. The Nerve Force does this all, and Paine's Celery Compound makes the Nerve Force. Best of all it makes that buoyant life-spirit, the thrill of health, that is the secret of happiness and the keynote of individual success.

Without Nerve Force there can be no health at all-no success-no joy in living. John S. Long's case is simply one of thousands upon thousands. An average case and an object lesson to the average person. "For nervousness and stomach troubles Palne's Celery Compound is the medicine. I was almost a physical wreck when I commenced to use Paine's Celery Compound, and now I am as healthy as any man in the world, and I owe it all to Paine's Celery Compound. The first bottle I took helped me wonderfully, and by the time the second was used I was a well man, and I can cheerfully recommend it to any one as being the best medicine I have ever used."

-John S. Long, Ballard, Wash. Try Paine's Celery Compound to-day. It braces you up at once.

Take two days' treatment. See how much better you feel. See how much more easily the trials

For over 18 years Paine's Celery Compound has been the most universally used nerve vitalizer and tonic in the world.

Remember this-Paine's Celery Compound is the prescription of one of the most famous physicians this country has ever known, Prof. E. E. Phelps, of Dartmouth University. All reputable druggists recommend and sell Paine's Celery Compound.

The railway company bought all of its lumber in the South Atlantic states because that section would withstand the Panama climate and ravages of tropical insects. Since the commission had begun making its own purchases large quantities of lumber had been contracted for on the Pacific slope, particularly from one Puget sound concern in which D. O. He said that all the time they were acting as purchasing agents he was importuned by dealers to put their names on the selected list of bidders. He complied with some of the rethe rules of the railway company in buying its own supplies.

Representative Townsend asked if 300 Mott lavatories, purchased by the railway company under Admiral Waiker's orders, had not been rejected by the city of New York as unsanitary. Drake did not know. He told of a lot of medical supplies which had been bought by an agent of the commission and rushed forward hastily, improperly packed and dumped on the wharves on the isthmus. Later similar supplies were purchased by the railway company for the commission, directly from the manufacturers at a lower price. Nothing was shipped from New York for the canal except in the Panama Ratiway company's boats, at a special rate of $5 a ton as against the open rate of $8. Drake thought that the Panama Railway company should absolutely control the rate of all shipments to the isthmus. A LONDON CRAZE.

Society Now Takes Its Various Pets to Places of Amusement.

The society craze in London of taking pets to places of entertainment appears to have been started at the Royal Italian circus, where many well known leaders of society, including Miss Nathalie Janotha, the German emperor's court planist, have taken prize dogs and cats and other animals to be introduced to Signor Volpi's trained animals, says the London News.

"The other evening," said Signor Volpi, "a gentleman well known in the city brought his pet Sudanese monkey in the stalls. Trained as a dancer, she had appeared at several of the best theaters with siderable paraphernalia belonging to more or less success, but owing to her violent temper she had lost all chance of gaining a permanent position. She had danced her way to Paris through various small towns, but here, as elsewhere, her temper proved her ruin. Then she had crossed the channel only to find that the market was overstocked with dancers. Unable to obtain employment and having very little money, the unfortunate woman had fallen lower and lower until she was reduced to begging in the streets. Ft. nally she was turned out of her poor lodgings and had expended her last sixpence on food. It was shortly after this that Brendon found her.

There was not a breath of scandal against her, in spite of Mrs.

Ward's hint to Brendon. This change in the formerly reckless woman was caused by love and gratitude to George. He had saved her from starvation, from death; he had procured her the engagement which had led to her success and present ease. She took it for granted that his mind was the same, but she had the prudence and modesty to give him an opportunity to avow it. She returned his letter to him with a note explaining how it had been found and saying that as he had recalled it it needed no reply. She knew that Frank was bound to acknowledge its receipt and counted upon his betraying his present feelings. She was right. He replied that the note's loss had been a great misfortune to him, since at the time it was written he had every prospect of wealth. Now he was poor and could not offer himself to the daughter of a rich man.

That, of course, ended the complication, for Jennie had only to write that an offer would be accepted. She made a model wife.
